Modulators Of Experimental Carcinogenesis:

Modulators of Experimental Carcinogenesis V. Turusov, World Health Organization, International Agency for Research on Cancer, 1983 Modulators of experimental carcinogenesis. Proceedings of a symposium in Moscow, 28-30 June 1982 V. Turusov, World Health Organization WHO., 1983 Modulators of Experimental Carcinogenesis Vladimir Stanislavovich Turusov, 1983 Modulation and Mediation of Cancer by Vitamins F. L. Meyskens, K. Biology of Carcinogenesis M.J. Waring, B.A. Ponder, 2012-12-06 There is no shortage of books on cancer. Why publish another? Simply because the subject is important, possibly the most important challenge facing medicine today and consequently the focus of one of the fastest growing areas of fundamental biological research. The quest to understand and control cancer is so absorbing that from time to time we really need to pause for a moment and try to take stock of the situation. Given the sheer breadth of cancer-related research that is not an easy task. This book, together with its planned successors in the series Cancer Biology and Medicine, represents our attempt to draw back from the bench or the bedside for a moment and take a slightly longer look at what we are doing, what we are trying to do, and where we stand. It is impossible to be comprehensive or even representative of more than a fraction of relevant knowledge, but that is no excuse for not trying to see things in perspective. Accordingly, we set out to persuade a number of our colleagues to join us in writing a book which might admit a little fresh air into the confined atmosphere within which we mostly work, a glimpse perhaps of fresh vistas.

JNCI, Journal of the National Cancer Institute National Cancer Institute (U.S.), 1987 Experimental Hepatocarcinogenesis M.B. Roberfroid, V. Pr  at, 2012-12-06 The meeting on experimental hepatocarcinogenesis which took place in Spa, Belgium, at the end of May 1987, was the Second European Meeting. About 100 scientists, mostly from Europe but also from the United States, met there for three days in a very friendly atmosphere to exchange knowledge and ideas on experimental and human liver carcinogenesis. The main topics discussed during the meeting included general reviews on hepatocarcinogenesis, experimental models of hepatocarcinogenesis, biology of hepatocarcinogenesis, and in vitro studies in hepatocarcinogenesis. They are all covered by the various chapters of this proceedings volume, which reflects the present state of knowledge in this important field of cancer research. The final aim of that research is to understand the basic mechanisms of carcinogenesis. The liver offers a particularly interesting tool to reach such a goal. Indeed, its biochemistry, its morphology, and its physiology are very diverse but relatively well known. Various protocols have been developed to produce hepatocellular carcinomas or other malignant tumors. Their appearance is most often preceded by phenotypically altered foci and nodules which have been isolated and characterized. The major cell populations of normal, neoplastic, and malignant livers have been cultivated. National Library of Medicine Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), Colorectal Cancer Helmut K. Seitz, Ulrich A. Simanowski, Nicholas A. Wright, 2012-12-06 The past 20 years have seen a surge of research into colorectal cancer which is a reflection of the need to improve our methods of treating patients suffering from this increasingly common form of cancer Greater knowledge of the basic mechanisms involved in colorectal carcinogenesis is an essential prerequisite to improvements in cancer prevention In this volume the editors have brought together an impressive list of experts to cover the epidemiology pathophysiology morphology and basis for new diagnostic and therapeutic approaches to early detection and prevention This broad scientific approach provides the reader with up to date review of our current state of knowledge of colorectal carcinogenesis and indicates how this information can be used to generate more research and create new opportunities for diagnosis and treatment This is a book of knowledge and ideas some of them still at the stage of theoretical interest but others with practical potential for the care of patients I recommend it to those who have a research interest in colorectal carcinogenesis as well as to readers who wish to know just how far medical scientists have progressed in their efforts to achieve the ideal of cancer prevention

Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), 日本国立衛生研究所 (Japan), 1900 Cumulated Index Medicus, 1995 Carcinogenesis and Aging Vladimir N. Anisimov, 1987 Dietary Modulation of Cell Signaling Pathways Zigang Dong, Young-Joon Surh, 2008-09-26 A consequence of rapid progress in the science of nutrigenomics and nutrigenetics is the substantial accumulation of data covering nutritional modulation of gene expression at the cellular and subcellular levels Current research is increasingly focused on the role of nutrition and diet in modifying oxidative damage in the progression of disease

Biomedical Index to PHS-supported Research: pt. A. Subject access A-H, 1992 Chemical Induction of Cancer Joseph C. Arcos, Mary F. Argus, Yin-tak Woo, 2012-12-06 In the approach to the analysis of disease including of course cancer two major thrusts may be distinguished These may be referred to in shorthand as agents and processes the causative agents chemical microbial physical environmental and psychosocial and the organismic processes initiated and furthered by the agents culminating in observable pathology at the macromolecular cytological histological organ function locomotor and behavioral levels The past 25 years since the appearance of the first volume of the predecessor series 1 authored by the Editors of this present volume have seen an impressive number of studies on chemicals and other agents as etiologic factors in the induction of cancer The major emphasis has been on the discovery of many chemical carcinogens of widely different structures their metabolism by various tissues and cells and in turn their molecular biochemical effects on the cells This rapidly expanded body of information as effectively covered in the predecessor volumes is an excellent entree to the second half of the overall problem of chemical carcinogenesis the processes The active agents trigger a large array of molecular biochemical alterations to which the target cells target tissues and target organisms respond in many select and common ways This second major aspect of the induction of cancer by chemicals and by other agents the sequence of cellular and tissue changes clearly relevant to cancer remains the challenge for the future

Carcinogenesis and Dietary Fat S. Abraham, 2012-12-06 Prostaglandins Leukotrienes and Cancer is a multi volume series which focuses on an emerging area of cancer research In 1968 R H Williams first reported that elevated prostaglandin levels are present in human medullary carcinoma Since that time the concept that arachidonic acid metabolites may be involved in cancer has expanded to include every aspect of the disease from cell transformation through metastasis Prostaglandins and leukotrienes are generic terms used to describe a family of bioactive lipids produced from unsaturated fatty acids principally from arachidonic acid via the cyclooxygenase and lipoxygenase pathways respectively Cyclooxygenase products consist of diverse products such as prostaglandin E₂ PGE₂ prostacyclin PGI₂ and thromboxane A₂ TXA₂ whereas lipoxygenase products consist of hydroperoxy fatty acids and mono di and tri hydroxy acids including leukotrienes lipoxins and epoxides The precursor fatty acids for the cyclooxygenase and lipoxygenase pathways are present in cellular phospholipids This finding established an important control point in their biosynthesis the release of substrate This occurs in response to numerous stimuli that act at the cell surface Dr Bengt Samuelsson's extensive study of the metabolism of prostaglandins indicate that they are rapidly inactivated on a single pass through pulmonary circulation Thus they cannot act as circulating hormones and appear to be made on demand in the vicinity of target tissues leading to the concept that prostaglandins are local hormones or autoids Altered production qualitative and or quantitative of prostaglandins and leukotrienes has been implicated in the development of a number of disease states e g Research Awards Index ,1989 Target Organ Toxicity Gerald M. Cohen,2020-04-28 First published in 1986 This two volume set provides essential information on the general principles of target organ toxicity Pharmacokinetics metabolic activation and key defense mechanisms excretion species variation and tissue specific biochemistry are explored comprehensively These general principles are then illustrated using specific examples of toxicity to different target organs and systems DNA modification and repair in tumor induction and specificity in tumor initiation are also examined Of primary interest to toxicologist pharmacologists biochemists and environmental toxicologists
