Portrait Of Adelaide:

Portrait of Adelaide Cedric Emanuel, 1975-01-01 Facing the Public Anthony Halliday, 2000 This work examines the effect of the French Revolution on portrait painting Portraits were the most widely commissioned paintings in 18th century France But most portraits were produced for private consumptions and were therefore seen as inferior to art designed for public exhibition The Revolution endowed private values with an unprecedented significance and the way people responded to portraits changed as a result

Love's Portrait Anna Lerner, 2019-04-16 Newly appointed art curator Molly Goode is committed to diversifying her museum's collection When Georgina Wright the museum's aloof benefactor asks for Molly's help in identifying the provenance of a 19th century portrait of social activist Josephine Brancaster Molly welcomes the opportunity even if it means spending time with the standoffish financier But passions soon flare as the women uncover the heartbreaking story of doomed lesbian love behind the watercolor painted by Josephine's lover Edith Hewitt As their love blossoms Molly is determined to display Edith's portrait of Josephine and to tell their story in the museum but she needs the influential Georgina to help convince the board When an unforeseen twist in the painting's provenance forces Georgina to confront her own painful past will history repeat itself or can Molly and Georgina's love prevail

Carrick Hill Richard Heathcote, 2011 From the late 1930s Carrick Hill was the home of one of Adelaide's most prestigious couples Adelaide heiress Ursula nee Barr Smith and successful businessman Edward Hayward Their foothills mansion with its glorious gardens was alive with social gatherings at which guests from all walks of life were welcomed and entertained The house was full of antiques and paintings by notable Australian and French artists The estate was bequeathed to the people of South Australia and this book brings alive the glory and beauty of Australia's most intact twentieth century house museum
