On Centrism and Dualism.

Benjamin Baumann, 2020-06-01 This book provides an overview of the anthropological debate on house societies pertaining particularly to Southeast Asian social formations The book's point of departure is a comparative model of social formations in Southeast Asia outlined by Shelly Errington Although this model features prominently in anthropological discussions of the region no detailed analysis of this comparative approach exists This might be attributed to the fact that Errington's model is theoretically dense alluding to the rather complicated anthropological field of kinship studies Errington's model combines premises of L vi Strauss Structural Anthropology with Clifford Geertz symbolic or interpretative paradigm and situates the synthesis in the anthropology of insular Southeast Asia This book traces the genealogy of this model and provides detailed explications of its basic theoretical premises before it explores the concept of house societies and how it is applied by Errington to approach and compare Southeast Asian social formations The book reveals the structuralism that speaks through Errington s comparative approach by discussing the concept of transformation and indicates the potentials and limitations a typology of different house societies has for the anthropology of Southeast Asia About the House Janet Carsten, Stephen Hugh-Jones, 1995 The house is at once a physical place and a social unit and is often also a unit of production and consumption a cult group and even a political faction Inspired by Levi Strauss s suggestion that the multi functional noble houses of medieval Europe were simply the best known examples of a widespread social institution the contributors to this collection analyse house systems in Southeast Asia and South America exploring the interrelationships between buildings people and ideas They reveal some of the ways in which houses can stand for social groups and serve as images of process and order Ancient Southeast Asia John Norman Miksic, Goh Geok Yian, 2016-10-14 Ancient Southeast Asia provides readers with a much needed synthesis of the latest discoveries and research in the archaeology of the region presenting the evolution of complex societies in Southeast Asia from the protohistoric period beginning around 500BC to the arrival of British and Dutch colonists in 1600 Well illustrated throughout this comprehensive account explores the factors which established Southeast Asia as an area of unique cultural fusion Miksic and Goh explore how the local population exploited the abundant resources available developing maritime transport routes which resulted in economic and cultural wealth including some of the most elaborate art styles and monumental complexes ever constructed The book s broad geographical and temporal coverage including a chapter on the natural environment provides readers with the context needed to understand this staggeringly diverse region It utilizes French Dutch Chinese Malay Indonesian and Burmese sources and synthesizes interdisciplinary theoretical perspectives and data from archaeology history and art history Offering key opportunities for comparative research with other centres of early socio economic complexity Ancient Southeast Asia establishes the area s importance in world history Encyclopaedia of the South-east Asian Ethnography: M-Z Narendra S. Bisht, T. S. Bankoti, 2004 How to Survive in the Ocean Louise Spilsbury, 2012-08-15 The ocean covers 71% of Earth s surface This informative book uses vibrant photographs and accessible text to introduce readers to this vast environment Readers will learn about the dangers of the ocean and how to best survive in it Islands Magazine , 2007-07
