principles and materials science have underpinned the decorative arts how the psychology of perception has spurred the development of painting how graphic design and illustration have evolved in tandem with methods of scientific research and how breakthroughs in the physical sciences have transformed the performing arts Some 265 illustrations ranging from masterworks by Durer and Leonardo to the dazzling vistas revealed by fractal geometry complement the wide ranging text This new edition of Art and Science has been updated to cover the ongoing convergence of art and technology in the digital age a convergence that has led to the emergence of a new type of creator the cultural explorer whose hybrid artworks defy all traditional categorization It will make thought provoking reading for students and teachers workers in creative and technical fields and anyone who is curious about the history of human achievement The Architecture of the Illusive

Distance Amir H. Ameri, 2016-03-03 Focusing on three secular institutional building types libraries museums and cinemas this book explores the intricate interplay between culture and architecture It explores the cultural imperatives which have seen to the formation of these institutions the development of their architecture and their transformation over time The relationship between culture and architecture is often perceived as a monologic relationship Architecture is seen to embody represent and or reflect the values the beliefs and the aesthetic ideals of a culture Ameri argues that this is at best a partial and restrictive view and that if architecture is a cultural statement it is a performative one It does not merely represent culture but constructs reifies and imposes culture as the unalterable shape of reality Whereas the concept and the study of cultural performatives have had an important critical impact on the humanities architecture as a cultural performative has not received the necessary scholarly attention and in part this book aims to fill this gap Whereas building type studies have been largely restricted to elucidating how best to design building types based on historic and contemporary precedents studies in the humanities that analytically and critically engage the secular institutions and their history as cultural performatives typically cast a blind or perfunctory glance at the performative complicity of their architecture This book aims to address the omissions in both these approaches The library the museum and the movie theater have been selected for close critical study because this book argues each has been instituted to house domesticate and restrain a specific form of representation The aim has been to protect and promulgate the metaphysics of presence as Jacques Derrida expounds the concept This book proposes that it is against the dangers of unconstrained cohabitation of reality and representation that the library the m
