New Philosophies of Learning Ruth Cigman, Andrew Davis, 2009-06-15 Through a collection of contributions from an international team of empirical researchers and philosophers New Philosophies of Learning signals the need for a sharper critical awareness of the possibilities and problems that the recent spate of innovative learning techniques presents Explores some of the many contemporary innovations in approaches to learning including neuroscience and the focus on learners well being and happiness Debates the controversial approaches to categorising learners such as dyslexia Raises doubts about the preoccupation with quasi mathematical scrutiny and the neglect of ethical reflection about education Discusses the possible grounds for concern without exaggerating their similarities or offering sweeping judgements Includes contributions from empirical researchers and philosophers including Usha Goswami Howard Gardner Julian Elliott David Bakhurst John White and Christopher Winch

Question Quest for Ages 8-14 Steve Bowkett, Tony Hitchman, 2025-05-29 The ability to ask incisive questions is a powerful skill set that children can acquire and develop if the classroom and whole school environments support it This essential book offers a range of engaging and inclusive activities that promotes children s questioning and feeds their natural sense of curiosity and wonder Question Quest explores the various types of questions that can be asked in a number of educational contexts from the point of view of both teachers and pupils Packed with 100 practical activities the book seeks to boost children s self confidence in asking questions and provides the tools to establish a questioning classroom where asking questions is encouraged and celebrated in order to enhance children s learning With clear and practical explanations the authors argue how questioning is an intelligent behaviour that is essential in nurturing children s innate desire to learn constantly Topics covered include Establishing a questioning classroom Questioning and creativity Questions and creative writing Conducting a discussion Philosophical enquiry Questioning and life coaching This book is a key resource for any school teacher or parent looking to foster and develop critical thinking skills in children and young people

Learning to be a Person in Society Peter Jarvis, 2012-06-25 Learning is a lifelong process and we are the result of our own learning But how exactly do we learn to be a person through living In this book Peter Jarvis draws together all the aspects of becoming a person into the framework of learning Considering the ongoing nature versus nurture debate over how we become people Jarvis s study of nurture what learning is primarily about builds on a detailed recognition of our genetic inheritance and evolutionary reality It demonstrates the ways in which we become social human beings internalising accommodating and rejecting the culture to which we are exposed both primarily and through electronic mediation while growing and developing as human beings and people As learning theory moves away from traditional single discipline approaches it is possible to place the person at the centre of all thinking about learning by emphasising a multi disciplinary approach This wide ranging study draws on established research from a number of disciplines into the complexities that make us who we are It will appeal to a wide variety of audiences those involved in all fields of education the study of learning and development human resource development psychology theology and the caring professions Second International Handbook of Lifelong Learning David N. Aspin, Judith Chapman, Karen Evans, Richard Bagnall, 2012-01-18 The second edition of the International Handbook of Lifelong Learning is extensive innovative and international in scope remit and vision inviting its readers to engage in a critical re appraisal of the theme of lifelong learning It is a thorough going rigorous and scholarly work with profound and wide ranging implications for the future of educating institutions and agencies of all kinds in the conception planning and delivery of lifelong learning initiatives Lifelong learning requires a wholly new philosophy of learning education and training one that aims to facilitate a coherent set of links and pathways between work school and education and recognises the necessity for government to give incentives to industry and their employees so they can truly invest in lifelong learning It is also a concept that is premised on the understanding of a learning society in which everyone independent of race creed or gender is entitled to quality learning that is truly excellent This book recognises the need for profound changes in education and for goals that are critically important to education economic advancement and social involvement To those concerned about the future of our society our economy and educational provision this book provides a richly illuminating basis for powerful debate Drawing extensively on policy analyses conceptual thinking and examples of informed and world standard practice in lifelong learning endeavours in the field both editors and authors seek to focus readers attention on the many issues and decisions that must be addressed if lifelong learning is to become a reality for us all

Fear Is The Mind Killer: Why Learning to Learn deserves lesson time - and how to make it work for your pupils James Mannion, Kate McAllister, 2020-10-30 For the last eight years James and Kate have been working together to design implement and evaluate a whole school evidence informed approach to teaching and learning known as Learning Skills An eight year study with the University of Cambridge revealed that Learning Skills led to significant gains in subject learning with rapid gains among students from disadvantaged backgrounds In this practical guide for teachers and school leaders James and Kate reveal a recipe for success rooted in three key concepts metacognition reflecting on learning self regulation taking ownership over the learning process and oracy developing high quality speaking and listening skills This is a book about what happened when a small team of teachers seized an opportunity to provide their students with the knowledge the skills and the confidence to take control of their own learning This journey began with a question how and what would we teach if there was no one watching On the other side of fear is the teacher you want to be and the children you d like to teach Learning Styles, Classroom Instruction, and Student Achievement Daniel H. Robinson, Veronica X. Yan, Joseph A. Kim, 2022-01-29 The book examines the history of learning styles including their widespread acceptance and endorsement in educational settings In addition it explores both the support of and opposition to learning styles by academics The book discusses cases for and against learning styles and offers a systematic review of empirical evidence It describes consequences of promoting learning styles in the classroom and offers insights into future directions in research and practice

The book offers a critical examination that adds to the broader discussion of what is truthful and what is fake news in education. Key areas of coverage include History of learning styles, Widespread belief in and uses of learning styles, Review of recent learning styles coverage in academic journals, The case for learning styles, The case against learning styles, Consequences associated with using learning styles, Learning Styles Classroom Instruction and Student Achievement. This is an essential resource for researchers, professors and graduate students as well as teachers and educational professionals in such varied fields as clinical child and school psychology, educational psychology, social work, public health, teaching and teacher education, and educational practice and policy. Vocational Education Linda Clarke, Christopher Winch, 2012-08-21

Vocational education and training (VET) have a key role to play in raising skill levels and improving a society's productivity. In this important new book, a team of international experts argue that too often national VET policy has been formulated in ignorance of historical and political developments in other countries and without proper consideration of the social objectives that it might help achieve. Examining a wide range of contrasting international approaches and development strategies, this book demonstrates the central role of the state in implementing an effective system of VET and assesses the extent to which different VET policies can promote equality in the labour market and social justice. Key themes include the broader educational and social aims of VET, the nature of learning in vocational contexts, the historical development of VET in the UK, US, Australia, France, Germany, the Netherlands and elsewhere. Including a full range of case studies and practical examples, this book is essential reading for all students, researchers and practitioners with an interest in vocational education and training, industrial and labour relations or social policy. Learning through Others Emiliano Loria, 2020-05-29

The theory of natural pedagogy provides a model of social learning based on the direct communicative ostensive relation and aimed to the transfer of generic cultural knowledge. The pedagogical transmission of information originates from an explicit manifestation of teaching made by knowledgeable adults who are naturally inclined to manifestly provide their cultural baggage to naïve conspecifics. The domain of transferable knowledge encompasses artifact functions, novel means, actions, first words, gestural symbols, social practices and rituals. This teaching process can be fast and efficient in virtue of a natural inclination possessed by infants to seek information and decode signals of ostensive communication. In this sense, the natural pedagogy represents as the two proponents György Gergely and Gergely Csibra claim a communicative system of mutual design specialized for the fast and efficient transfer of new and relevant cultural knowledge from knowledgeable to ignorant conspecifics. This book suggests that natural pedagogy utilises early belief attribution competences which are employed by infants in a variety of contexts to approach and navigate the social world. Therefore, the natural pedagogy in cooperation with the early mindreading system may represent one of the most efficient adaptive strategies to firmly create that deep Wittgensteinian nest of propositions which build cultural shared beliefs structures to be relied upon and followed. Integrating Practice-based Experiences into Higher Education Stephen Billett, 2015-07-15 This book advances understandings about and practices for effectively integrating practice based e g workplace experiences in higher education programs This issue is becoming of increasing salient because higher education programs globally are increasingly focussing on preparing students for specific occupations Such imperatives are reflected in the cooperative education movement in North America the foundation degree programs of the United Kingdom the work integrated learning approach within Australian higher education and initiatives in a range of other countries There are clear and growing expectations that graduates from such should be able to move smoothly into being effective in their occupational practice These expectations rise from the imperatives and interest of government employers community and students themselves The book achieves a number of important goals Firstly it identifies and delineates the educational worth of students and engagement in practice based experiences and their integration within their programs of study Secondly it advances conceptions of the integration of such experiences that is essential to inform how these programs might be enacted Thirdly drawing on the findings of two teaching fellowships it proposed bases and propositions for how experiences in higher education programs might be organised and augmented to support effective learning Fourthly pedagogic practices seen to be effective in maximising the learning from those practice experiences and integrating them within the curriculum are identified and discussed Fifthly a particular focus is given to students personal epistemologies and how these might be developed and directed towards supporting effective learning within practice settings and the integration of that learning in their university programs

On Learning David Scott, 2021-05-20 This is a philosophical work that develops a general theory of ontological objects and object relations It does this by examining concepts as acquired dispositions and then focuses on perhaps the most important of these the concept of learning This concept is important because everything that we know and do in the world is predicated on a prior act of learning A concept can have many meanings and can be used in a number of different ways and this creates difficulty when considering the nature of objects and the relationships between them To enable this David Scott answers a series of questions about concepts in general and the concept of learning in particular Some of these questions are What is learning What different meanings can be given to the notion of learning How does the concept of learning relate to other concepts such as innatism development and progression The book offers a counter argument to empiricist conceptions of learning to the propagation of simple messages about learning knowledge curriculum and assessment and to the denial that values are central to understanding how we live It argues that values permeate everything our descriptions of the world the attempts we make at creating better futures and our relations with other people

this book will be an indispensable guide for you Learning to Teach in the Secondary School Susan Capel, Marilyn Leask, Sarah Younie, 2019-04-11 For all undergraduate postgraduate and school based routes to qualified teacher status Learning to Teach in the Secondary School is an essential introduction to the key skills and knowledge needed to become a secondary teacher Underpinned by evidence informed practice and focussing on what you need to know to thrive in the classroom the eighth edition is fully updated in light of changes in the field covers new topics and provides additional guidance on topics such as developing your resilience using digital technologies closing the achievement gap and using data to inform your teaching and pupil learning The text includes a wealth of examples and tasks to demonstrate how to successfully apply theory to practice and how to critically reflect on and analyse your practice to maximise pupil learning The wide range of pedagogical features supports both school and university based work up to Masters level Written by experts in the field the 37 concise units create unit by unit coverage that can be dipped into offering guidance on all aspects of learning to teach including Managing your workload Lesson planning Curriculum Motivating pupils Promoting behaviour for learning Assessment marking and feedback Special educational needs and disabilities SEND Applying for jobs developing as a professional and networking Learning to Teach in the Secondary School provides practical help and guidance for many of the situations and potential challenges you are faced with in school The text is extended by a companion website that includes additional information as well as specific units covering England Northern Ireland Scotland and Wales Supported by the subject specific titles in the Learning to Teach Subjects in the Secondary School Series it is an essential purchase for every aspiring secondary school teacher Learning Through Practice Stephen Billett, 2010-06-02 Practice based learning the kind of education that comes from experiencing real work in real situations has always been a prerequisite to qualification in professions such as medicine However there is growing interest in how practice based models of learning can assist the initial preparation for and further development of skills for a wider range of occupations Rather than being seen as a tool of first time training it is now viewed as a potentially important facet of professional development and life long learning This book provides perspectives on practice based learning from a range of disciplines and fields of work The collection here draws on a wide spectrum of perspectives to illustrate as well as to critically appraise approaches to practice based learning The book's two sections first explore the conceptual foundations of learning through practice and then provide detailed examples of its implementation Long standing practice based approaches to learning have been used in many professions and trades Indeed admission to the trades and major professions e.g. medicine law accountancy can only be realised after completing extended periods of practice in authentic practice settings However the growing contemporary interest in using practice based learning in more extensive contexts has arisen from concerns about the direct employability of graduates and the increasing focus on occupation specific courses in both vocations and higher education It is an especially urgent issue in an era of critical skill shortages rapidly transforming work requirements and an aging workforce combined with a looming shortage of new workforce entrants We must better understand how existing models of practice based learning are enacted in order to identify how they can be applied to different kinds of employment and workplaces The contributions to this volume explore ways in which learning through practice can be conceptualised enacted and appraised through an analysis of the traditions purposes and processes that support this learning including curriculum models and pedagogic practices
