review of experiences with reform focusing on three major agricultural markets fertilizer food crops and export crops They examine the historical rationales for intervention the factors contributing to reform the process of implementation and the impact of the reforms on farmers and consumers in Sub Saharan Africa The authors find that reforms have had many favorable results but that the impact has been muted by partial implementation and structural constraints They propose a new agenda for promoting the development of agricultural markets in Sub Saharan Africa identifying areas where governments can play a supportive role They argue that appropriate agricultural marketing policies and investments can improve livelihoods and the economic health of the region Agricultural policy incentives in sub-Saharan Africa in the last decade (2005-2016) Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations,2018-06-01 FAO Agricultural development economics technical study This report shows diverging results across countries and commodities although aggregate figures indicate that price incentives to agriculture were increasing across the period overall Import tariffs and price support are thought to be the main drivers of this trend Monthly Catalog of United States Government Publications ,
