

Essentials Missing

You took the laughing sun along
The day you went away;
And, tho I hide my tears in song.
The skies are always gray
You took a portion of my heart and left an awful nick.
Now, like a clock that lacks a part,
The darned thing just won't tick.
So hurry back, and please release
The sun, for brighter weather.
and don't forget the missing piece
That holds my heart together.

Love Letters From A War:

Love Letters of the Great War Mandy Kirkby, 2014-01-16 From the private papers of a young Winston Churchill to the tender notes of an unknown Tommy in the trenches Love Letters of the Great War is a collection of profound intimate and heartfelt letters written during World War One Many of the letters collected here are eloquent declarations of love and longing others contain wrenching accounts of fear jealousy and betrayal and a number share sweet dreams of home But in all the correspondence whether from British American French German Russian Australian and Canadian troops in the height of battle or from the heartbroken wives and sweethearts left behind there lies a truly human portrait of love and war A century on from the First World War these letters offer an intimate glimpse into the hearts of men and women separated by conflict and show how love can transcend even the bleakest and most devastating of realities Edited and introduced by Mandy Kirkby with a foreword from Women's Prize winner Helen Dunmore

Smith, 2014-03-14 Human displacement has always been a consequence of war written into the myths and histories of centuries of warfare However the global conflicts of the twentieth century brought displacement to civilizations on an unprecedented scale as the two World Wars shifted participants around the globe Although driven by political disputes between European powers the consequences of Empire ensured that Europe could not contain them Soldiers traversed continents and civilians often followed them or found themselves living in territories ruled by unexpected invaders Both wars saw fighting in Europe Africa the Middle East and the Far East and few nations remained neutral Both wars saw the mass upheaval of civilian populations as a consequence of the fighting Displacements were geographical cultural and psychological they were based on nationality sex gender or age They produced an astonishing range of human experience recorded by the participants in different ways This book brings together a collection of inter disciplinary works by scholars who are currently producing some of the most innovative and influential work on the subject of displacement in war in order to share their knowledge and interpretations of historical and literary sources The collection unites historians and literary scholars in addressing the issues of war and displacement from multiple angles Contributors draw on a wealth of primary source materials and resources including archives from across the world military records medical records films memoirs diaries and letters both published and private and fictional interpretations of experience

The School of War Alexandre Najjar, 2014-05-14 All wars are alike What I experienced in Lebanon others experienced in France in Spain in Yugoslavia or elsewhere Yes all wars are alike because while weapons change the men who wage and are subjected to war do not in the least Alexandre Najjar was eight when Lebanon erupted into a bloody and brutal conflict he was twenty three when the guns at last fell silent After seven years of voluntary exile spent clearing his mind from the unbearable nightmare of civil war he is now back amongst his family and friends and the past is quickly catching up with him As he reacquaints himself with his bullet riddled city Alexandre is haunted by vivid memories which he sets down with extraordinary imagination and humour Sometimes nostalgic and sometimes brutal and shocking The School of War offers unforgettable insights into the experience of childhood in war
