Reaching Out Pamela Nadeau, 2002 We may feel we are spiritual beings living inside physical bodies yet know that life's big challenge is to live a spiritually good life For how can we be spiritually good when life can invite us to be unloving unkind or just plain confused Is this dilemma different as we enter the 21st Century with its complex technologies and renewed threats to global survival Are there simple solutions to staying spiritually good and physically alive no matter when we live in history Or does each generation need to find its own way The author had no answers to such thoughts only more questions until the day an extraordinary entity joined her debate Hailing from an Egypt of 5000 years past and communicating through channeled material Princess Hats upset wades deep into the topic with her endearing blend of humor metaphor and compassion She wins and heals the hearts of those who read her Are we so different from our forebears Read about and experience the magical mysteries of an Ancient Sisterhood of Healing Hearts Will your 21st century heart also be healed

Modest Nonconceptualism Eva Schmidt, 2015-07-06 The author defends nonconceptualism the claim that perceptual experience is nonconceptual and has nonconceptual content Continuing the heated and complex debate surrounding this topic over the past two decades she offers a sustained defense of a novel version of the view Modest Nonconceptualism and provides a systematic overview of some of the central controversies in the debate An explication of the notion of nonconceptual content and a distinction between nonconceptualist views of different strengths starts off the volume then the author goes on to defend participants in the debate over nonconceptual content against the allegation that their failure to distinguish between a state view and a content view of nonconceptualism leads to fatal problems for their views Next she makes a case for nonconceptualism by refining some of the central arguments for the view such as the arguments from fineness of grain from contradictory contents from animal and infant perception and from concept acquisition Then two central objections against nonconceptualism are rebutted in a novel way the epistemological objection and the objection from objectivity Modest Nonconceptualism allows for perceptual experiences to involve some conceptual elements It emphasizes the relevance of concept employment for an understanding of conceptual and nonconceptual mental states and identifies the nonconceptual content of experience with scenario content It insists on the possibility of genuine content bearing perceptual experience without concept possession and is thus in line with the Autonomy Thesis Finally it includes an account of perceptual justification that relies on the external contents of experience and belief yet is compatible with epistemological internalism
