Portraits In An Album:

Women's Albums and Photography in Victorian England Patrizia Di Bello, 2017-07-05 This beautifully illustrated study recaptures the rich history of women photographers and image collectors in nineteenth century England. Situating the practice of collecting, exchanging and displaying photographs and other images in the context of feminine sociability, Patrizia Di Bello shows that albums express Victorian women's experience of modernity. The albums of individual women and the broader feminine culture of collecting and displaying images are examined, uncovering the cross references and fertilizations between women's albums and illustrated periodicals and demonstrating the way albums and photography itself were represented in women's magazines, fashion plates and popular novels. Bringing a sophisticated eye to overlooked images such as the family photograph, Di Bello not only illustrates their significance as historical documents but elucidates the visual rhetorics at play. In doing so, she identifies the connections between Victorian album making and the work of modern day amateurs and artists who use digital techniques to compile and decorate albums with Victorian style borders and patterns. At a time when photographic album making is being re-vitalised by digital technologies, this book rewrites the history of photographic albums, placing the female collector at its centre and offering an alternative history of photography focused on its uses rather than on its aesthetic or artistic considerations. It is remarkable in elegantly connecting the history of photography with the fields of material culture and women's studies.

Portraits 2 Noah Baerman, 2001-11 The Portraits series fills one of the long-time gaps in student level piano repertoire by presenting colorful fun-to-play pieces in jazz, blues, rock and other popular styles. Portraits invites you on a guided tour through the music of various artists in these styles, exploring what gives each artist his or her own special sound, while the progressively arranged original pieces allow you to try out these styles on your own. Each piece is accompanied by a biography and photo of the artist who inspired it, listening suggestions and specially tailored preparatory exercises. While the Portraits books are recommended for students age 12 and older, younger musicians will certainly enjoy playing the pieces under the guidance of a teacher. The Portraits series is designed to complement all popular piano methods, including adult methods.

Law, Judges and Visual Culture Leslie J Moran, 2020-11-12 Law, Judges and Visual Culture analyses how pictures have been used to make and circulate ideas about the judiciary through a variety of media from the sixteenth century to the present. This book offers a new approach to thinking about and making sense of the important social institution that is the judiciary. In an age in which visual images and celebrity play key roles in the way we produce, communicate and consume ideas about society and its key institutions, this book provides the first in-depth study of visual images of judges in these contexts. It not only examines what appears within the frame of these images, it also explores the impact technologies and the media industries that produce them have upon the way we engage with them and the experiences and meanings they generate. Drawing upon a wide range of scholarship including art history, film and television studies and social and cultural studies as well as law and interviews with a variety of practitioners painters photographers television script writers and producers as well as court communication staff and judges the book generates new and unique insights into making managing and viewing pictures of judges Original and insightful Law Judges and Visual Culture will appeal to scholars postgraduates and undergraduates from a variety of disciplines that hold an interest in the role of visual culture in the production of social justice and its institutions
