Military Procurement United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Armed Services, 1959 The Changing Face of Aerial Warfare Anthony Tucker-Jones, 2018-10-29 Can air power alone win a war That has been the question since the Second World War Air attacks failed miserably in Vietnam Operation Linebacker had little effect while bombing Hanoi just increased hatred for America yet air strikes in both Iraq and Libya helped bring about regime changes No fly zones may have worked in the Balkans but they might as well not have been there for Saddam Hussein s Iraq From the Luftwaffe s massed attack on Britain to NATO s interventions in Libya aerial warfare has changed almost beyond recognition The piston engine has been replaced by the jet and in some cases the pilot has been completely replaced by the microchip Carpet bombing is now a global positioning system and laser pinpointed strikes using precision guided munitions Whereas a bomber s greatest enemies were once fighters and flak the threats have now morphed into smart missiles from half a world away In this compelling study celebrated defence expert Anthony Tucker Jones charts the remarkable evolution of aerial warfare from 1940 to the present day Contemporary Issues Shaping China's Civil Aviation Policy Alan Williams, 2016-05-13 The emergence of China as a future major participant in international aviation raises some interesting questions especially from a strategic policy perspective The progressive shift from a command to a mixed market economy under the central leadership of the Beijing administration now finds itself faced with the needs to balance a strategic duality in the context of the role of China s civil aviation industry In a very real sense this situation requires the design and accommodation of a growing role for China s mainstream carriers within the operational context of the need to meet the complex challenges from increasing international market competition In parallel with such major external pressures central government must also accommodate domestic priorities with regard to internal economic development The fruits of economic progress as a function of market reform are commonly understood to have positively reshaped the live of only a proportion of the national population to date The need to create greater access to economic growth for the more remote western and northern provinces has required that the rapid development of airports become a factor in the planning and allocation of developmental priorities To complicate matters further prevailing requirements of airspace defence remain a major parameter within the larger context of national aviation policy This book explores the political economic and strategic issues raised by the inevitable tension between the domestic and international aspects of Beijing's current civil aviation strategy. It also seeks to identify some of the problems that face the industry as a key sector in the larger context of macroeconomic reform and the further pressures now being exerted by China's membership of the WTO.
