Modern Social Theory Key Debates And New Directions:

Modern Social Theory Derek Layder, 1997 New Directions in Criminological Theory Steve Hall, Simon Winlow, 2012-06-25 This edited collection brings together established global scholars and new thinkers to outline fresh concepts and theoretical perspectives for criminological research and analysis in the 21st century Criminologists from the UK USA Canada and Australia evaluate the current condition of criminological theory and present students and researchers with new and revised ideas from the realms of politics culture and subjectivity to unpack crime and violence in the precarious age of global neoliberalism These ideas range from the micro realm of the personality disorder to the macro realm of global power crime Rejecting or modifying the orthodox notion that crime and harm are largely the products of criminalisation and control systems these scholars bring causes and conditions back into play in an eclectic yet thematic way that should inspire students and researchers to once again investigate the reasons why some individuals and groups elect to harm others rather than seek sociability This collection will inspire new criminologists to both look outside their discipline for new ideas to import and to create new ideas within their discipline to reinvigorate it and further strengthen its ability to explain the crimes and harms that we see around us today This book will be of particular interest to academics and both undergraduate and postgraduate students in the field of criminology especially to those looking for theoretical concepts and frameworks for dissertations theses and research reports Shifting Protracted Conflict Systems Through Local Interactions Tamra Pearson d'Estrée, 2023-12-29 This volume explores the evolution of theoretical and practical approaches to intervening in protracted conflicts following the work of Herb Kelman Interactive problem solving as developed by Kelman and others sought to increase understanding about the microprocesses of international relations Kelman early on emphasised the centrality of an interactive approach for constructing new identities new narratives and new ways forward Transforming conflict systems requires strategic attention to the interactions between agents of change that provide stability or induce shift This volume on interactive conflict approaches includes both critical reflections and new ideas from scholar practitioners who have developed revised and expanded these approaches Contributors take up important issues from the shape and likelihood of solutions in intractable conflicts to how individuals can exist in realities with seemingly irresolvable inner and outer conflicts The volume represents the best of current thinking about how the mechanisms theoretical framework and application of interactive problem solving should be moved into the twenty first century context of increasing complexity increasing uncertainty and increasing polarisation This book will be of interest to students of peace studies conflict resolution and international relations Contemporary Conflict Resolution Oliver Ramsbotham, Tom Woodhouse, Hugh Miall, Harmonie Toros, 2024-10-11 The indispensable guide to conflict resolution in a troubled world Conflict prevention and resolution peacekeeping and peacebuilding have never been more important as priorities on the global agenda The wars in Ukraine and Gaza and tensions between the major powers in what is now a multi polar world

require new conflict resolution responses The fifth edition of this hugely popular text offers a commanding overview of today's changing conflict landscape and the latest developments and new ideas in the field Fluently written in an easy to follow style it guides readers carefully through the key concepts issues and debates evaluates successes and failures and assesses the main challenges for conflict resolution today Comprehensively updated and illustrated with new case studies the fifth edition returns to its favoured twelve chapter format It remains the leading text for students of peace and security studies conflict management and international politics as well as policy makers and those working in NGOs and think tanks

Reframing Institutional Logics Alistair Mutch, 2018-10-09 How are we to characterise the context in which organisations operate The notion that organisational activity is shaped by institutional logics has been influential but it presents a number of problems The criteria by which institutions are identified the conflation of institutions with organisations the enduring nature of those institutions and an exaggerated focus on change are all concerns that existing perspectives do not tackle adequately This book uses the resources of historical work to suggest new ways of looking at institutional logics It builds on the work of Roger Friedland who has conceived of institutional logics being animated by adherence to a core substance that is immanent in practices Development of this idea in the context of organisation theory is supported by ideas drawn from the work of the social theorist Margaret Archer and the broader resources of the philosophical tradition of critical realism Institutions are seen to emerge over time from the embodied relations of humans to each other and to the natural world on which they depend for material existence Once emergent institutions develop their own logics and endure to form the context in which agents are involuntarily placed and that conditions their activity The approach adopted offers resources to bring society back in to the study of organisations The book will appeal to graduate students who are engaging with institutional theory in their research It will also be of interest to scholars of institutional theory of the history of organisations and those seeking to apply ideas from critical realism to their research

Conceptualising Child-Adult Relations Leena Alanen, Berry Mayall, 2002-11-01 Conceptualising Child Adult Relations focuses on how children conceptualise and experience child adult relations The authors explore the idea of generation as a key to understanding children's agency in intersection with social worlds which are largely organised and ordered by adults The authors explore two interconnected themes how children define the division of labour between children and adults and how far children regard themselves as constituting a separate group This book is ground breaking in its focus on the variety and commonality in children's lives and views across a broad range of contexts It provides innovative theoretical approaches to the growing study of childhood by homing in on intergenerational relations as a main concept and draws attention to links across the main sites of children's lives such as the home neighbourhood and school Moreover for policy related issues this book provides food for thought about the social conditions and status of childhood and the factors structuring it

Encountering the Everyday Michael Hviid Jacobsen, 2017-09-16 Everyday life is something we tend to take for granted something that just is something unnoticed But everyday life is perhaps the most important dimension of society it s where we live most parts of our lives with each other This book provides a clear contemporary and comprehensive overview of the sociologies of everyday life Looking at everyday activities and experiences from language and emotions to popular culture and leisure Encountering the Everyday explores what social structures orders and processes mean to us on a daily basis The book carefully leads the reader through historical developments in the field beginning at the earlier Chicago school and finishing with up to date ideas of postmodernism and interactionism Each chapter relates theoretical ideas directly to case studies and real empirical research to make complex concepts and core issues accessible relevant and engaging Written by leading international scholars in the field this truly global book will inspire and inform all students and scholars of everyday life sociology

Risks, Identities and the Everyday Julie Scott Jones, Jayne Raisborough, 2016-04-08 Risks Identities and the Everyday focuses on the individual and the lived experience of everyday risks a departure from the focus on risk from a macro level The contributors look at risk and how perceptions of risk risk taking and risk assessment increasingly dominate our everyday lives and explore it in a variety of settings not previously associated with risk theory including plastic surgery teenage sub cultures ageing and independent travel The volume moves risk away from abstract theorising about what people may or may not fear about risks to focus on how it actually materialises and operates in everyday real social interactions and contexts It also interrogates the rational self at the heart of macro social theories by thinking through the construction of risk choices and the socio cultural dynamics that present some risks as acceptable appropriate and necessary
