Seeing Anthropology Cultural Anthropology Through Film Third Edition:

Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 2004 Seeing Anthropology continues to be the only cultural anthropology text available that allows for easy integration of ethnographic films into the introductory cultural anthropology course. This text truly incorporates films within the text by blending textbook content with fourteen ethnographic film clips that are put in the hands of students. More flexible ordering options are available with the new edition. See New to this Edition section below. One reviewer says: "The greatest strengths of this text are its unique and skillful use of film clips to enhance student learning. I can think of no better way to extend student learning in anthropology than the use of films and there is no one more qualified to select and present anthropological films than the author of this book." Ethnographic Film Karl G. Heider, 2009-04-20. From reviews of the first edition: Ethnographic Film can rightly be considered a film primer for anthropologists. Choice. This is an interesting and useful book about what it means to be ethnographic and how this might affect ethnographic filmmaking for the better. It obviously belongs in all departments of anthropology and most ethnographic filmmakers will want to read it. Ethnohistory. Even before Robert Flaherty released Nanook of the North in 1922, anthropologists were producing films about the lifeways of native peoples for a public audience as well as for research and teaching. Ethnographic Film 1976 was one of the first books to provide a comprehensive introduction to this field of visual anthropology and it quickly became the standard reference. In this new edition, Karl G. Heider thoroughly updates Ethnographic Film to reflect developments in the field over the three decades since its publication, focusing on the work of four seminal filmmakers: Jean Rouch, John Marshall, Robert Gardner, and Timothy Asch. He begins with an introduction to ethnographic film and a history of the medium. He then considers many attributes of ethnographic film, including the crucial need to present whole acts, whole bodies, whole interactions, and whole people to preserve the integrity of the cultural context. Heider also discusses numerous aspects of making ethnographic films, from ethics and finances to technical considerations such as film versus video and preserving the filmed record. He concludes with a look at using ethnographic film in teaching. Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, 1997. Accompanying videocassettes include short ethnographically accurate films on a wide range of culture types and world areas which contribute to the subject of the chapters. Seeing Anthropology Karl G. Heider, Herbert L. Ziegler, 2000-09. This is the only book/video package for cultural anthropology. This book truly incorporates films within the text. This unique package allows the reader to view the films in class or at home. Film - An International Bibliography Malte Hagener, Michael Töteberg, 2016-12-16. Kommentierte Bibliografie.
