Making People Pay:

Making People Pay Sibichen K. Mathew, 2013-08-14 Can a complex subject like tax compliance be handled in such a simple manner Sibichen K Mathew is successful in presenting his in depth study on what makes people pay taxes or what prevents them from paying in a very interesting style The Author takes us through the history the economics and the politics of taxation to dissect the interconnected issues related to tax evasion and tax enforcement He forcefully argues that the economic models are unable to fully explain the behaviour of taxpayers For if the tax laws are complex the human mind is much more complex to yield to the economic models His arguments are supported by data on attitudes perceptions and experience of taxpayers many of whom declare themselves to be tax evaders The author also analyzes the sociological and economic causes and consequences of tax evasion and tax enforcement in the global context The author has also briefly referred to the tax challenges thrown up by the integrated world economy The solution offered is scaling up of international cooperation on a significant scale The insights gained from these incisive analyses have enormous implications for policy makers as well as tax administrators all over the world The taxpayers tax practitioners and the students of social sciences would also find this book enriching

La Clínica David P. Sklar, 2008 In 1972 when the world around him was making little sense David Sklar left in his senior year of college to volunteer at a community clinic in rural Mexico With absolutely no medical experience beyond being accepted to medical school at Stanford Sklar literally learned medicine by practicing it With duties that ranged from suturing wounds and delivering babies to digging latrines to pulling teeth his time at the clinic took him into the heart of a medical world that the sterilized walls of the twentieth century would never have shown him The experience challenged his idealism and ultimately molded him into a skilled emergency physician Years later deeply immersed in the stress of running the ER at the University of New Mexico Hospital and facing a divorce Sklar decided to revisit the Mexican village and clinic that provided inspiration and grounding in the early stages of his career Weaving together his time in Mexico his later career and his marriage Sklar s memoir offers a thought provoking meditation on the virtues of idealism in the face of the inevitable failures that haunt all human endeavors Health Systems Financing World Health Organization,2010 This World Health Report was produced under the overall direction of Carissa Etienne and Anarfi Asamoah Baah The principal writers were David B Evans et al t p verso significance of personal intention Joining conceptual analysis with ethical problems surrounding the beginning and end of life the papers show the power of a neglected aspect of Finnis's natural law theory Operations in Afghanistan Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee, 2011-07-17 This report looks at operations in Afghanistan since 2006 and makes further recommendations for the anticipated draw down of forces UK Forces were deployed in Helmand Province in Afghanistan for three years from 2006 without the necessary personnel equipment or intelligence to succeed in their mission Mistakes were made as a result of a failure in military and political coordination The decision to move UK Armed Forces into the South of Afghanistan in early 2006 was not fully thought through The Committee is concerned that the MoD did not anticipate that the presence of the Armed Forces in Helmand might stir up a hornets nest especially as much of the intelligence was contradictory Senior military advisers should have drawn attention to the need for force levels to be sufficiently robust to cope with an unpredictable conflict The Committee is disturbed that the Secretary of State was told that commanders on the ground were content with the support they were being given in Helmand when clearly they were not After only a matter of months in Helmand the nature of the UK Mission changed with serious strategic implications The MoD did not respond quickly enough to changes in Taliban tactics The MoD should prioritise the protection of personnel The Government's room for manoeuvre regarding the number of troops that could be withdrawn from Afghanistan as part of an immediate transition is necessarily limited More emphasis needs to be placed on capacity building within the political system if long term success is to be achieved The Evolution of Law against Payment Frauds Christopher Chen, 2022-12-09 This book examines the evolution of legal institutions in containing and tackling fraudulent activities plaguing payment systems payment fraud e.g. forged cheques wrongful payment instructions etc in Asia focusing on laws in Greater China and Singapore In the past century the payment system has invited much innovation changing the modes of payments from exchanging cash and coins to the use of cards wire transfers and other new types of payment instruments or services e.g. bitcoins or QR code payments As the nature of payment services is to move money from one place to another it naturally attracts fraudsters Even with advanced computer technology payment fraud is still rampant in the market causing billions of dollars in losses globally per annum Through an examination of payment instruments and associated frauds over time the book illustrates a shifting trend of legal solutions from criminal sanctions and civil compensation to a gradual focus on regulations of payment intermediaries This trend reflects the complexity of payment systems and the challenge of protecting them The book also identifies the underlying actors and institutional characteristics driving the evolution of legal institutions to deal with payment fraud and illustrates how the arrival of new technology may affect the market and thus the evolution of legal institutions The book will help readers to better understand the interaction between technology the market and law and help regulators financial institutions practitioners and end users as well as about payment fraud and corresponding legal responses Parliamentary Debates New Zealand.
