Monocotyledons Klaus Kubitzki, 2013-04-17 When Rolf Dahlgren and I embarked on preparing this book series Rolf took prime responsibility for monocotyledons which had interested him for a long time After finishing his comparative study and family classification of the monocots he devoted much energy to the acquisition and editing of family treatments for the present series After his untimely death Peter Goldblatt who had worked with him continued to handle further incoming monocot manuscripts until in the early 1990s his other obligations no longer allowed him to continue At that time some 30 manuscripts in various states of perfection had accumulated which seemed to form a solid basis for a speedy completion of the FGVP monocots with the exception of the grasses and orchids which would appear in separate volumes I felt a strong obligation to do everything to help in publishing the manuscripts that had been put into our hands I finally decided to take charge of them personally although during my life as a botanist I had never seriously been interested in monocots London Grain, Seed, and Oil Reporter, 1928 New Directions in Lemur Studies Berthe Rakotosamimanana, Hanta Rasamimanana, J. Ganzhorn, Steven M. Goodman, 2012-12-06 Over the course of the past decade there has been an enormous augmentation in the amount of information available on the lemurs of Madagascar These advances are closely coupled with an increase in the number of national and international researchers working on these animals As a result Madagascar has emerged as one of the principal sites of primatological studies in the world Furthermore the conservation community has a massive interest in the preservation of the natural habitats of the island and lemurs serve as one of the symbols of this cause Between 10 and 14 August 1998 the XVIIth International Primatology Society IPS Congress was held in Antananarivo Madagascar For a country that about a decade ago was largely closed to foreign visitors this Congress constituted a massive event for the Malagasy scientific community and was assisted by about 550 primatologists from 35 different countries Naturally given the venue and context of the Congress many of the presentations dealt with lemurs and covered a very wide breadth of subjects
