Jaffe, 1989 Annotation Sixteen essays examine aspects of American art that owe a debt to Italy and Italian artists A central theme is the tension between perceptions of Italy as a mythic presence the visual incarnation of spirit and a contrasting ambivalence felt by many Americans about the cultural ties binding them to Europe despite their political independence With some 200 illustrations 36 in color Not indexed Pre publication price 49 95 until 12 31 90 Annotation c 2003 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews com

George Stubbs, Painter Judy Egerton, George Stubbs, 2007-01-01 George Stubbs is one of the greatest of British eighteenth century painters with a deep and unaffected sympathy for country life and the English countryside This fully illustrated book outlines his career followed by a catalogue raisonne the first since Sir Walter Gilbey's short listing of 1898 of all his known works One of the stickiest labels in the history of British art attached itself to Stubbs as Mr Stubbs the horse painter Over half of his paintings were of horses each founded on the pioneering observations assembled in 1766 in his book The Anatomy of the Horse but Stubbs's wide ranging subjects included portraits conversation pieces and paintings of exotic animals from the Zebra to the Rhinoceros as well as an extraordinarily sympathetic series of portraits of dogs

Sickert Wendy Baron, Walter Sickert, 2006-01-01 Walter Richard Sickert 1860 1942 was an artist of prodigious creativity For sixty years in his roles as painter teacher and polemicist he was a source of inspiration and influence to successive generations of British painters With his roots in the Victorian era Sickert broke all taboos He was uncompromisingly truthful revealing beauty in the squalid as in the sublime in cockney music halls the crumbling streets of Dieppe the grand sites of Venice and the low life of Camden Town Decades before Warhol he exploited the potential of photo based imagery and of studio production lines to create iconic portraits of the grandees of theatrical social and political life This catalogue is divided into two parts essay chapters describe Sickert's chronology in terms of stylistic and technical development and a fully illustrated catalogue presents more than 2800 drawings and paintings many of which have never been published before

A World of Our Own Frances Borzello, 2024-11-19 A new edition of one of the first books to focus on the world of women artists and their practice Women have always practiced as artists but for centuries the art world considered them mere dilettantes Their work was derided as second rate and they were considered intruders in a male profession This study examines how against the odds they overcame these difficulties and shifts the focus away from women artists as victims to give an account of how they actually practiced their art This stirring account documents the centuries long struggle of gifted women who confronted the exclusionary tactics of a male dominated art establishment but pressed ahead undaunted to gain acceptance as sought after professionals Art historian Frances Borzello takes readers deep into the restricted world of women artists of the past showing how diligently they trained themselves set up studios and pursued sympathetic patrons Starting with Renaissance painters Sofonisba Anguissola and Lavinia Fontana the book reconstructs the changing world of women artists as social attitudes evolved Seventeenth century painters Artemisia Gentileschi and Judith Leyster enjoyed success by depicting subjects relevant to women as did eighteenth century greats Angelica Kauffman and Elisabeth Vigée Lebrun with lucrative commissions Further breakthroughs came in the nineteenth century as young hopefuls Mary Cassatt and Marie Bashkirtseff strove to be admitted to exhibiting societies and opened art schools Finally as equality for women advanced through the twentieth century Augusta Savage Georgia O'Keeffe Frida Kahlo Cindy Sherman Mona Hatoum and others led the way for today's talented women to secure their rightful place in the annals of art Now fully revised and updated Frances Borzello's engaging narrative continues to inspire galleries and curators during the upheaval of the Second World War this book challenges the accepted view of a hiatus in museum services during the conflict and its immediate aftermath. Instead it argues that new thinking in the 1930s was realised in a number of promising initiatives during the war only to fail during the fragmented post war recovery. Based on new research including interviews with retired museum staff, letters, diaries, museum archives and government records, this study reveals a complex picture of both innovation and inertia. At the outbreak of war, precious objects were stored away and staff numbers reduced, but although many museums were closed, others successfully campaigned to remain open. By providing innovative modern exhibitions and education initiatives, they became popular and valued venues for the public. After the war, however, museums returned to their more traditional collections centred approach and failed to negotiate the public funding needed for reconstruction based on this narrower view of their role. Hence, in the longer term, the destruction and economic and social consequences of the conflict served to delay aspirations for reconstruction until the 1960s. Through this lens, the history of the museum in the mid twentieth century appears as one shaped by the effects of war but equally determined by the input of curators, audiences and the state. The museum thus emerges not as an isolated institution concerned only with presenting the past but as a product of the changing conflicts and cultures within society.

Museums in the Second World War Catherine Pearson, 2017-06-26 Exploring the role of museums

Kenneth Hudson, Ann Nicholls, 1975-06-18 Bulletin of Local History, 1979 "Art in the North of England, 1979-2008"
 Gabriël N. Gee, 2017-07-05. Based on rare archival material and numerous interviews with practitioners, Art in the North of England 1979-2008 analyses the relation between political and economic changes stemming from the 1980s and artistic developments in the principal cities of the North of England in the late 20th century. Looking in particular at the art scenes of Liverpool, Manchester, Leeds, Sheffield and Newcastle, Gabriël Gee unveils a set of powerful aesthetic reactions to industrial change and urban reconstruction during this period on the part of artists including John Davies, Pete Clarke, the Amber collective, Richard Wilson, Karen Watson, Nick Crowe, Ian Rawlinson, John Kippin and the contribution of organisations such as Projects UK, Locus, East Street Arts, the Henry Moore Sculpture Trust and the Bluecoat Gallery in Liverpool. While the geographical focus of this study is highly specific, a key concern throughout is the relationship between regional, national and international artistic practices and identities. Of interest to all scholars and students concerned with the developments of British art in the second half of the 20th century, the study is also of direct pertinence to observers of global narratives which are here described and analysed through the concept of trans-industriality.
