Making Global Trade Work For People:

Making Global Trade Work for People, 2003 First Published in 2003 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company

Making Global Trade Work for People Kamal Malhotra, 2012-03-29 The world's trade regime is promoted by international agencies and most governments as the best way to lift the poor out of poverty and achieve sustainable development But does it contribute to human development or not This reassessment looks in detail at the way it has worked under the GATT and under the World Trade Organization and analyses how it is working and how it can be improved The book aims to make major contribution to the debates surrounding globalization and the impact of trade on the poor on social stability and on the environment It is intended to provide a benchmark for future policy discussion and analysis

Global Trade Greg Buckman, 2013-04-04 Trade along with the free movement of capital is at the heart of today's international economy But international trade is an intensely political and contested subject In this book Greg Buckman details possible future directions in global energy supplies and balance of payments imbalances He argues that just as current trading arrangements have been the product of past decisions emerging out of apparently unrelated considerations so factors like future fossil fuel costs global warming and the economic imbalances between North and South are likely to impel a radical reshaping of the WTO and the principles enshrined in its agreements as well as the global trading system in general A key contribution to thinking about possible trade policy reforms are the reforms and alternatives themselves not always agreed or sufficiently thought through advocated by the global justice movement This book outlines these diverse proposals to make global trade more sustainable in some detail This book has been written to be both informative and empowering It is an important contribution to clearer thinking more effective campaigning and fundamental policy reform in the field of international trade

Understanding FDI-Assisted Economic Development Sanjaya Lall, Rajneesh Narula, 2013-09-13 It is nowadays well accepted that both economic growth and development are highly dependent on improving not just the availability of capital but also access to technological capabilities infrastructure and resources This has gone hand in hand with an increasing economic liberalization of most developing countries The role of the MNE as a viable source of both capital and technology is one of the key features of this new openness In the process of embracing FDI as a solution to the myriad of economic ills something even the World Bank has begun to do little attempt is made to understand the rationale and the costs associated with this policy stance Simply put FDI is not a condition sine qua non for development Too much emphasis has been placed on attracting FDI and not on understanding how to optimise the benefits for the host economy This volume aims to encourage and promote research related to these issues This volume was previously published as a special issue of the European Journal of Development Research

Cooperation in the Greater Caribbean Norman Girvan, 2006 Over the past 50 years there has been a subtle shift in the proclaimed identity of the Caribbean The development of a pan Caribbean consciousness transcending language and colonial ties has become even more pronounced in the post independence era The famed 1992 report of the West India Commission A Time for Action widely regarded as the turning point in contemporary Caribbean development recommended a deepening of CARICOM and a simultaneous widening of functional cooperation The result was the creation of the Association of Caribbean States ACS with potential membership of all the countries of the Caribbean Basin In this volume Norman Girvan examines the issues and obstacles challenges and opportunities presented by this functional cooperation and presented the ACS as a viable vehicle to help CARICOM nations meet the challenges of the new globalized environment

Dutfield and Suthersanen on Global Intellectual Property Law Graham Dutfield,Uma Suthersanen,2020-01-31 A much anticipated new edition of this acclaimed work on intellectual property IP in its global context With intelligent and insightful coverage of IP law from international and comparative perspectives this second edition has been thoroughly revised and expanded This unique textbook presents the main IP rights identifying their basic features and tracing their evolution up to the present day by reference to statutes cases and international treaties

European Bloc Imperialism Dennis C. Canterbury,2010 The reinvigorated debate on imperialism in the last two decades focuses on the means by which Euro American capital is currently spread around the globe and the different ways it pillages the wealth of the developing countries The Economic Partnership Agreements being foisted on the Africa Caribbean and Pacific countries by the European Union however has been under the radar of the debate on imperialism This book draws on the experiences of the Caribbean Forum EU EPA to fill that void by bringing into focus the economic partnership agreement as a conduit of European imperialism Dennis C Canterbury Ph D 2000 in Sociology Binghamton University State University of New York is Associate Professor of Sociology at Eastern Connecticut State University He has published extensively on development issues including Neoliberal Democratization and New Authoritarianism Ashgate 2005

Normative Conditions to Make WTO Law More Responsive to the Needs of Developing Countries Philipp Scheuermann,2010

The WTO and Infant Industry Promotion in Developing Countries Juan He,2014-09-25 The charter of the World Trade Organization WTO sets the tone that sustainable trade and economic development dominates multilateral trade negotiation and specific working agreements This book examines the novel challenge for developing countries to upgrade and optimize their industrial structure and trade composition by stimulating genuinely innovative and competitive industrial strength The book specifically explores the issue of infant industry promotion under the legal framework of the WTO treaties and case law Taking the regulatory measures and incentives China has used to build up a large civil aircraft supplier the book evaluates the key trade agreements relevant to infant industry promotional policies and practices such as product regulations and standards under the Agreement on Technical Barriers to Trade and export promotion policies under the Agreement on Subsidies and Countervailing Measures Juan He argues that the regulatory room prescribed by the multilateral trade rules of the WTO does not allow adequate space for developing countries to encourage new and technologically advanced areas of production and trade The author concludes by suggesting ways in which WTO rules could be modified to help enable developing countries industrialization In doing so the book highlights a need to investigate how localized and international policy trends can be reconciled and enhanced towards the common goal of development The book will be of great interest to scholars and students of international trade law Chinese studies international political economy and of great use to government agencies responsible for internal trade and industrial policy decisions

Civilising Globalisation David Kinley, 2009-08-13 Economic globalisation and universal human rights both have the aspiration and power to improve and enrich individuals and communities However their respective institutions methods practices and goals differ leading to both detrimental clashes and beneficial synergies In this book David Kinley analyses how human rights intersect with the trade aid and commercial dimensions of global economic relations taking the view that while the global economy is a vitally important civilising instrument it itself requires civilising according to human rights standards Combining meticulous research with highly informed views and experiences he outlines the intellectual policy and practical frameworks for ensuring that the global economy advances the ends of human rights argues for better exploitation of the global economy's capacity to distribute as well as create wealth and proposes mechanisms by which to minimise and manage the socially debilitating effects of its market failures and financial meltdowns

Global Political Economy John Ravenhill, 2008 An authoritative introduction to Global Political Economy The book covers all bases contemporary theory introductions to particular issue areas and an extended debate on globalization that reflects a variety of perspectives The book is accompanied by an Online Resource Centre Student resources Timeline Web links Glossary Instructor resources Tables and figures from the book to download 2 in depth case studies

Environment and Planning, 2004 Publishes interdisciplinary research on issues of Government and Policy with an international perspective Committed to a broad range of policy questions not just those related to government and public policy Topics covered include nonstate agents private public collaboration and NGOs nongovernmental organisations All areas of economic social and environmental institutions and policy are included Disciplines from which papers are derived include political science planning geography economics law sociology and public administration

Africa Recovery, 2002 Asian Labour Update, 2004 The Governmentality of Trade Sylvia Geehae Nam, 2006 Intellectual Property, Trade and Development Daniel Gervais, 2007 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of the latest legal economic political and social research and advanced current thinking on the relationship between intellectual property and trade and development It starts with coverage of the theoretical basis of the connections between intellectual property trade and development It presents options as to how intellectual property rules can be incorporated in the local legal framework and how the positive impact of intellectual property standards can be maximized while minimizing welfare costs It includes implementation strategies for TRIPS and TRIPS Plus norms and also the use of measures outside the traditional scope of intellectual property norms These measures range from education to the establishment or enhancement of a solid industrial and research base to fighting pandemics such as HIV AIDS Possible economic strategies and proposals are also offered on the protection of traditional knowledge and indigenous resources

How Can Effective International Environmental Governance be Promoted in Harmonization with Trade Governance? Nozomi Nakano, 2004 The purpose of this thesis is to explore how international environmental governance can be promoted in concert with trade governance The first part analyzes the structural characteristics of trade and environmental governance and identifies the overlap or synergies between the two areas of governance The second part takes the emerging biosafety regime as a case study of the potential for both conflict and synergy between a multilateral environmental agreement MEA and the World Trade Organization WTO rules In particular the focus is on the Cartagena Protocol on Biosafety and the WTO agreements The third part looks at ongoing attempts to create interaction between trade and environmental governance based on the biosafety case study Additionally by identifying the strengths and weaknesses of existing international environmental governance it asks how international environmental governance can establish a mutually supportive relationship with trade governance
