Hoover,2023-06-27 Teaching writing is not for the faint of heart but it can be a tremendous gift to teachers and students Students often approach writing courses with trepidation because they think of writing as a mystical and opaque process Teachers often approach these same courses with dread because of the enormous workload and the often unpolished skills of new writers This approachable composition textbook for beginning writers contends that writing can be a better experience for everyone when taught as an empathetic and respectful conversation In a time in which discourse is not always civil and language is not always tended carefully a conversation based writing approach emphasizes intention and care Written by a teacher with more than fifteen years of experience in the college writing classroom Composition as Conversation explores what happens when the art of conversation meets the art of writing Heather Hoover shows how seven virtues including curiosity attentiveness relatability open mindedness and generosity inform the writing process and can help students become more effective writers She invites writers of all skill levels to make meaningful contributions with their writing This short accessible and instructive book offers a reflective method for college level writing and will also work well in classical school high school and homeschool contexts It demystifies the writing process and helps students understand why their writing matters It will energize teachers of writing as they encourage their students to become careful readers and observers intentional listeners and empathetic arguers The book also provides helpful sample assignments 44- How to have better conversations Lauren Mitchell,101-01-01 Sponge: Leadership Lessons I Learnt From My Clients Ambi

The Creation of a Professional Learning Community for School Leaders Amalia Humada- Ludeke,2013-09-03 The unwavering culture of continuous improvement efforts to bring about school change has irrevocably changed the role expectations for the school leader The school leader in the 21st century is increasingly perceived as an instructional leader expected to implement whole school reform models that can shape teacher practice and influence student outcomes The significant changes in role expectations for school leaders present considerable challenges to an educational system that was not designed to incorporate these conceptualizations In light of the increased acceptance of changed leadership expectations the elements that are needed for developing supporting and sustaining instructional leaders who can lead systemic change efforts are frequently not present are fragmented or are observed at various developmental stages throughout the pK 20 pipeline This book is centered on the learning and changed behaviors of school leaders who engaged in a sustained job embedded professional learning community facilitated through a university district partnership The learning from the findings suggested that job embedded learning with their peers can be instrumental for these principals to build the capacity to lead systemic change efforts The findings further suggested that creating conditions for new understanding to occur and sustained opportunities to apply new learning in context to their role entailed a collaborative effort by a partnership involving two separate institutions with different priorities The author makes a case for the educational pipeline to prioritize the support and understanding of complex systemic change efforts and innovations as they are linked to school improvement
