How Religion Evolved Brian McVeigh, 2017-07-12 Why did many religious leaders Moses Old Testament prophets Zoroaster claim they heard divine voices Why do ancient civilizations exhibit key similarities e g the living dead treating the dead as if they were still alive speaking idols care and feeding of effigies monumental mortuary architecture and houses of gods pyramids ziggurats temples How do we explain strange behaviour such as spirit possession speaking in tongues channelling hypnosis and schizophrenic hallucinations Are these lingering vestiges of an older mentality Brian J McVeigh answers these riddles by updating bicameralism First proposed by the psychologist Julian Jaynes this theory postulates that an earlier mentality existed a human the brain s left hemisphere heard voices of gods or ancestors the brain s right hemisphere Therefore ancient religious texts reporting divine voices were recounting of audio visual hallucinations a method of social control when early populations expanded As growing political economic complexity destabilized god governed states in the late second millennium BCE divine voices became inadequate Eventually humans had to culturally acquire new cognitive skills modern religions to accommodate increasing social pressures selves replaced the gods and history witnessed an inward turn This psychological interiorization of spiritual experience laid the foundations for the world s great religions and philosophies that arose in India China Greece and the Middle East in the middle of the first millennium BCE

Indeterminacy, the I Ching, and John Cage Barry R. Morse, 2025-12-02 The creative use of indeterminacy that is chance is an often overlooked design opportunity despite the universality of chance in art nature science and life How can chance a seemingly capricious phenomenon be made to work for someone One controlled use of chance is through the Chinese I Ching chance operations method of composer and artist John Cage 1912 1992 This book addresses the questions of how one might approach using this method in landscape architectural design what the outcome of such an indeterminate design would be and whether or not it could lead to a viable constructed landscape In addition this book answers the question What is the relationship between the I Ching John Cage and the constructed landscape anyway The final product of the exploration of this method is a new hypothetical redesign of an existing plaza using Cage s techniques and a comparative evaluation of the new indeterminate concept and the two pre existing designs using the original program objectives as a guide against which the three designs can be judged for effectiveness

Seven Wonders of the Ancient World Paul Jordan, 2014-05-01 The Seven Wonders of the Ancient World and all sorts of mysteries attaching to them have intrigued people since the second century BCE Why were these particular creations chosen and when And why did the ancients want to draw up such a list in the first place What were the technical and cultural factors involved in the creation and listing of the Wonders The Seven Wonders still rival many of the phenomenal products of both nature and mankind in their size majesty and beauty Six of them no longer stand having been destroyed by natural disaster or by human intervention From the Pyramids at Giza to the Colossus of Rhodes from the Hanging Gardens of Babylon to the Lighthouse of Alexandria from the Temple of Ephesus to the Mausoleum at Halicarnassus and the Statue of Zeus at Olympia the Seven Wonders of the Ancient World have never ceased to fascinate down the ages Extraordinary Cities Peter J. Taylor, 2013-01-01 Peter J Taylor has produced a sweeping empirically grounded defense of cities as fundamental building blocks of long term large scale social structures a way of freeing social science from state centric bias and indeed mankind's hope However the single greatest strength of this complex seductive argument is the insistence on treating cities relationally as process Here the key to understanding the significance of cities is by studying them in terms of the dynamic networks they form and in their relations to states Richard E Lee Binghamton University US The founding father of the famous Globalization and World Cities research network and think tank on worldwide links between cities presents this fascinating overview on cities in geohistory By moving cities to the centre stage Peter Taylor proposes that concern for states tell only part of the macro social story of humanity Cities have been and are the engines of innovation This impressive new book provides new insights into why cities succeed or fail The book is in the class with broadminded presentations like Jared Diamond's book Guns Germs and Steel Christian Matthiessen University of Copenhagen Denmark and President International Geographical Union's Commission on Urban Geography This is a big book by Peter Taylor It tells of the extraordinary world making powers of cities across the ages it explains why a state centric social science has constrained recognition of these powers over the last two centuries and it outlines a new interdisciplinarity to help us make sense of a human condition increasingly forged out of the urban Anyone troubled by the social sciences as we know them ought to read this book Ash Amin Cambridge University UK and author Land of Strangers Accepting that cities are extraordinary this book provides an original city centred narrative of human creativity past present and future In this innovative ambitious and wide ranging book Peter Taylor demonstrates that cities are the epicenters of human advancement In exploring cities as sites through which economies flourish by harnessing the creative potential of myriad communication networks the author considers cities from varying temporal and spatial perspectives Four stories of cities are told the origins of city networks the domination of cities by world empires the genesis of a singular modern creative interval in which innovation culminates in today's globalised cities and finally the need for cities to act as centres for human creativity to produce a more resilient global society in the current crisis century Providing a long term view through which to consider the role of cities in attending to incipient crises of the twenty first century this closely argued thesis will prove essential for students and scholars of urban studies geography and sociology and all with a professional interest in or personal fascination for cities
