Modernization The Humanist Response To Its Promise And Problems:

Modernization Richard L. Rubenstein, 1982 Modernity: Modernization Malcolm Waters, 1999 V 1 Modernization V 2 Cultural modernity V 3 Modern system V 4 After modernity Modernization Richard L. Rubenstein, 1982 A History of Islamic Legal Theories Wael B. Hallaq, 1997 Wael B. Hallaq has already established himself as one of the most eminent scholars in the field of Islamic law. In this book, first published in 1997, the author traces the history of Islamic legal theory from its early beginnings until the modern period. Initially, he focuses on the early formation of this theory, analysing its central themes and examining the developments which gave rise to a variety of doctrines. He concludes with a discussion of modern thinking about the theoretical foundations and methodology of Islamic law. In organisation approach to the subject and critical apparatus, the book will be an essential tool for the understanding of Islamic legal theory in particular and Islamic law in general. This, in combination with an accessibility of language and style, will guarantee a readership among students and scholars and anyone interested in Islam and its evolution.

Collected Works of George Grant Arthur Davis, Henry Roper Roper, Sheila Grant, 2009-02-28 George Grant 1918-88 has often been called Canada's greatest political philosopher and his work continues to influence the country's political, social and cultural discourse and institutions. The fourth and final volume of the Collected Works of George Grant contains his writings from the last period of his life and includes unpublished material such as lectures, interviews and excerpts from his notebooks. With comprehensive annotations for his articles, reviews and the three books he published during this period: Time as History, English Speaking, Justice and Technology and Justice, the volume also contains his writings on Nietzsche, Heidegger, Simone Weil and C. Lévinas that were central to this phase of his thought. Volume 4 reveals his engagement with technology and the nature of technological society that is as insightful today as during Grant's lifetime and is a lasting proof of his legacy. Arthur Davis is Associate Professor in the School of Social Sciences, Atkinson Faculty of Liberal and Professional Studies, York University. During the 1950s he studied undergraduate philosophy with George Grant.

Polyphonic Thinking and the Divine Jim Kanaris, 2013 Philosophy of religion is a highly diversified field. An apt description of it is zoo. It conjures imagery of a species-wide cacophony of sights and sounds. While some bemoan what this description implies, contributors to this volume appreciate it. There is no reason why a zoo should intimate a den of confusion rather than an important condition of emergence and novelty. Polyphonic is the catchall term to capture this sentiment. It signals a way of thinking that resists the desire to siphon insight into manageable packets of information in the Name of historicity and finitude. A polyphonic then is a variegated and discontinuous study that breaks with a tradition that desires continuity and unification without being erratic. This volume is an exercise in polyphonic thinking. Each contributing scholar develops ideas in connection with his or her research interests. Despite the fluctuation of themes, symmetry exists as each piece sounds off a core melody of religion and the divine. The book contributes to the advancement of current research in contemporary Continental philosophy of religion. By juxtaposing articles by cultural theorists and philosophers of religion religionists and theologians the book emphasizes the importance of interdisciplinary and polyphonic conversation to the development of matters of topical interest and issues related to method and ethics in religious studies and theology

Traditional Religion and Culture in a New Era Reimon Bachika, 2017-12-04 Where will postmodern culture lead us in the twenty first century Will it destroy traditional cultures together with the old established religions that were its foundation These questions and the new concerns they evoke are explored in this important collection of original essays Contributors challenge entrenched assumptions about what many social scientists consider irreversible cultural trends These include cultural differentiation emphasis on individual identity movement toward religion as a private act rather than a community commitment and above all emphasis on the relativity of all knowledge and values The volume asserts three lines of argument in opposition to these trends The first is the teleological significance of traditional religions and archaic knowledge History can be said to have no goal but the same must not follow for human culture One can conceive individually of a hundred goals to live for However the quality of life cannot be that diverse Taken to the extreme cultural particularity and philosophical nihilism are insults to the life that emerged on our planet eons ago Second this volume emphasizes moral concern and the importance of universal values Ideas of human well being have been formulated from ancient times Religious beliefs invariably contain statements of value in the form of commandments and exhortations that express fundamental goals for a quality of life Third the nature of religion and spirituality is discussed Religion today has become controversial socially and marginal sociologically The role of religion in society is sometimes problematic or abused but it is also underestimated and misunderstood The authors suggest that contemporary religion might best be viewed as non ideological spiritual culture This in turn looks to a future in which religion and culture coalesce This volume includes an international cast of scholars from Japan the United States Canada the United Kingdom Germany Greece Italy New Zealand and Belgium All have engaged in research outside their own countries Taken as a whole this volume addresses issues of interest to those in the fields of futures studies religion and philosophy and in particular those concerned with human agency personal responsibility and public choice

When History Accelerates C. M. Hann, 2016-10-06 Rapid and complex social change is of urgent concern to all human societies but how can researchers do justice both to the objective complexities of causal relations and to subjective experiences of different types of change The present volume focuses upon cases of accelerating change including Russia Iran South Africa and Turkey and examines some of the theoretical issues involved in conceptualizing social change and transformation and the methods for their study The fifteen essays in this collection will be of interest to all students of history and the social sciences and especially to students of social anthropology sociology and development studies Challenging Religion James A. Beckford, James T. Richardson, 2003-09-02 In the last half century new religious movements or cults of one sort and another have mushroomed throughout the US and Europe Increasingly these groups have been met with attempts to monitor and control them on the part of the state and concerns about the protection of religious consumers have been set against the democratic right to religious freedom In this collection leading sociologists of religion from the UK US Western and Eastern Europe debate the political practical and ethical issues which arise from these changes in the religious landscape
