Modern China 1840-1972 An Introduction To Sources And Research Aids:

Modern China, 1840-1972 Andrew Nathan, 2020-06-01 Graduate students have traditionally learned a good part of what they know about sources and research aids on modern China through hearsay and serendipity in unsystematic and unreliable bits and pieces The field has now developed to the point where this need not and ought not to be so It is now possible for beginning researchers to start with some shared basic knowledge of research aids and documentary resources This research guide is meant to provide that knowledge The user of this guide is envisaged as an American graduate student in history or the social sciences who is already familiar with the major English language secondary literature on modern China and is about to begin original research either for a seminar paper or for a dissertation China Bibliography Harriet T. Zurndorfer, 2021-12-06 This volume serves as a guide to all facets of China study from advice on choosing an appropriate literary dictionary to finding the most recent yearbooks that offer statistical data about the contemporary economy China Bibliography does not restrict itself to one particular discipline but considers the development of Chinese civilization as a whole from its imperial beginnings to the present and therefore demonstrates how one would find information about Chinese history literature religion linguistics collectanea as well as present day PRC economic and political policies Because this book also explains how bibliographical data on China has accumulated over the last 300 years including within China itself it also may help the reader understand the significance of a particular type of reference work State and Economy in Republican China William C. guide provides insight into issues such as the representation of important meetings in the media how policies are made and how policy making in China has varied over time This title will be of interest to students of Asian Studies and International Politics
