Contemporary Political Thought

Political Thought:

The word Political Thought comes from two words: 'Political' and 'Thought'. The word Political means the things which are related to politics. Thought means the thinking of a person in a specific issue. This issue can be social, political, economic etc.

So, Political Thought means the thoughts and theories related to the politics of a state, it's social and economic factors.

The terms, concepts and ideas related to Political Thought

1. Political Science:

Political science is the study of politics and power from domestic, international, and comparative perspectives.

Political science is the scientific study of politics. It is a social science dealing with systems of governance and power, and the analysis of political activities, political thought, political behaviour, and associated constitutions and laws.

Political science focuses on the theory and practice of government and politics at the local, state, national, and international levels.

2. Political Theory

Political theory is the philosophical study of government, addressing questions about the nature, scope, and legitimacy of public agents and institutions and the relationships between them.

Political theory is the study of politics, concepts, and the historical record of political thought.

Political theory is the study of the current state of politics in comparison to the way that politics should ideally work. The definition of political theory is "theory that involves the analysis of ideas and values related to the state, individuals, group, and power, as well as the relationships between all of these facets".

3. Political Ideology

In social studies, a political ideology is a certain set of ethical ideals, principles, doctrines, myths or symbols of a social movement, institution, class, or large group that explains how society should work and offers some political and cultural blueprint for a certain social order.

Political ideologies are sets of beliefs in reference to political theory and social policy on the level of the group or the individual.
