Zermatt Frank Schaeffer, 2013-02-04 Calvin Becker's strict fundamentalist upbringing means he's never seen a film watched television or danced He even has to hide his five second hand copies of Mad magazine in the attic Now he and his family his embarrassingly devout missionary parents and his sisters the tyrannical 18 year old Janet and the angelic Rachael are on their modest annual skiing holiday in Switzerland For the Beckers the Hotel Riffelberg had always provided a safe haven from the jazz loving sinners who congregate further down the mountain in Zermatt but this is 1966 the year of peace love and the Beatles and the world is changing As is the irrepressible Calvin In his innocent 14 year old body the hormones are raging awakening a volcanic sexual curiosity and he willingly succumbs to the ample charms of Eva the young waitress who introduces him to ecstasies beyond his wildest dreams But then Calvin's mother catches him supposedly in the act and things start to go awry triggering a climactic end to his childhood and the family holiday

Butterflies in the Belfry -- Serpents in the Cellar: An Unintended Pursuit for a Natural Christianity J. Michael Jones, 2017-01-06 In 1988 while working for a demanding Christian organization Michael Jones moves his family to the Middle East to serve as missionaries to Muslims Though Michael finds the Muslim people to be extremely hospitable he discovers serious flaws within his own evangelical worldview After a catastrophic collapse of faith standing in middle of the post evangelical wilderness Michael contemplates possible paths out including returning to agnosticism or even suicide He takes the reader on an intimate yet intellectually enthralling journey through his personal history and the history of Western civilization In the end not only does he find the answers to his personal dilemma but inadvertently he discovers a refreshing form of Christianity that has been forgotten This book shares insights the author gained during front line service amid the conflicts that arise when worldviews clash and presents his field tested portrait of a raw focused and muscular Christianity

Patience with God: Faith for People Who Don't Like Religion (or Atheism) Frank Schaeffer, 2010-04 Frank Schaeffer has a problem with Dawkins Hitchens Harris Dennett and the rest of the New Atheists the self anointed Brights He also has a problem with the Rick Warrens and Tim LaHayes of the world The problem is that he doesn t see much of a difference between the two camps As Schaeffer puts it they often share the same fallacy truth claims that reek of false certainties I believe that there is an alternative that actually matches the way life is lived rather than how we usually talk about belief Sparing no one and nothing including himself and his fiery evangelical past and invoking subtleties too easily ignored by the pontificators Schaeffer adds much needed nuance to the conversation My writing has smoked out so many individuals who seem to be thinking about the same questions I hope that this book will provide a meeting place for us the scattered refugees of what I ll call The Church of Hopeful Uncertainty

AWOL Kathy Roth-Douquet, Frank Schaeffer, 2024-01-17 This impassioned convincing manifesto from two policy experts with military family calls for class integration of the military Publishers Weekly Military service was once a natural part of good citizenship with Americans of all classes serving during wartime Not anymore As Kathy Roth Douquet and Frank Schaeffer assert in this groundbreaking work there is a growing disconnect between the cultural elite who guide military policy and the rank and file servicemembers charged with carrying it out While the privileged lack the benefits and perspective gained through military service those who do serve feel under supported and morally distanced from the rest of the country And when only a handful of congressmembers have military experience it can become too easy or too hard to send soldiers into combat Based on extensive research and firsthand accounts of service AWOL is both informative and personal As the father of a former Marine Frank Schaeffer knows the anguish and pride of seeing a child deployed into combat Kathy Roth Douquet wife of a career officer knows struggle of
