Memory and Remembering in Early Irish Literature Sarah Künzler, 2023-12-04 Ireland possesses an early and exceptionally rich medieval vernacular tradition in which memory plays a key role What attitudes to remembering and forgetting are expressed in secular early Irish texts How do the texts conceptualise the past and what does this conceptualisation tell us about the present and future Who mediates and validates different versions of the past and how is future remembrance guaranteed This study approaches such questions through close readings of individual texts It centres on three major aspects of medieval Irish memory culture places and landscapes the provision of information about the past by miraculously old eye witnesses and the personal social and cultural impact of forgetting The discussions shed light on the relationship between memory and forgetting and explore the connections between the past present and future This shows the fascinating spatio-temporal identity constructions in medieval Ireland and links the Irish texts to the broader European world The monograph makes this rich literary source available to an interdisciplinary audience and is of interest to both a general medievalist audience and those working in Cultural Memory Studies

Body Politics in Contemporary Irish Women's Fiction Ellen Scheible, 2024-12-12 Exploring twentieth and twenty-first century texts that wrestle with the Irish domestic interior as a sexualized and commodified space this book provides readings of the power and authority of the feminized body in Ireland Scheible dissects the ways that the woman as symbol remains consistent in Irish literary representations of national experience in Irish fiction and shows how this problematizes the role of women in Ireland by underscoring the oppression of sexuality and gender that characterized Irish culture during the twentieth century Examining works by Elizabeth Bowen Pamela Hinkson Emma Donoghue Tana French Sally Rooney and James Joyce this book demonstrates that the definition of Irish nationhood in our contemporary experience of capitalism and biopolitics is dependent on the intertwining and paradoxical tropes of a traditional yet equally sexual feminine identity which has been quelled by violence and reproduction

Conamara Chronicles, 2022-09-27 I find him to be a kindred spirit a sympathetic but shrewd enquirer a companionable stroller and a lover of anecdotes gathered by the wayside So Tim Robinson described folklorist revolutionary and district justice Seán Mac Giollarn whose 1941 book Ann la Beaga Iorras Aithneach revealed his sheer delight in the rich language and stories of the people he encountered in Conamara the Irish-speaking region in the south of Connemara From tales of smugglers saints and scholars to memories of food work and family the stories gathered here provide invaluable insights into the lives and culture of the community This faithful and lovingly crafted translation complete with annotations a biography and thoughtful chapters that explore the importance of the language and region is the final work of both Robinson and his collaborator the renowned writer and Irish language expert Liam Mac Con Iomaire Translated into English for the first time Conamara Chronicles Tales from Iorras Aithneach preserves the art of storytellers in the West of Ireland and honors the inspiration they kindle even still
