Seeing Between The Pixels Pictures In Interactive Systems:

Seeing Between the Pixels Christine Strothotte, Thomas Strothotte, 2012-12-06 Pictures are at the heart of how we communicate with computers emblematic of our current fascination with multimedia and web based computing Nevertheless most of us know far less about pictures and the way in which they work than we know about the text that often accompanies them In an attempt to understand pictures perhaps the most fundamental question we can ask is What is a picture What is it that objects as diverse as icons bar charts paintings and photographs have in common that makes us refer to all of them as pictures And what is it about pictures that convinces us to use them instead of or in addition to text We often talk about how pictures depict things But even the process of depiction seems to differ from one picture to another On a computer we may use a paint system to guide a virtual brush over the screen a video camera to capture a live image a spread sheet to automatically generate a corresponding bar chart or a rendering system that models the interactions of synthetic lights objects and cameras Is there some underlying property that these processes all share Computer scientists are used to thinking of pictures in terms of their representation an array of pixels a list or hierarchy of graphics primitives or even a program written in a language such as PostScript

Non-Photorealistic Computer Graphics Thomas Strothotte, Stefan Schlechtweg, 2002-04-24 Even as developments in photorealistic computer graphics continue to affect our work and leisure activities practitioners and researchers are devoting more and more attention to non photorealistic NPR techniques for generating images that appear to have been created by hand These efforts benefit every field in which illustrations thanks to their ability to clarify emphasize and convey very precise meanings offer advantages over photographs These fields include medicine architecture entertainment education geography publishing and visualization Non Photorealistic Computer Graphics is the first and only resource to examine non photorealistic efforts in depth providing detailed accounts of the major algorithms as well as the background information and implementation advice readers need to make headway with these increasingly important techniques Already an estimated 10% of computer graphics users require some form of non photorealism Strothotte and Schlechtweg's important new book is designed and destined to be the standard NPR reference for this large diverse and growing group of professionals Hard to find information needed by a wide range and growing number of computer graphics programmers and applications users Traces NPR principles and techniques back to their origins in human vision and perception Focuses on areas that stand to benefit most from advances in NPR including medical and architectural illustration cartography and data visualization Presents algorithms for two and three dimensional effects using pseudo code where needed to clarify complex steps Helps readers attain pen and ink pencil sketch and painterly effects in addition to other styles Explores specific challenges for NPR including wrong marks deformation natural media artistic technique lighting and dimensionality Includes a series of programming projects in which readers can apply the book's concepts and algorithms

Non-Photorealistic Rendering

Bruce Gooch, Amy Gooch, 2001-07-18 The ubiquity of computer generated imagery around us in movies advertising or on the Internet is already being taken for granted and what impresses most people is the photorealistic quality of the images Pictures as we have often been told are worth a thousand words and the information transported by an image can take many different forms Man The Systemic Image Inge Hinterwaldner, 2023-10-31 A new conceptualization of the relationship between the systemic and the iconic in real time simulations that distinguishes among four levels of forming Computer simulations conceive objects and situations dynamically in their changes and progressions In The Systemic Image Inge Hinterwaldner considers not only the technical components of dynamic computer simulations but also the sensory aspects of the realization Examining the optic the acoustic the tactile and the sensorimotor impressions that interactive real time simulations provide she finds that iconicity plays a dominant yet unexpected role Based on this and close readings of a series of example works Hinterwaldner offers a new conceptualization of the relationship between systemic configuration and the iconic aspects in these calculated complexes Hinterwaldner discusses specifications of sensorialization necessary to make the simulation dynamic perceivable Interweaving iconicity with simulation she explores the expressive possibilities that can be achieved under the condition of continuously calculated explicit changes She distinguishes among four levels of forming the systems perspective as a process and schema that establishes the most general framework of simulations the mathematical model which marks off the boundaries of the simulation s actualization the iconization and its orientation toward the user and interaction design necessary for the full unfolding of the simulation The user makes manifest what is initially latent Viewing the simulation as an interface Hinterwaldner argues that not only does the sensorially designed aspect of the simulation seduce the user but the user also makes an impact on the simulation on the dynamic and perhaps on the iconization although not on the perspectivation The influence is reciprocal Virtual Interaction: Interaction in Virtual Inhabited 3D Worlds

E. Granum, Lars Qvortrup, B. Holmqvist, S. Kolstrup, K. Halskov Madsen, 2013-03-09 Lars Qvortrup The world of interactive 3D multimedia is a cross institutional world Here researchers from media studies linguistics dramaturgy media technology 3D modelling robotics computer science sociology etc etc meet In order not to create a new tower of Babel it is important to develop a set of common concepts and references This is the aim of the first section of the book In Chapter 2 Jens F Jensen identifies the roots of interaction and interactivity in media studies literature studies and computer science and presents definitions of interaction as something going on among agents and agents and objects and of interactivity as a property of media supporting interaction Similarly he makes a classification of human users avatars autonomous agents and objects demonstrating that no universal differences can be made We are dealing with a continuum While Jensen approaches these categories from a semiotic point of view in Chapter 3 Peer Mylov discusses similar issues from a psychological point of view Seen from the user s perspective a basic difference is that between stage and back stage or rather front stage i e between the real I and we and the virtual representational I and we Focusing on the computer as a stage in Chapter 4

Kjölner and Lehmann use the theatre metaphor to conceptualize the stage phenomena and the relationship between stage and front stage

Computational Visualization Thomas Strothotte, 2012-12-06 A unified and coherent introduction to the notion of abstraction in interactive computer graphics is provided by this book Abstraction entails refinement of images based on geometric models so as to reflect the importance of the features of the model for the dialog context and the visualization goal This may require leaving out irrelevant details or accentuating significant features by adding details or enlarging or deforming parts Such modifications are routine by hand but are at the leading edge of research in 2D and 3D computer graphics The authors see the abstraction process as an interactive exploration of complex information spaces and report especially on zooming and rendering techniques Benefits are discussed for applications in medical illustration and technical documentation

Computer Aided Architectural Design Futures 2005 Bob Martens, Andre Brown, 2005-12-06 MARTENS Bob and BROWN Andre Co conference Chairs CAAD Futures 2005 Computer Aided Architectural Design is a particularly dynamic field that is developing through the actions of architects software developers researchers technologists users and society alike CAAD tools in the architectural office are no longer prominent outsiders but have become ubiquitous tools for all professionals in the design disciplines At the same time techniques and tools from other fields and uses are entering the field of architectural design This is exemplified by the tendency to speak of Information and Communication Technology as a field in which CAAD is embedded Exciting new combinations are possible for those who are firmly grounded in an understanding of architectural design and who have a clear vision of the potential use of ICT CAAD Futures 2005 called for innovative and original papers in the field of Computer Aided Architectural Design that present rigorous high quality research and development work Papers should point towards the future but be based on a thorough understanding of the past and present

Designing for Small Screens Studio 7.5, 2005-10 The design of interactive applications or presentations on small screens can be challenging for the designer Not all design concepts that are valid on larger screens can be implemented on the small screen A multitude of different devices with dissimilar technical specifications fall under the category of small screen interfaces Devices in this category differ in size and type of their display in the nature of their physical interaction and in their performance This book equips the student or practitioner with the appropriate tools with which to develop functional concepts and realise good designs for small screens In order to tackle and visualise complex design issues each of the ten chapters in this book is structured in three segments The first section is dedicated to theoretical reflection and an overview of the fundamental design options that relate to the specific issue in question The second section offers examples of good working practice and application of the theory described and the final section offers useful background information such as an explanation of the technical terms that will help you to make informed design decisions Selling points shows professional designers and students how to develop functional concepts and good design for the small screen and pertinent subject given advancing technology in mobile phones palm top computers and other small screen devices Readership both professional designers and students alike Authors Professor Carola Zwick studied at the University of Arts Berlin where she gained an MA in Industrial Design In 1993 she joined the teaching body at the University of Arts Berlin as an Assistant Professor and together with Burkhard Schmitz she initiated the media group ID 5 within the design course Carola Zwick has been teaching interface design at the University of Applied Sciences Magdeburg Stendal since 1998 Professor Burkhard Schmitz studied at the University of Arts in Berlin where he too gained an MA in Industrial Design In 1989 he became Professor for Media Design at the University of Applied Sciences Schwabisch Gmund In 1993 he returned once more to the University of Arts Berlin where he has taught Interactive Systems since Dipl Designer Kerstin Kuhl studied at the University of Applied Sciences Dessau where she gained a diploma in Graphic Design
