Race in Translation Ella Shohat, Robert Stam, 2012-05-28 While the term culture wars often designates the heated arguments in the English speaking world spiraling around race the canon and affirmative action in fact these discussions have raged in diverse sites and languages Race in Translation charts the transatlantic traffic of the debates within and between three zones the U S France and Brazil Stam and Shohat trace the literal and figurative translation of these multidirectional intellectual debates seen most recently in the emergence of postcolonial studies in France and whiteness studies in Brazil The authors also interrogate an ironic convergence whereby rightist politicians like Sarkozy and Cameron join hands with some leftist intellectuals like Benn Michaels and Bourdieu in condemning multiculturalism and identity politics At once a report from various fronts in the culture wars a mapping of the germane literatures and an argument about methods of reading the cross border movement of ideas the book constitutes a major contribution to our understanding of the Diasporic and the Transnational Race and Ethnicity Kathleen Odell Korgen, Maxine P. Atkinson, 2024-12-11 Race and Ethnicity Sociology in Action is an innovative text that combines comprehensive coverage of race and ethnicity content with active learning exercises seamlessly integrated into the chapters. The book is written by a team of experienced instructors who use active learning techniques in their own classrooms. These contributors expertly weave together content material, active learning exercises, discussion questions, real world examples of sociologists in action, and information on careers that use sociology. The Second Edition includes updated data figures and examples as well as new information on many topics including interracial relationships, immigrant groups, diversity among Asian Americans, racial discrimination in housing and building coalitions for racial justice. Science, Sexuality, and Race in the United States and Australia, 1780-1940 Gregory D. Smithers, 2017-07 Science, Sexuality, and Race in the United States and Australia 1780-1940 Revised Edition is a sociohistorical tour de force that examines the entwined formation of racial theory and sexual constructs within settler colonialism in the United States and Australia from the Age of Revolution to the Great Depression. Gregory D. Smithers historicizes the dissemination and application of scientific and social scientific ideas within the process of nation building in two countries with large Indigenous populations and shows how intellectual constructs of race and sexuality were mobilized to subdue Aboriginal peoples. Building on the comparative settler colonial and imperial histories that appeared after the book's original publication, this completely revised edition includes two new chapters. In this singular contribution to the study of transnational and comparative settler colonialism, Smithers expands on recent scholarship to illuminate both the subject of the scientific study of race and sexuality and the national and interrelated histories of the United States and Australia.

Life, Love And Heartache...Poems of the Northern Lights Calvin Harasemchuk, 2008-07-02 A Journey Through Loves First Love Past Love Present Love Death and Whimsical Poems Serious Issues Many are packed with Tender Moments Heart Break and Survival A Great Read for all Men Take Note Try Reading some of these to your loved one It Works Best enjoyed over a glass of wine with the fireplace crackling in the background Race in America Patricia Reid-Merritt, 2017-01-23 Focusing on the socially explosive concept of race and how it has affected human interactions, this work examines the social and scientific definitions of race, the implementation of racialized policies and practices, the historical and contemporary manifestations of the use of race in shaping social interactions within U.S. society and elsewhere, and where our notions of race will likely lead more than a decade and a half into the 21st century. The term race remains one of the most emotionally charged words in the human language. While race can be defined as a local geographic or global human population distinguished as a more or less distinct group by genetically transmitted physical characteristics, the concept of race can better be understood as a socially defined construct, a system of human classification that carries tremendous weight yet is complex, confusing, contradictory, controversial, and imprecise. This collection of essays focuses on the socially explosive concept of race and how it has shaped human interactions across civilization. The contributed work examines the social and scientific definitions of race the implementation of racialized policies and practices and the historical and contemporary manifestations of the use of race in shaping social interactions primarily in the United States a nation where the concept of race is further convoluted by the nation's extensive history of miscegenation as well as the continuous flow of immigrant groups from countries whose definitions of race ethnicity and culture remain fluid Readers will gain insights into subjects such as how we as individuals define ourselves through concepts of race how race affects social privilege color blindness as an obstacle to social change legal perspectives on race racialization of the religious experience and how the media perpetuates racial stereotypes

Science, Sexuality, and Race in the United States and Australia, 1780s-1890s Gregory D. Smithers, 2013-02-01 This book combines transnational history with the comparative analysis of racial formation and reproductive sexuality in the settler colonial spaces of the United States and British Australia Specifically the book places whiteness and the changing definition of what it meant to be white in nineteenth century America and Australia at the center of our historical understanding of racial and sexual identities In both the United States and Australia whiteness was defined in opposition to the imagined cultural and biological inferiority of the Indian Negro and Aboriginal savage Moreover Euro Americans and Euro Australians shared a common belief that whiteness was synonymous with the extension of settler colonial civilization Despite this two very different understandings of whiteness emerged in the nineteenth century The book therefore asks why these different racial understandings of whiteness and the quest to create culturally and racially homogeneous settler civilizations developed in the United States and Australia
