Walkowitz, 2016-11-29 Bringing together leading critics and literary scholars A New Vocabulary for Global Modernism argues for new ways of understanding the nature and development of twentieth century literature and culture Scholars have largely understood modernism as an American and European phenomenon Those parameters have expanded in recent decades but the incorporation of multiple origins and influences has often been tied to older conceptual frameworks that make it difficult to think of modernism globally Providing alternative approaches A New Vocabulary for Global Modernism introduces pathways through global archives and new frameworks that offer a richer more representative set of concepts for the analysis of literary and cultural works In separate essays each inspired by a critical term this collection explores what happens to the foundational concepts of modernism and the methods we bring to modernist studies when we approach the field as a global phenomenon Their work transforms the intellectual paradigms we have long associated with modernism such as tradition antiquity style and translation New paradigms such as context slum copy pantomime and puppets emerge as the archive extends beyond its European center In bringing together and reexamining the familiar as well as the emergent the contributors to this volume offer an invaluable and original approach to studying the intersection of world literature and modernist studies

Modernism and Subjectivity Adam Meehan, 2020-06-03 In Modernism and Subjectivity How Modernist Fiction Invented the Postmodern Subject Adam Meehan argues that theories of subjectivity coming out of psychoanalytic poststructuralist and adjacent late twentieth century intellectual traditions had already been articulated in modernist fiction before 1945 Offering a bold new genealogy for literary modernism Meehan finds versions of a postmodern subject embodied in works by authors who intently undermine attempts to stabilize conceptions of identity and who draw attention to the role of language in shaping conceptions of the self Focusing on the philosophical registers of literary texts Meehan traces the development of modernist attitudes toward subjectivity particularly in relation to issues of ideology spatiality and violence His analysis explores a selection of works published between 1904 and 1941 beginning with Joseph Conrad's prescient portrait of the subject interpolated by ideology and culminating with Samuel Beckett's categorical disavowal of the subjective I Additional close readings of novels by F Scott Fitzgerald Aldous Huxley James Joyce Nathanael West and Virginia Woolf establish that modernist texts conceptualize subjectivity as an ideological and linguistic construction that reverberates across understandings of consciousness race place and identity By reconsidering the movement's function and scope Modernism and Subjectivity charts how profoundly modernist literature shaped the intellectual climate of the twentieth century

The Nature of Modernism Elizabeth Black, 2017-11-22 This book presents the first extended study of the relationship between British modernist poetry and the environment Challenging reductive associations of modernism as predominantly anthropocentric in character and urban in focus the book's central argument is that within British modernist poetry there is a clear and sustained interest in the natural world which has yet to receive adequate critical attention Whilst modernist studies continues to emphasize the plurality of the movement and the breadth of voices and concerns within it the environmental consciousness of modernist literature and its response to changes to human nature relations following the experience of war and modernity remain largely unexamined Exploring British modernist poetry from an ecocritical perspective offers a fresh approach to the movement and its context and produces original readings of both canonical and more marginalized modernist voices This book opens by discussing the relationship between modernism and ecocriticism and the benefits of creating a dialogue between the two It then presents new readings of Edward Thomas T S Eliot Edith Sitwell and Charlotte Mew that reveal a shared preoccupation with environmental issues and a common desire to find new ways of achieving physical psychological and artistic reconnection with nature Building on the continuing growth of ecocriticism this book demonstrates how green approaches to modernist studies can produce new insights into both individual poets and the modernist movement as a whole making it an essential resource for students of modernism ecocriticism and early twentieth century literature
