Molotov Mouths Explosive New Writing:

Molotov Mouths James Tracy, 2003 The Molotov Mouths Outspoken Word Troupe has a simple mission social justice Without slogans or dogma these seven authors have created an original literary manifesto of progressive ideas Passionate stories about gentrification discrimination and identity politics unite with heartfelt poems exploring poverty race and disability that positively shine with subversive solidarity BOOK JACKET The Beautiful Michelle Tea, 2004 Before she became an award winning novelist Michelle Tea wrote poems about life love and heartbreak Hers is an art of emotions and direct statements casual and harsh at once Publishers Weekly A wonderfully light and simultaneously deep collection Her poetry speaks with a disciplined and passionate clarity San Francisco Chronicle Tea writes with a raw hearted wry but wide eyed ebullience rendering dyke bohemia with intense gritty glittering romanticism San Francisco Bay Guardian Before penning her contemporary classic novel Valencia Tea wrote wonderfully honest narrative poems which she self published in small editions now collected here for the first time These poems bring to life Tea s early experiences from the challenging family home she left in Massachusetts through college and Tucson sex work to a more fulfilling existence in San Francisco where queer activism includes risky affairs alcohol and drug fueled adventures and occasional self doubt A San Francisco Chronicle Best Book of 2004 a Lambda Literary Award Finalist and a Book Sense 76 pick Pisco Sours Ananda Esteva, 2006 Verde cries Pisco Sours This poetry grows fresh and green on the vine In these poems you will hear the rhythms of conquest and rebellion boiling over in a furious song Ananda Esteva is a skilled wordsmith blending together the shout of spoken word and the haunting chant of traditional songs She takes us to Chile and to the Americas of conquest and before She guides us steadily on a journey through horror to the possibility of redemption Join her on this march Days I Moved Through Ordinary Sounds Chad Sweeney, 2009-01-18 Days I Moved Through Ordinary Sounds documents 15 years of an amazingly successful experiment asking accomplished writers to teach creative writing workshops in juvenile detention facilities homeless shelters inner city schools and centers for newly arrived immigrants The National WritersCorps program with branches in San Francisco Washington D C and New York was founded in 1994 as a new model of community activism and engagement where creative writers are trained and employed to provide literacy skills and artistic empowerment to young people in need The skills and insights gained by these teaching artists have often combined to create a watershed experience in their own career trajectory Here is a collection of work both poetry and prose from many of the talented people who have formed the ranks of WritersCorps teachers over the years along with personal essays in which they share their experiences of entering a classroom for the first time teaching sestinas and hip hop beats and forging relationships with young people from diverse ethnicities ages and backgrounds In the words of one writer teacher Writing in community gathers us around the proverbial campfire and reminds us why we do this because hearing stories helps us make sense of the world and because telling them helps us make sense of ourselves In Days I Moved Through Ordinary Sounds readers follow these teaching artists on their journey into the halls and streets of America's diverse neighborhoods as they enrich the lives and creativity of their students and find their own voices changed in the process. The collection includes contributions by Ishle Yi Park, Thomas Centolella, Will Power, Stephen Beachy, and Jeffrey McDaniel. For more information about the teachers included in this collection, check out the WritersCorps site. Praise for WritersCorps: It has been so exciting for me to read what WritersCorps has been writing; those who are going to carry poetry in the future. Tille Olsen, author of Tell Me A Riddle. I am in love with WritersCorps. Robert Hass, Poet Laureate of the United States. This anthology is more than a record of WritersCorps. It is a chronicle of our times. Mart n Espada, author of The Republic of Poetry. Chad Sweeney is the author of three poetry collections; his poems and translations have appeared widely, including in Best American Poetry 2008. Sweeney is co-editor of Parthenon West Review, a journal of contemporary poetry and translation, and is a PhD candidate in literature at Western Michigan University. He taught for the San Francisco WritersCorps for seven years.

Homelands Patricia Justine Tumang, Jenesha de Rivera, 2006-12-21. In Homelands, writers investigate the complexities of how women experience, remember, and imagine journeys to their homelands. Approaching the topic from varying perspectives: exile, longing, belonging, diaspora, idealization, they show that homeland isn't just a physical place. It can also be an imagined community, a part of one's identity, or simply a wavering memory. It's a world we create and re-create every day. Among the contributors are Etel Adnan, who describes her life as an exile from Beirut after choosing to leave a city at war; Agate Nesaule, who, as a youngster, left Latvia under Nazi and Soviet threat, writes of envying a young Latvian girl's life rich in place, language, and music; Sarah McCormic echoes the experience of many American mutts who can claim so many heritages that they feel a connection to none. The writers in this collection beautifully capture the complicated notion of homeland and reflect the diversity of women's realities in the world.

American Book Publishing Record, 2003. Writing Poetry in the Dark Stephanie M. Wytovich, 2024-09-11. Writing Poetry in the Dark brings together some of the most successful contemporary genre poets to discuss topics related to creating dark and fantastical poetry. While there are countless books available for the aspiring poet, there is a lack of resources specifically for and on speculative poetry, and with the market thriving, publishers who previously did not put out poetry are now adding it to their catalogs, requesting it for their anthologies, and seeking it for their magazines. Given these factors, it seemed like the perfect time to put together a guide for dark poets that addresses some of the unique challenges they face, such as creating monsters out of white space, writing the hybrid poem, or subverting folklore in the retelling of a classic tale. Included in Writing Poetry in the Dark are recommendations on how to bring fear to the page, write from the wound, let violence loose, channel the weird, and tackle the dark side of daily life. There are also practical suggestions for exploring different poetic forms and topics, ranging from building worlds, writing from different points of view, and exploring gender and sexuality on the page. This book will bring something different to every speculative writer who is interested in exploring poetry with a genre twist, and it is our hope that this book will help poetry itself continue to evolve.

Technology and Terrorism David Clarke,2017-07-05 In this volume thirteen authors from all points of the English speaking world provide a tour of the entwined labyrinths of technology and terrorism They describe terrorism as an epistemological contact sport With espionage one can often deduce from a few pieces of the puzzle a plan s goals and its roots its sources But the goals of terrorists are both vague and hopelessly specific while their means are restrained by rational institutional thought Thus terrorists can be equally expected to flail out without any thought at all as a child might exhibit in a temper tantrum and to be hyper rational probing at the edges of the target for any weakness Therefore how terrorists use technology may not be determined by any particular level of technology but in the probabilities for the target s expectation and defense regarding particular technologies Fred Allen asks why Bin Laden and his organization were effective against the Russians but may have more trouble with free societies Edward Tenner muses on the ironies of low tech attacks and the dangers of over reliance on high tech sophistication Such thoughts are tempered by direct and unreassuring reportage from the federal security front Ann Larabee turns the telescope around with a history showing that bomb throwing is as American as apple pie Toby Blyth takes us inside the theorists backroom for a look at the ever mutating ways means and motives of war It used to be about power money land resources or the ever popular Pamir Knot Great Game Now it seems that globalization has coughed up groups of people with little in common except for simultaneous feelings of helplessness and cultural superiority Modern technology which once seemed to hold only promise now seems to harbor the potential for danger and destruction The contributors to this volume are interested in the broader culture and how terrorism affects that culture including how people go about researching terrorism

The Potbellied Virgin Alicia Yáñez Cossío, 2006-06 In an unnamed town in the Ecuadorian Andes a small wooden icon La Virgen Pipona the Potbellied Virgin conceals the documents that define the town s social history That history recently has been dominated by the women of the Benavides family a conservative clan and not coincidentally the caretakers of the Virgin Their rivals are the Pandos a family led by four old men who spend their days smoking in the park across from the Virgin s cathedral and offering revisionist versions of local and national events When a military skirmish threatens the Virgin and the secret in her famous belly the Benavides women must scramble to preserve their place as local matriarchs without alerting the old Pandos to the opportunity that might enable them to finally supplant their rivals One of Ecuador s foremost contemporary writers Alicia Y nez Coss o illuminates the complexity of Andean society by placing disenfranchised players such as women and Amerindians onstage with traditional powers such as the military and the church Folk wisdom exemplified in The Potbellied Virgin by the beautifully translated proverbs so popular with the Benavideses and the Pandos alike stands up to historical record Such inclusiveness ultimately allows the whole truths of Y nez Coss o s subjects to emerge Only the second of her novels to be translated into English The Potbellied Virgin La cofrad a del mullo del vestido de la Virgen Pipona is a funny focused portrait of Ecuadorian life in the twentieth century
