The Body in the Anglosphere, 1880-1920 Robert W. Thurston,2021-12-30 Focusing on the body in every chapter this book examines the changing meanings and profound significance of the physical form among the Anglo Saxons from 1880 to 1920 They formed an imaginary but in many ways quite real community that ruled much of the world Among them racism became more virulent To probe the importance of the body this book brings together for the first time the many areas in which the physical form was newly or more extensively featured from photography through literature frontier wars violent sports and the global circus Sex sexuality concepts of gender including women s possibilities in all areas of life and the meanings of race and of civilization figured regularly in Anglo discussions Black people challenged racism by presenting their own photos of respectable folk As all this unfolded Anglo men and women faced the problem of maintaining civilized control vs the need to express uninhibited feeling With these issues in mind it is evident that the origins of today s debates about race and gender lie in the late nineteenth century American Photo ,1995-01 The Life and Photography of Doris Ulmann Philip Walker Jacobs,2021-10-21 Doris Ulmann 1882 1934 was one of the foremost photographers of the twentieth century yet until now there has never been a biography of this fascinating gifted artist Born into a New York Jewish family with a tradition of service Ulmann sought to portray and document individuals from various groups that she feared would vanish from American life In the last eighteen years of her life Ulmann created over 10 000 photographs and illustrated five books including Roll Jordan Roll and Handicrafts of the Southern Highlands Inspired by the paintings of the European old masters and by the photographs of Hill and Adamson and Clarence White Ulmann produced unique and substantial portrait studies Working in her Park Avenue studio and traveling throughout the east coast Appalachia and the deep South she carefully studied and photographed the faces of urban intellectuals as well as rural peoples Her subjects included Albert Einstein Robert Frost African American basket weavers from South Carolina and Kentucky mountain musicians Relying on newly discovered letters documents and photographs many published here for the first time Philip Jacobs s richly illustrated biography secures Ulmann s rightful place in the history of American photography Photodiscovery Bruce Bernard,1980 The extraordinary collection of photographs celebrates two eye opening discoveries first that long before the invention of true color photography photographers were producing images rich in color tones of gold mauve rose blue and many other hues and second that the world s picture archives can still yield images of startling originality often by well known photographers Thus every photograph in this book is reproduced in full color revealing the subtle tones of salt prints ambrotypes albumen prints daguerreotypes and other techniques whose real character has been known until recently only by collectors and connoisseurs Here are works by the legendary pioneers Talbot Daguerre Nadar Julia Margaret Cameron Henri Le Secq Gustave Le Gray and Atget as well as a host of astonishing pictures by unknown artists There are also unfamiliar
