Edward Wang, Supriya Mukherjee, 2013-09-13 So far histories of historiography have concentrated almost exclusively on the West This is the first book to offer a history of modern historiography from a global perspective Tracing the transformation of historical writings over the past two and half centuries the book portrays the transformation of historical writings under the effect of professionalization which served as a model not only for Western but also for much of non Western historical studies At the same time it critically examines the reactions in post modern and post colonial thought to established conceptions of scientific historiography A main theme of the book is how historians in the non Western world not only adopted or adapted Western ideas but also explored different approaches rooted in their own cultures Lessons in Being Chinese Mette Halskov Hansen, 2011-10-01 Open access edition DOI 10 6069

9780295804125 Two very different ethnic minority communities the Naxi of the Lijiang area in northern Yunnan and the Tai Dai of Sipsong Panna Xishuangbanna along Yunnan s border with Burma and Laos are featured in this comparative study of the implementation and reception of state minority education policy in the People s Republic of China Based on field research and historical sources Lessons in Being Chinese argues that state policy which is intended to be applied uniformly across all minority regions in fact is much more successful in some than in others In Lijiang elite members of the Naxi ethnic group minzu have a centuries old connection with Chinese state educational systems as avenues to social mobility and have continued this tradition under Communist rule They participate enthusiastically in the present system using education to gain official and professional positions In contrast to the Lijiang area Sipsong Panna functioned in many ways as a separate kingdom until 1950 with its own script and a separate educational system centered in Theravada Buddhist monasteries Today many Tai in that area still prefer monastic education for their sons and most parents are indifferent to state education This study finds that standardized homogenizing state education is in itself incapable of instilling in students an identification with the Chinese state ironically often increasing ethnic identity Lessons in Being Chinese enhances our understanding of how state policy toward minorities works in many areas of life and its conclusions can be extended well beyond the sphere of education It will be of interest to both anthropologists and educators
