Popular Front And Colonial Empire

Gavin Bowd, Daniel Clayton

Popular Front And Colonial Empire:

In Search of Moral Authority Van Nguyen-Marshall, 2008 In In Search of Moral Authority The Discourse on Poverty Poor Relief and Charity in French Colonial Vietnam is a pioneering exploration of the discourses on poverty and poor relief activities in early twentieth century Northern Vietnam Treating poverty as a socially constructed idea Van Nguyen Marshall argues that poor relief was a domain where both French colonialists and Vietnamese intellectuals vied for moral authority For the French colonial officials poor relief fell within the purview of the French civilizing mission the official justification for imperialism However the colonial agenda racial prejudices and the French administrators own ambivalent attitudes toward the poor made any attempt at poor relief doomed for failure For Vietnamese intellectuals the discourse and activities on poor relief became a rallying call for patriotism nationalism and for some anti colonialism In In Search of Moral Authority deals with social issues such as charity and poor relief as well as the construction of national and gender identity by Vietnamese intellectuals This book is essential reading for students and specialists of Vietnamese history as well as those interested in issues of poverty public welfare and charity

The Liberal Defence of Murder Richard Seymour, 2014-04-15 A war that has killed over a million Iraqis was a humanitarian intervention the US army is a force for liberation and the main threat to world peace is posed by Islam Those are the arguments of a host of liberal commentators ranging from Christopher Hitchens to Kanan Makiya Michael Ignatieff Paul Berman and Bernard Henri Levy In this critical intervention Richard Seymour unearths the history of liberal justifications for empire showing how savage policies of conquest including genocide and slavery have been retailed as charitable missions From the Cold War to the War on Terror Seymour argues that the colonial tropes of civilization and progress still shape liberal pro war discourse and still conceal the same bloody realities

French Colonial Empire and the Popular Front Tony Chafer, 1999 In revisiting the Popular Front sixty years on this book explores the link between metropolitan France and the empire at a defining moment in their history

Africa and World War II Judith A. Byfield, Carolyn A. Brown, Timothy Parsons, Ahmad Alawad Sikainga, 2015-04-16 This volume considers the military economic and political significance of Africa during World War II The essays feature new research and innovative approaches to the historiography of Africa and bring to the fore issues of race gender and labor during the war topics that have not yet received much critical attention It explores the experiences of male and female combatants peasant producers women traders missionaries and sex workers The first section offers three introductory essays that give a continent wide overview of how Africa sustained the Allied effort through labor and resources The six sections that follow offer individual case studies from different parts of the continent Contributors offer a macro and micro view of the multiple levels on which Africa's contributions shaped the war as well as the ways in which the war affected individuals and communities and transformed Africa's political economic and social landscape

The Empire and its Critics, 1899-1939 Peter Cain, 2022-01-26 The eight books reprinted in this set played an important role in defining attitudes and expectations about imperialism on the British

Left in the twentieth century They are vital in understanding the transition from the liberal anti imperialism of the nineteenth century to the more overtly socialist critiques of the twentieth The Wealth of (Some) Nations Zak Cope,2019-03-20 In this provocative new study Zak Cope makes the case that capitalism is empirically inseparable from imperialism historically and today Using a rigorous political economic framework he lays bare the vast ongoing transfer of wealth from the poorest to the richest countries through the mechanisms of monopoly rent unequal exchange and colonial tribute The result is a polarised international class structure with a relatively rich Global North and an impoverished exploited Global South Cope makes the controversial claim that it is because of these conditions that workers in rich countries benefit from higher incomes and welfare systems with public health education pensions and social security As a result the internationalism of populations in the Global North is weakened and transnational solidarity is compromised The only way forward Cope argues is through a renewed anti imperialist politics rooted in a firm commitment to a radical labour internationalism Algerian

Independence and the British Left Mélanie Torrent,2024-11-14 Based on archives from governments parties organisations and individuals this book investigates the relationship between the British left and Algerian liberation movements during the Algerian War of Independence 1954 1962 It explores the presence of representatives of the Mouvement national algérien MNA and the Front de libération nationale FLN in London where they actively sought support for peace independence from France and the global end of European domination By surveying their interactions with individuals and groups in the anticolonial left including prominent Labour MPs and Trotskyist groups Asian and African associations and students unions Torrent shows how and why solidarity was interpreted differently across the left and in relation to Britain's own end of empire conflicts Tracing connections across Europe and beyond this book demonstrates how the war influenced conceptions of socialism communism and internationalism in Britain what being European meant and what place the Commonwealth should have in a world where armed struggle and liberation diplomacy disrupted boundaries

Anti-Imperial Metropolis Michael Goebel,2015-08-25 The book examines the social life of non Europeans in Paris in the 1920s and 1930s and describes the political outgrowths of their migration to France It argues that this migration was crucial for decolonization and the rise of a Third World consciousness after World War II Quagmire David Andrew Biggs,2012-03-15 Winner of the 2012 George Perkins Marsh Prize for Best Book in Environmental History In the twentieth century the Mekong Delta has emerged as one of Vietnam's most important economic regions Its swamps marshes creeks and canals have played a major role in Vietnam's turbulent past from the struggles of colonialism to the Cold War and the present day Quagmire considers these struggles their antecedents and their legacies through the lens of environmental history Beginning with the French conquest in the 1860s colonial reclamation schemes and pacification efforts centered on the development of a dense network of new canals to open land for agriculture These projects helped precipitate economic and environmental crises in the 1930s and subsequent struggles after 1945 led to the balkanization of the delta into a patchwork of regions controlled by the Viet Minh paramilitary religious sects and the struggling Franco Vietnamese government After 1954 new settlements were built with American funds and equipment in a crash program intended to solve continuing economic and environmental problems Finally the American military collapse in Vietnam is revealed as not simply a failure of policy makers but also a failure to understand the historical political and environmental complexity of the spaces American troops attempted to occupy and control By exploring the delta as a quagmire in both natural and political terms Biggs shows how engineered transformations of the Mekong Delta landscape channelized rivers a complex canal system hydropower development deforestation have interacted with equally complex transformations in the geopolitics of the region Quagmire delves beyond common stereotypes to present an intricate rich history that shows how closely political and ecological issues are intertwined in the human interactions with the water environment in the Mekong Delta Watch the book trailer <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=gp1UItZqsk>

The Holocaust and North Africa Aomar Boum, Sarah Abrevaya Stein, 2018-11-06 The Holocaust is usually understood as a European story Yet this pivotal episode unfolded across North Africa and reverberated through politics literature memoir and memory Muslim as well as Jewish in the post war years The Holocaust and North Africa offers the first English language study of the unfolding events in North Africa pushing at the boundaries of Holocaust Studies and North African Studies and suggesting powerfully that neither is complete without the other The essays in this volume reconstruct the implementation of race laws and forced labor across the Maghreb during World War II and consider the Holocaust as a North African local affair which took diverse form from town to town and city to city They explore how the Holocaust ruptured Muslim Jewish relations setting the stage for an entirely new post war reality Commentaries by leading scholars of Holocaust history complete the picture reflecting on why the history of the Holocaust and North Africa has been so widely ignored and what we have to gain by understanding it in all its nuances Published in association with the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum

Mother Is Gold, Father Is Glass Lorelle D. Semley, 2010-11-29 Lorelle D Semley explores the historical and political meanings of motherhood in West Africa and beyond showing that the roles of women were far more complicated than previously thought While in K tu B nin Semley discovered that women were treasurers advisors ritual specialists and colonial agents in addition to their more familiar roles as queens wives and sisters These women with special influence made it difficult for the French and others to enforce an ideal of subordinate women As she traces how women gained prominence Semley makes clear why powerful mother figures still exist in the symbols and rituals of everyday practices volume The African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights [2 Volume Set] Nat Rubner, 2023 A landmark study of the African Charter on human and peoples rights one of the most important documents in modern African history that positions it within the African Lives Matter struggle to assert an African identity rather than as simply a human rights document This set describes its underlying African origins and how the principles of the OAU influenced its path and content

The African Charter on Human and Peoples' Rights Volume 2 Nat Rubner, 2023 Landmark study of the African Charter on Human and Peoples Rights Documents on one side the international community's inability to foist a human rights system upon Africa and on the other the process within the OAU now African Union that eventually brought it into being and determined its content The African Charter on Human and Peoples Rights ACHPR which was proposed in 1979 adopted in 1981 and came into effect in 1986 was the first non Western declaration of human rights and the first official statement of an African human rights perspective With Africa largely absent in 1948 when the Universal Declaration of Human Rights UDHR was adopted it stands in stark historical reproach to the Western conception of universal human rights as a pivotal document in the decolonisation of the continent This book for the first time presents a comprehensive account of the development of the ACHPR which is key to a proper understanding of its fundamental nature Through documenting its process of construction it becomes possible to understand how Africans themselves understood the process and the issues involved and how the ACHPR became a political text asserted by African leaders and not a continuum of a so called universal human rights tradition The result is a radical repositioning of the underlying context of the ACHPR one of the most important documents in modern African history of how it came to be and how it should therefore be understood Volume 2 describes the process through which the ACHPR came into being Analysing the role of Western governments the UN and NGOs it shows that contrary to the prevailing view of African human rights commentators their influence was limited and at times counter productive That in fact the formulation of the ACHPR was a profoundly political process that was primarily a product of an African desire to instigate its own human rights perspective as a counter to the human rights universalism advanced by the Western post war human rights tradition The Oxford Handbook of European History, 1914-1945 Nicholas

Doumanis, 2016-05-05 The period spanning the two World Wars was unquestionably the most catastrophic in Europe's history Despite such undeniably progressive developments as the radical expansion of women's suffrage and rising health standards the era was dominated by political violence and chronic instability Its symbols were Verdun Guernica and Auschwitz By the end of this dark period tens of millions of Europeans had been killed and more still had been displaced and permanently traumatized If the nineteenth century gave Europeans cause to regard the future with a sense of optimism the early twentieth century had them anticipating the destruction of civilization The fact that so many revolutions regime changes dictatorships mass killings and civil wars took place within such a compressed time frame suggests that Europe experienced a general crisis The Oxford Handbook of European History 1914 1945 reconsiders the most significant features of this

calamitous age from a transnational perspective It demonstrates the degree to which national experiences were intertwined with those of other nations and how each crisis was implicated in wider regional continental and global developments Readers will find innovative and stimulating chapters on various political social and economic subjects by some of the leading scholars working on modern European history today The Starving Empire Yan Slobodkin,2023-11-15 The Starving Empire traces the history of famine in the modern French Empire showing that hunger is intensely local and sweepingly global shaped by regional contexts and the transnational interplay of ideas and policies all at once By integrating food crises in Algeria West and Equatorial Africa and Vietnam into a broader story of imperial and transnational care Yan Slobodkin reveals how the French colonial state and an emerging international community took increasing responsibility for subsistence but ultimately failed to fulfill this responsibility Europeans once dismissed colonial famines as acts of god misfortunes of nature and the inevitable consequences of backward races living in harsh environments But as Slobodkin recounts drawing on archival research from four continents the twentieth century saw transformations in nutrition scientific racism and international humanitarianism that profoundly altered ideas of what colonialism could accomplish A new confidence in the ability to mitigate hunger coupled with new norms of moral responsibility marked a turning point in the French Empire's relationship to colonial subjects and to nature itself Increasingly sophisticated understandings of famine as a technical problem subject to state control saddled France with untenable obligations The Starving Empire not only illustrates how the painful history of colonial famine remains with us in our current understandings of public health state sovereignty and international aid but also seeks to return food this most basic of human needs to its central place in the formation of modern political obligation and humanitarian ethics The Bonds of Kinship in Dahomey Jessica Catherine Reuther,2025-01-07 From the 1720s to the 1940s parents in the kingdom and later colony of Dahomey now the Republic of Benin developed and sustained the common practice of girl fostering or entrusting Transferring their daughters at a young age into foster homes Dahomeans created complex relationships of mutual obligation kinship and caregiving that also exploited girls labor for the economic benefit of the women who acted as their social mothers Drawing upon oral tradition historic images and collective memories Jessica Reuther pieces together the fragmentary glimpses of girls lives contained in colonial archives within the framework of traditional understandings about entrustment Placing these girls and their social mothers at the center of history brings to light their core contributions to local and global political economies even as the Dahomean monarchy global trade and colonial courts reshaped girlhood norms and fostering practices Reuther reveals that the social economic and political changes wrought by the expansion of Dahomey in the eighteenth century the shift to legitimate trade in agricultural products in the nineteenth century and the imposition of French colonialism in the twentieth all fundamentally altered and were altered by the intimate practice of entrusting female children between households Dahomeans also valorized this process as a crucial component of being well raised a sentiment that continues into the present despite widespread Beninese opposition to modern day forms of child labor Ordering Africa Helen Tilley, Robert Gordon, 2017-03-01 African research played a major role in transforming the discipline of anthropology in the twentieth century Ethnographic studies in turn had significant effects on the way imperial powers in Africa approached subject peoples Ordering Africa provides the first comparative history of these processes With essays exploring metropolitan research institutes Africans as ethnographers the transnational features of knowledge production and the relationship between anthropology and colonial administration this volume both consolidates and extends a range of new research questions focusing on the politics of imperial knowledge Specific chapters examine French West Africa the Belgian and French Congo the Anglo Egyptian Sudan Italian Northeast Africa Kenya and Equatorial Africa Gabon as well as developments in Britain France Germany Italy and Switzerland A major collection of essays that will be welcomed by scholars interested in imperial history and the history of Africa Shifting Boundaries of Public Health Susan Gross Solomon, Lion Murard, Patrick Zylberman, 2008 European public health was a playing field for deeply contradictory impulses throughout the twentieth century In the 1920s international agencies were established with great fanfare and postwar optimism to serve as the watchtower of health the world over Within less than a decade local level institutions began to emerge as seats of innovation initiative and expertise But there was continual counterpressure from nation states that jealously guarded their policymaking prerogatives in the face of the push for cross national standardization and the emergence of original initiatives from below In contrast to histories of twentieth century public health that focus exclusively on the local national or international levels Shifting Boundaries explores the connections or zones of contact between the three levels The interpretive essays written by distinguished historians of public health and medicine focus on four topics the oscillation between governmental and nongovernmental agencies as sites of responsibility for addressing public health problems the harmonization of nation states agendas with those of international agencies the development by public health experts of knowledge that is both placeless and respectful of place and the transportability of model solutions across borders The volume breaks new ground in its treatment of public health as a political endeavor by highlighting strategies to prevent or alleviate disease as a matter not simply of medical techniques but political values and commitments Contributors Peter Baldwin Iris Borowy James A Gillespie Graham Mooney Lion Murard Dorothy Porter Sabine Schleiermacher Susan Gross Solomon Paul Weindling and Patrick Zylberman Susan Gross Solomon is professor of political science at the University of Toronto Lion Murard and Patrick Zylberman are both senior researchers at CERMES Centre de Recherche M decine Sciences Sant et Soci t CNRS EHESS INSERM Paris Impure and Worldly Geography Gavin Bowd, Daniel Clayton, 2019-02-13 Tropicality is a centuries old Western discourse that treats otherness and the exotic in binary us and them terms It has long been implicated in empire and its anxieties over difference However little attention has been paid to its twentieth century genealogy This book explores this neglected history through the work of Pierre Gourou one of the century s foremost purveyors of what anti colonial writer Aim C saire dubbed tropicalit It explores how Gourou s interpretations of the nature of the tropical world and its innate difference from the temperate world were built on the shifting sands of twentieth century history empire and freedom modernity and disenchantment war and revolution culture and civilisation and race and development The book addresses key questions about the location and power of knowledge by focusing on Gourou's cultivation of the tropics as a romanticised networked and affective domain The book probes what C saire described as Gourou's impure and worldly geography as a way of opening up interdisciplinary questions of geography ontology epistemology experience and materiality This book will be of great interest to scholars and students within historical geography history postcolonial studies cultural studies and international relations
