Hadley, 2013-06-29 Undeniably language is at the core of human existence Merleau Ponty 1945 posited that thought and language are one cognition being language language cognition Although such a categorical stance can be challenged from a number of theoretical perspectives as dogmatic and nonveridical the critical role of language in humanness is irrefutable It is what defines and distinguishes creatures at the apex of the phylogenetic scale The fact that cognition predates verbal fluency and can take various nonverbal forms does not diminish the pivotal role of language it is a functional requisite an imperative More than a mere vehicle to express thought it transforms modifies and shapes much of cognition It cannot be trivialized On many grounds man is capably rivalled by lower forms of existence the gazelle is more graceful the lion is stronger the cheetah is fleetier It is through his use of symbols that man usurps the ascendant position Cassirer in Essay on Man 1946 described man as animal symbolicum the animal that creates symbols and a symbolic world Through language humans transcend time and are able to describe events temporally removed to reflect on the past to conjecture the future With words man can paint pictures muse and dream embrace and console persuade and corrupt educate and be educated Language is a preferred performatory domain nowhere more than in Western Civilization Emotional Communication Paul Geltner, 2013 What role does animal like and infantile communication play in life and in psychoanalysis How are painful childhood experiences recreated with people who are nothing like the original family What are the roles of loving and horrible feelings in psychoanalytic cure In Emotional Communication Paul Geltner places the pre linguistic type of communication that is shared with infants and animals at the core of the psychoanalytic relationship He shows how emotional communication intertwines with language permeating every moment of human interaction and becoming a primary way that people involuntarily recreate painful childhood relationships in current life Emotional Communication integrates observations from a number of psychoanalytic schools in a cohesive but non eclectic model Geltner expands psychoanalytic technique beyond the traditional focus on interpretation and the contemporary focus on authenticity to include the use feelings that precisely address the client s repetitive patterns of misery The author breaks down analytic interventions into their cognitive and emotional components describing how each engages a different part of the client s mind and serves a different function He explains the role of emotional communication in psychoanalytic technique both in classical interpretations and in non interpretive interventions that use the analyst s feelings to amplify the therapeutic power of the psychoanalytic relationship Offering a clear alternative to both Classical and contemporary Relational and Intersubjective approaches to understanding and treating clients in psychoanalysis Paul Geltner presents a theory of communication and maturation that will interest psychoanalysts psychotherapists and those concerned with the subtleties of human relatedness Shadows & Light (Volume 1

Longing for Nothingness Andrew Stein, 2010-01-25 In Longing for Nothingness: Resistance, Denial and the Place of Death in the Nursing Home Andrew Stein offers a groundbreaking new psychoanalytic treatment of the depression and other mental conflicts suffered by residents living in nursing homes. Freud famously argued that humans had a dual drive toward life and toward death and in this new study Stein shows that residents may suffer because they cannot control one part of that dualism: their longing for nothingness. Weaving together elements of Freud's life and writings, Lacanian and Kleinian notions and clinical material in a new and surprising manner, Stein shows that a frightening breakdown of symbolic and imaginary defenses opens nursing home residents to these deeply repressed longings. Because they often do not know how to respond, the result is an increase in their suffering and tendency to despair. Longing for Nothingness makes an impassioned plea for all people, not only residents of nursing homes, to fully acknowledge the role of death in the structures of their desires. By doing this, they will be spared the unnecessary suffering caused by the struggle to keep their longings for death repressed. Stein presents an alternate strategy, bringing the longings for death a little more into consciousness where they can be addressed without fueling debilitating symptoms like depression and rage.

Spirit and Form Benjamin M. Goldberg, 2010-12-16 Each individual is unique and that uniqueness should be cultivated. In Spirit and Form, author and psychologist Dr. Benjamin M. Goldberg offers a thorough analysis of individuality and its development. Formed during thirty-five years of study, Goldberg has developed the art of psychological sculpting. His theory is that an individual should not be changed or fixed but rather the process must be like the art of sculpting stone. Spirit and Form includes a detailed analysis of how this process of articulation as the principle of spiritual fulfillment, personal happiness and mental health is either cultivated or thwarted. Goldberg emphasizes the critical distinction between the psychological impact of didactic and dialectical relationships and the artificiality of the distinction between the psychological and the spiritual In Spirit and Form Goldberg proposes a new model of human consciousness which revolutionizes the traditional model and obviates many of its conceptual problems The occlusive layers of extrinsic thoughts feelings ambitions and self assessments that have peripheralized the individual are to be chipped away or subtracted from the equation allowing the light of the true form or individuality to be revealed and seek its course of outward expression

The Still Small Voice Donald L. Carveth, 2018-05-01 Whereas Freud himself viewed conscience as one of the functions of the superego in The Still Small Voice Psychoanalytic Reflections on Guilt and Conscience the author argues that superego and conscience are distinct mental functions and that therefore a fourth mental structure the conscience needs to be added to the psychoanalytic structural theory of the mind He claims that while both conscience and superego originate in the so called pre oedipal phase of infant and child development they are comprised of contrasting and often conflicting identifications The primary object still most often the mother is inevitably experienced as on the one hand nurturing and soothing and on the other as frustrating and persecuting Conscience is formed in identification with the nurturer the superego in identification with the aggressor There is a principle of reciprocity at work in the human psyche for love received one seeks to return love for hate hate the talion law
