Participation in Art and Architecture Martino Stierli,Mechtild Widrich,2015-10-16 Does participatory art and architecture shape social reality or is it shaped by it Shifting the ground of this debate which tends to assume one or other direction of influence this innovative book explores the inherently dialectic relationship between society and the built environment At the same time it strives for a historically conscious discussion of a very contemporary issue Chapters rethink the top down model of participation and audience activation of high modernism from Alexander Dorner s immersive museum to Mies van der Rohe s room s for play investigate participation in spaces under political pressure from exhibitions in bombed out buildings in besieged Sarajevo 1992 5 to the art and organizing of revolution in Egypt 2012 13 draw historical parallels between modes of participation and the exercise of power that are seldom compared with one another from sites of occupation in 1968 Mexico and 2011 Spain finally creating links between cartography and feminism and between tourism and internet surveillance With these juxtapositions of the aesthetic and the everyday and the built and the mediated new questions arise is space formed once and for all or is it the changeable product of changeable patterns of use Does the aesthetic always correspond to the political or might an aesthetically authoritarian space be conducive to social justice In exploring these questions this book looks at how participants themselves exert power rather than being victimised or liberated from it     Art of Suppression Pamela M. Potter,2016-06-28 One thinks of the arts in Nazi Germany as struggling in an oppressive system yet evidence has repeatedly shown that conditions were far more favourable than we assume Potter conducts a historiography of Nazi arts examining writings from the last seven decades to demonstrate how historical moral and intellectual conditions have sustained a distorted characterization of cultural life in the Third Reich Showing how past research has revealed the decentralized nature of Nazi arts policies Potter argues that the insulation of academic disciplines allowed outdated presumptions about Nazi micromanagement of the arts to persist      Comics of the New Europe Martha Kuhlman, José Alaniz, 2020-04-21 Bringing together the work of an array of North American and European scholars this collection highlights a previously unexamined area within global comics studies It analyses comics from countries formerly behind the Iron Curtain like East Germany Poland Czech Republic Hungary Romania Yugoslavia and Ukraine given their shared history of WWII and communism In addition to situating these graphic narratives in their national and subnational contexts Comics of the New Europe pays particular attention to transnational connections along the common themes of nostalgia memoir and life under communism The essays offer insights into a new generation of European cartoonists that looks forward inspired and informed by traditions from Franco Belgian and American comics and back as they use the medium of comics to reexamine and reevaluate not only their national pasts and respective comics traditions but also their own post 1989 identities and experiences      Berlin! Berlinische Galerie, 1991      News of Germany ... , 1946
