Swartz,2009-11-23 This book provides an engaging account of the moral lives of young black South Africans once the struggle against apartheid ended and took away their object of political resistance It shows how partial parenting partial schooling and pervasive poverty contributes to how a group of young people construct right and wrong and what rules govern their behavior Doing Theology with Photographs Sarah Dunlop,2024-07-25 This book is the first of its kind to fully explain how to use photographs for research within Practical Theology An essential tool for anyone exploring how visual material can shed light on their research questions the book functions as a guide to using the methods well It includes a rationale for using photographs within the emerging field of empirical work within theology which is useful for students or others within the academy who need to justify using a visual approach for their research projects and dissertations Drawing on the author's own experience of using visual approaches the book covers a variety of visual methods including photojournalism different types of photo elicitation photo voice and studies of visual social media Each chapter illustrates the method under discussion via a case study and photographs and contains a practical guide to using the method well and avoiding pitfalls Additionally the book explores how photographs can be used to resource theological reflection and spirituality thus linking research and faithful practice within the rationale for using visual material Designed for the classroom use each chapter contains Chapter summary learning points Background information how to with examples of research projects Advantages and limitations of the method Conclusion Case Study Research Arch G. Woodside,2016-12-16 Case Study Research reviews and applies the best literature on case study methods from several disciplines providing strong rationales for adopting case study research methods alone or in mixed methods This second edition uses combination of a broad and deep coverage of multiple case study research genres to comprehensively explore the topic Researching the Vulnerable Pranee Liamputtong,2007 This book takes as its starting point the particular considerations and sensitivities of being a researcher faced with a subject group at the margins of society and explores the ethical practical and methodological implications of working with such groups Author Pranee Liamputtong explores qualitative methods using examples drawn from around the world and from the wide variety of contexts that might count as researching the vulnerable Numerous salient points for the conduct of research within vulnerable groups of people including ethical and moral issues are considered and discussed in the context of sensitive and innovative research methods

Environmental Planning in the Caribbean Janet Momsen, 2016-12-05 Illustrated by case studies from both smaller nations such as Carriacou Barbados and St Lucia and larger countries including Cuba Mexico and Jamaica this volume brings together leading writers on environmental planning in the Caribbean to provide an interdisciplinary contemporary critical overview They argue that context is central to the practice of environmental planning in this region Rather than focusing on a deterministic colonial geography and history the contributors propose that whilst a wide range of foreign planning influences can be felt in different contexts environmental planning emerges in specific settings through the fluid interaction between local and global relations of power A number of chapters explore the effects of external discourses upon the region while others examine discourses on Western style democracy and tourism Other important themes covered include participatory planning urban planning physical development planning pest management sustainable development water pollution conservation and ecotourism

Researching the Visual Michael Emmison, Dr Philip D Smith, 2000-03-15 The book has a solid practical feel to it and although it deals philosophically with leading theorists such as Foucault Goffman Bourdieu and Hall it grounds the practice of visual research into everyday use Weaved cleverly throughout are numerous practical exercises which draw together the theoretical concepts and give them a grounded rational element This book is a valuable research tool and I would anticipate that many researchers will find it a worthwhile addition to their armoury

Mental Health Care Providing a comprehensive introduction to the entire field of visual research this book reviews the contributions of traditions as diverse as semiotics ethnomethodology symbolic interactionism and

Researching Intimacy in Families J. Artisans and Fair Trade Mary A. Littrell, Marsha A. Dickson, 2012-03 Addresses the cultural conditions under which artisan work provides a feasible income alternative to other employment options Offers a methodology for assessing the socio economic impacts of fair trade artisan work After agriculture and tourism artisan work provides the next most significant source of income in many developing countries Yet because of its image as a soft or frivolous industry some politicians and development professionals question whether the handcraft sector is worthy of investment An opposing view holds that the creation of sustainable employment opportunities for poor people and a positive alternative to mass production outweighs the costs Until now the debate has been hampered by a lack of industry data The apparel group MarketPlace Handwork of India serves as the perfect case study to provide this missing information Like many fair trade companies it has dual goals to generate income in the global marketplace and foster the empowerment of the low income workers who run and staff the business In conducting interviews with MarketPlace s artisans managers and founders Littrell and Dickson produced an in depth socio economic audit of the group over time The result Artisans and Fair Trade provides a quantitatively and qualitatively illuminating study of fair trade impacts and a methodology that is sure to inform current assessment practices in social entrepreneurship and business social responsibility Understanding Life in School John

Quay,2015-07-27 Attending school is an experience that most people share but this leads us to accept rather than question the experience Using the philosophies of Heidegger and Dewey John Quay explores life in schools and juxtaposes the environment of a school camp with that of an academic classroom Tourists, Signs and the City Michelle M.

Metro-Roland,2016-02-24 Drawing upon the literature of landscape geography tourism studies cultural studies visual studies and philosophy this book offers a multi disciplinary approach to understanding the interaction between urban environments and tourists This is a necessary prerequisite for cities as they make themselves into enticing destinations and compete for tourists attention It argues that tourists make sense of and draw meaningful conclusions about the places in which they tour based upon the interpretation of the signs or elements encountered within the built environment elements such as graffiti and lamp posts The writings of the American pragmatist Charles S Peirce on interpretation provide the theoretical model for explaining the way in which mind and world or thoughts and objects result in tourists interacting with place This theoretical framework elucidates three applied studies undertaken with foreign visitors to the Hungarian capital of Budapest Based upon extensive ethnographic field work these studies focus on tourists interpretation of the urban landscape with particular attention paid to the encounters with national culture the role of architecture and the importance of the prosaic in urban tourism The Ethnopoetics of Space and Transformation Stuart C. Aitken,2016-02-17 Change is inevitable we are told

A job is lost a couple falls in love children leave home an addict joins Narcotics Anonymous two nations go to war a family member s health deteriorates a baby is born a universal health care bill is voted into law Life comprises events over which we have considerable partial or little or no control The distance between the event and our daily lives suggests a quirky spatial politics Our lives move forward depending upon how events play out in concert with our reactions to them Drawing on nearly three decades of geographic projects that involve ethnographies and interviews with and stories about young people in North and South American Europe and Asia and using the innovative technique of ethnopoetry Aitken examines key life changing events to look at the interconnections between space politics change and emotions Analysing the intricate spatial complexities of these events he explores the emotions that undergird the ways change takes place and the perplexing spatial politics that almost always accompany transformations Aitken positions young people as effective agents of change without romanticizing their political involvement as fantasy and unrealistic dreaming. Going further, he suggests that it is the emotional palpability of youth engagement and activism that makes it so potent and productive. Pulling on the spatial theories of de Certeau, Deleuze, Massey, Agamben, Rancière, Žižek, and Grosz, amongst others, Aitken argues that spaces are transformative to the degree that they open the political, and he highlights the complexly interwoven political, economic, social, and cultural practices that simultaneously embed and embolden people in places. If we think of spaces as events, and events encourage change, then spaces and people become other through complex relations. Taking poetry to be an emotive construction of language, Aitken re-visualizes, contorts, and arranges people's words and gestures to Anthropologists and Indians in the New South Rachel Bonney, J. Anthony Paredes, 2001-10. Choice Outstanding Academic Title for 2002. A clear assessment of the growing mutual respect and strengthening bond between modern Native Americans and the researchers who explore their past. Southern Indians have experienced much change in the last half of the 20th century. In rapid succession since World War II, they have passed through the testing field of land claims litigation begun in the 1950s, played upon or retreated from the civil rights movement of the 1960s, seen the proliferation of wannabe Indian groups in the 1970s, and created innovative tribal enterprises such as high stakes bingo and gambling casinos in the 1980s. The Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act of 1990 stimulated a cultural renewal, resulting in tribal museums and heritage programs, and a rapprochement with their western kinsmen removed in Old South days. Anthropology in the South has changed too, moving forward at the cutting edge of academic theory. This collection of essays reflects both that which has endured and that which has changed in the anthropological embrace of Indians from the New South. Beginning as an invited session at the 30th anniversary meeting of the Southern Anthropological Society held in 1996, the collection includes papers by linguists, archaeologists, and physical anthropologists, as well as comments from Native Americans. This broad scope of inquiry, ranging in subject from the Maya of Florida, presumed biology, and alcohol-related problems to pow-wow dancing, Mobilian linguistics, and the lost Indian ancestor myth, results in a volume valuable to students, professionals, and libraries.

Anthropologists and Indians in the New South is a clear assessment of the growing mutual respect and strengthening bond between modern Native Americans and the researchers who explore their past.
