

Teaching Philosophy

~Mae Guerra, Experienced Educator

As I reflect upon my teaching career, it is evident that my philosophy in management systems has been greatly influenced by my mentors and colleagues. They have influenced my teaching philosophy because they have developed strong pedagogies with the knowledge to support it, they have set high academic standards for students and for themselves, they have respected intellectual diversity inside and outside the classroom, and they build trust among their students.

My management system philosophy is created from these ideas which are divided into six areas: (1) a positive learning environment, (2) clear expectations, standards and goals, (3) differentiated instruction through modification, (4) ongoing assessment, (5) self-improvement through lifelong learning, and (6) presenting a variety of learning materials to all students.

I believe in creating a positive learning environment in which respect for others is fundamental in promoting intellectual diversity. Respecting and promoting intellectual diversity requires a deeper understanding of how diversity manifests inside and outside of the classroom. Because students bring a diverse set of worldviews to the classroom, I believe that it is the teacher's responsibility to take neutral stances on controversial material, political issues, and general societal issues as well. I play the role of moderator and mentor instead of activist. Taking a neutral stance also acts to challenge students' intellectual abilities. Consequently, it presents students with a positive learning environment where they must use logic and reason to develop positions and counter positions.

I also believe that teachers should set specific and clear expectations, standards and goals from the very first day of the class. Once they are set, they should be adhered to throughout the remainder of the year. I believe setting high standards for students is an important way to get students to rise to their potential. Teachers should also set specific goals for students. Long term goals for students should be set early and should continue over time, allowing students to use what they are learning later in life.

Along with setting standards for students, I create standards for myself as well. One important standard that I have set for myself is giving students a clear indication on how they will be graded. Overall, setting clear standards helps limit grading bias and instances where students may try to take advantage of a teacher's generosity. Teachers should make an extra effort to present class materials in a variety of formats to aid in differentiated

The Philosophy of Teaching Arnold Tompkins, 2016-07-11 From the Introduction THE term philosophy of teaching places the accent on the process of teaching while the term philosophy of education emphasizes the system of principles as such The philosophy of education will not be attempted the theme being restricted to the application of philosophic principles to the teaching process Not that the application of principles is a more worthy object of attention than the system of principles themselves but because I feel moved to show how helpful in practice daily and hourly are the universal principles which philosophy announces I have no sympathy with the sneer at mere theorists those who seek principles for their own sake What should we do without the light they throw upon our pathway The practical teacher is not always conscious of and thankful for the great service rendered by the speculative philosopher Universal truth seems so remote from the immediate concrete details of school work that we do not suspect its presence and controlling power Hegel well protests against the thought that philosophy deals with another world asserting its subject to be the concrete and ever present facts of life The practical teacher must sooner or later learn that inspiration and guidance through the daily routine of duty must be sought in universal truth that specific rules and recipes which seem to be so helpful because of their easy and immediate application are really impractical and confusing because they have no germinant power and breadth of application that his bearings must be taken from the fixed stars and not from the shifting scenes and lights of the lower atmosphere The application of universal principles to teaching presupposes a philosophy of education and the existence of such a philosophy is not always admitted Even that there is a science of education has been denied and for stronger reasons may its philosophy be questioned it being a higher generalization of principles A distinguished writer in the Educational Review discusses at length the question Is there a science of education and concludes in these words To sum all up in a word teaching is an art Therefore there is indeed no science of education
