Making A Television Play:

Making Plays D. Wu, 2019-06-12 Making Plays explores great drama of the last two decades through the eyes of those who write it and those who direct it. It is at once a masterclass on theatrical technique and a unique insight into the ways in which great dramatists of our time have reacted to a rapidly changing world. In this book Duncan Wu talks to Michael Attenborough, Alan Bennett, Michael Blakemore, Howard Brenton, David Edgar, Sir Richard Eyre, Michael Frayn, Sir David Hare, Nicholas Hytner, and Max Stafford Clark. Wigs and Make-up for Theatre, TV and Film Patricia Baker, 2012-10-02 This book teaches the basic skills of theatrical and media make up and wigmaking. It is ideal for students aiming at a career in the world of entertainment whether it be theatre, television or film or those hoping to become make up artists within these fields.

While America Watches Jeffrey Shandler, 1999 In America where mediations have always provided most people with their primary encounter with the Holocaust, television has helped transform watching into the morally charged act of witnessing the Holocaust. By tracing the course of Holocaust television over the past half century, While America Watches reveals how Americans have come to embrace this subject as a model for responding to other moral crises from domestic racial strife to ethnic cleansing operations in Bosnia. BOOK JACKET The Generation of Plays Karin Barber, 2003-03-21 Since the 1980s Yoruba popular theatre has virtually disappeared due to radio, TV and other mass media in Nigeria. This is the personal account of a theatre worker on tour with the Oyin Adejobi Company. Drawing on archives, interviews and transcribed plays, she describes a successful Yoruba drama. Understanding Children's Mathematical Graphics: Beginnings in Play Elizabeth Carruthers, Maulfry Worthington, 2011-04-16 This book challenges traditional beliefs and practices of teaching written mathematics in early childhood. It gives theoretical underpinnings and offers exciting insights and context to children's early mathematical thinking and, in particular, into children's mathematical graphics showing how this supports their understanding of the abstract symbolic language of mathematics. Drawing on a wide range of examples, it illustrates and explains how children explore and communicate their mathematical thinking through their mathematical graphics and how this begins in play. The book looks at the power of children's own marks, symbols and other graphical representations to convey meanings, exploring how they support complex thinking. The authors explore the relationship between children's play and meaning making. Rather than viewing mathematics as a separate subject or as a set of basic skills to be transmitted, they demonstrate that in supportive learning cultures children develop their own mathematical thinking to solve problems. Key features include: Numerous new examples and case studies of children from birth to 8 years highlighting the complexity and richness of children's thinking. Explanation of pedagogical issues showing how they can support rich play and mathematics. Draws on the authors' latest research. This book is valuable reading for students, teachers, primary mathematics coordinators and all early years professionals working in the Early Years Foundation Stage and Key Stage One. Making Broadcasting Useful Eberhard George Wedell, 1986 Making Sense of Suburbia Through Popular Culture Rupa Huq, 2013-08-15

TV Snapshots Lynn Spigel, 2022-04-08 In TV Snapshots Lynn Spigel explores snapshots of people posing in front of their television sets in the 1950s through the early 1970s Like today's selfies TV snapshots were a popular photographic practice through which people visualized their lives in an increasingly mediated culture Drawing on her collection of over 5 000 TV snapshots Spigel shows that people did not just watch TV women used the TV set as a backdrop for fashion and glamour poses people dressed in drag in front of the screen and in pinup poses people even turned the TV setting into a space for erotic display While the television industry promoted on screen images of white nuclear families in suburban homes the snapshots depict a broad range of people across racial ethnic and class backgrounds that do not always conform to the reigning middle class nuclear family ideal Showing how the television set became a central presence in the home that exceeded its mass entertainment function Spigel highlights how TV snapshots complicate understandings of the significance of television in everyday life

The Seventh Age of Man Muriel Cassel-Piccot, Geneviève Lheureux, 2019-01-23 The Seventh Age of Man Issues Challenges and Paradoxes is a collection of academic essays on Old Age The contributors come from a wide range of fields of expertise which accounts for the originality of the book Depending on their respective disciplines the authors resort to various methodological approaches from sociological case studies to discourse analysis and from historical and political theories to media criticism but they often address similar questions when are people to be considered as old what does it mean to be old how do we deal with ageing and reach similar conclusions about the paradoxical representations of the elderly whether in Renaissance Europe or in contemporary China Although men and women are sometimes treated differently in most societies the older generation is alternately perceived as a threat and a burden or as financial and moral support If they are often criticized or ridiculed especially when they try to retain their youthful looks long after their prime the elderly also trigger a feeling of nostalgia as representatives of a past usually seen as more desirable than the present Their resilience and independence are regularly emphasized as well as their wisdom as a result of their long experience which helps them to contemplate their ends more serenely and which might turn them into models for their contemporaries

David Susskind Stephen Battaglio, 2025-09-23 A rich biography of one of the most important cultural figures of the 50s 60s and 70s maverick television producer and talk show host David Susskind A flamboyant impresario who began his career as an agent David Susskind helped define a fledgling television industry He was a provocateur who fought to bring high toned literary works to TV His series East Side West Side and N Y P D broke the color barrier in casting and brought gritty urban realism to prime time He indulged his passion for issues and ideas with his long running discussion program first called Open End and then The David Susskind Show where guests could come from The White House one week and a whore house the next The groundbreaking program made news year in and year out His legendary live interview with Nikita Khrushchev at the height of the Cold War inflamed both the political and media establishments Susskind was an enfant terrible whose life both on and off the screen makes fascinating reading His rough edges appetite for women and scorn for the business side of his profession often left his own career hanging by a thread Through extensive original reporting and deep access to David Susskind's personal papers family members and former associates Stephen Battaglio creates a vivid portrait of a go go era in American media David Susskind is as much a biography of an expansive and glamorous time in the television business as it is the life of one of its most colorful and important players
