Pioneering Spirits Suzan Campbell, Sandra d'Emilio, 1991
Beatrice Mandelman, Taos Modernist Robert Carleton Hobbs, 1995 In the evolution of her work she has shown the influences of her early teacher Louis Lozowick and friends Willem deKooning Jackson Pollock and other New York abstract painters She also studied with Fernand Leger and Francis Picabia in Paris but painting in the relative isolation of northern New Mexico allowed her to create an important regional variant of the international modern style
From Greenwich Village to Taos Flannery Burke, 2008 Expands the picture of early American modernism well beyond New York City's dominant impact on the movement by revealing the rich and vibrant modernist art community that New York socialite Mabel Dodge Luhan created in her famous Taos New Mexico salon
In Contemporary Rhythm Peter H. Hassrick, Elizabeth J. Cunningham, Ernest Leonard Blumenschein, 2008 The definitive retrospective on Ernest L. Agnes Martin: Her Life and Art Nancy Princenthal, 2015-06-16 The first biography of visionary artist Agnes Martin one of the most original and influential painters of the postwar period Over the course of a career that spanned fifty years Agnes Martin's austere serene work anticipated and helped to define Minimalism even as she battled psychological crises and carved out a solitary existence in the American Southwest Martin identified with the Abstract Expressionists but her commitment to linear geometry caused her to be associated in turn with Minimalist feminist and even outsider artists She moved through some of the liveliest art communities of her time while maintaining a legendary reserve I paint with my back to the world she says both at the beginning and at the conclusion of a documentary filmed when she was in her late eighties When she died at ninety-two in Taos New Mexico it is said she had not read a newspaper in half a century No substantial critical monograph exists on this acclaimed artist the recipient of two career retrospectives as well as the National Medal of the Arts who was championed by critics as diverse in their approaches as Lucy Lippard Lawrence Alloway and Rosalind Krauss Furthermore no attempt has been made to describe her extraordinary life The whole engrossing story told here for the first time Agnes Martin is essential reading for anyone interested in abstract art or the history of women artists in America
The Geography of Hope Chris Turner, 2010-04-30 After the fierce warnings and grim predictions of The Weather Makers and An Inconvenient Truth acclaimed journalist and national bestselling author Chris

Turner finds hope in the search for a sustainable future Point of no return The chilling phrase has become the ubiquitous mantra of ecological doomsayers a troubling headline above stories of melting permafrost and receding ice caps visions of catastrophe and fears of a problem with no solution Daring to step beyond the rhetoric of panic and despair The Geography of Hope points to the bright light at the end of this very dark tunnel With a mix of front line reporting analysis and passionate argument Chris Turner pieces together the glimmers of optimism amid the gloom and the solutions already at work around the world from Canada's largest wind farm to Asia's greenest building and Europe's most eco friendly communities But The Geography of Hope goes far beyond mere technology Turner seeks out the next generation of political economic social and spiritual institutions that could provide the global foundations for a sustainable future from the green hills of northern Thailand to the parliament houses of Scandinavia from the villages of southern India where microcredit finance has remade the social fabric to America's most forward thinking think tanks In this compelling first person exploration punctuated by the wonder and angst of a writer discovering the world's beacons of possibility Chris Turner pieces together a dazzling map of the disparate landmarks in a geography of hope While most of the world has been spinning in stagnant circles of recrimination and debate on the subject of climate change paralyzed by visions of apocalypse both natural if nothing of our way of life changes and economic if too much does Denmark has simply marched off with steadfast resolve into the sustainable future reaching the zenith of its pioneering trek on the island of Sams And so if there's an encircled star on this patchwork map indicating hope's modest capital then it should be properly placed on this island Perhaps for the sake of precision at the geographic centre of Jrgen Tranberg's dairy farm There are I'm sure any number of images called to mind by talk of ecological revolution and renewable energy and sustainable living but I'm pretty certain they don't generally include a hearty fiftysomething Dane in rubber boots spotted with mud and cow shit Which is why Sams's transformation is not just revolutionary but inspiring not just a huge change but a tantalizingly attainable one And it was a change that seemed at its most workaday near effortless no more remarkable than the cool October wind gusting across the island down on Tranberg's farm from The Geography of Hope Branding the American West Marian Wardle, Sarah E. Boehme, 2016-02-17

Artists and filmmakers in the early twentieth century reshaped our vision of the American West In particular the Taos Society of Artists and the California based artist Maynard Dixon departed from the legendary depiction of the Wild West and fostered new images or brands for western art This volume illustrated with more than 150 images examines select paintings and films to demonstrate how these artists both enhanced and contradicted earlier representations of the West Prior to this period American art tended to portray the West as a wild frontier with untamed lands and peoples Renowned artists such as Henry Farny and Frederic Remington set their work in the past invoking an environment immersed in conflict and violence This trademark perspective began to change however when artists enamored with the Southwest stamped a new imprint on their paintings The contributors to this volume illuminate the complex ways in which early twentieth century artists as well as filmmakers evoked a southwestern environment not just suspended in time but also permanent rather than transient Yet as the authors also reveal these artists were not entirely immune to the siren call of the vanishing West and their portrayal of peaceful yet exotic Native Americans was an expansion rather than a dismissal of earlier tropes Both brands cast a romantic spell on the West and both have been seared into public consciousness Branding the American West is published in association with the Brigham Young University Museum of Art Provo Utah and the Stark Museum of Art Orange Texas

Marsden Hartley and the West Heather Hole, Georgia O'Keeffe Museum, 2007-01-01 A revelatory look at Hartley's New Mexico landscapes and the darker side of postwar American modernism Considered to be among the greatest early American modernists the painter Marsden Hartley 1877-1943 traveled the United States and Europe in his search for a distinctive American aesthetic His stay in New Mexico resulted in an extraordinary series of landscape paintings created in New Mexico New York and Europe between 1918 and 1924 that show an evolution in style and thinking that is important for understanding both Hartley's oeuvre and American modernism in the postwar years Marsden Hartley and the West examines this pivotal stage of the painter's career drawing upon his writings and providing illustrations of rarely seen and previously unpublished works The author considers Hartley's involvement with the Stieglitz circle and its soil and spirit philosophy the Taos art colony New York Dada and the impact of historical events such as World War I Within this setting she analyzes the pastels and oil paintings that suggest Hartley's increasingly ambivalent response to the land Beginning with optimistic naturalistic views the New Mexico works grew progressively darker and more tumultuous increasingly reflecting a sense of loss brought on by war The paintings become a site where the landscapes of memory self and nation merge while reflecting broader modernist debates about American-ness and a usable past Willa Cather at the Modernist Crux Ann Moseley, John Joseph Murphy, Robert Thacker, 2017 The Modern West Emily Ballew Neff, Barry Holstun Lopez, 2006-01-01 A fascinating and novel exploration of the transformative role played by the American West in the development of modernism in the United States Drawing extensively from various disciplines including ethnology geography geology and environmental studies this groundbreaking book addresses shifting concepts of time history and landscape in relation to the work of pioneering American artists during the first half of the 20th century Paintings watercolors and photographs by renowned artists such as Frederic Remington Georgia O'Keeffe Ansel Adams Thomas Hart Benton Dorothea Lange and Jackson Pollock are considered alongside American Indian ledger drawings temperas and Diné sandpaintings Taken together these works document the quest to create a specifically American art in the decades prior to World War II The Modern West begins with a captivating meditation on the relationship between human culture and the physical landscape by Barry Lopez who traveled the West in the artist's footsteps Emily Ballew Neff then describes the evolving importance of the West for American artists working out a radically new aesthetic response to space and place from artist explorers on the turn of the century frontier to visionaries of a Californian arcadia to desert luminaries who found in its stark topography a natural equivalent to abstraction

Beautifully illustrated and handsomely designed this book is essential to anyone interested in the West and the history of modernism in American art Drawing the Line Christina Bryan Rosenberger, 2016-07-19 Agnes Martin's 1912-2004 celebrated grid paintings are widely acknowledged as a touchstone of postwar American art and have influenced many contemporary artists Martin's formative years however have been largely overlooked In this revelatory study of Martin's early artistic production Christina Bryan Rosenberger demonstrates that the rapidly evolving creative processes and pictorial solutions Martin developed between 1940 and 1967 define all her subsequent art Beginning with Martin's initiation into artistic language at the University of New Mexico and concluding with the reception of her grid paintings in New York in the early 1960s Rosenberger offers vivid descriptions of the networks of art artists and information that moved between New Mexico and the creative centers of New York and California in the postwar period She also documents Martin's exchanges with artists including Ellsworth Kelly Barnett Newman Georgia O'Keeffe Ad Reinhardt and Mark Rothko among others Rosenberger uses original analysis of Martin's art as well as a rich array of archival materials to situate Martin's art within the context of a dynamic historical moment With a lively innovative approach informed by art history and conservation this fluidly written book makes a substantial contribution to the history of postwar American art Modernist Communities across Cultures and Media Caroline Pollentier, Sarah Wilson, 2019-02-01 Questioning the assumption that modernism coincided with a loss of community Modernist Communities Across Cultures and Media seeks to recover modernism's own communal impulses Through a transnational and transmedial lens this volume explores the diverse ways in which modernism reconfigured the relationships between the individual and the communal Collector's Guide, 2004 The Collector's Guide strives to be a trusted partner in the business of art by being the most knowledgeable helpful and friendly resource to New Mexico's artists art galleries museums and art service providers Through a printed guidebook the World Wide Web and weekly radio programs we serve art collectors and others seeking information about the art and culture of New Mexico
