L'opera Completa Del Perugino:

L'opera completa del Perugino Perugino, Ettore Camesasca, 1969      The Vatican Collections Art Institute of Chicago, Fine Arts Museums of San Francisco, 1982 Nearly three hundred illustrations and a text reveal the entire range of the Vatican's artistic holdings replete with priceless masterworks from all periods      Italian Confraternities in the Sixteenth Century Christopher F. Black, 2003-08-28 Confraternities were and are religious brotherhoods for lay people to promote their religious life in common Though designed to prepare for the afterlife they were fully involved in the social political and cultural life of the community and could affect all men and women as members or as the recipients of charity Confraternities organised a great range of devotional cultural and indeed artistic activities in addition to other functions such as the provision of dowries and the escort of condemned men to the scaffold Other works have studied the local activities of specific confraternities but this is the first to attempt a broad survey of such organisations across the breadth of early modern Italy Christopher Black demonstrates clearly the extent diversity and influence of confraternal behaviour and shows how such brotherhoods adapted to the religious and social crises of the sixteenth century thus illuminating current debates about Catholic Reform the Counter Reformation poverty philanthropy and social control      Painting in Renaissance Perugia Sheri Francis Shaneyfelt, 2023-05-11 This volume offers the first comprehensive study of painting in Renaissance Perugia from the late fifteenth to the mid sixteenth centuries Showcasing works by Perugino Raphael and Pintoricchio as well as less familiar artists who worked in Perugia from ca 1480 1540 Sheri Shaneyfelt traces the influence and impact of Perugino's workshop in central Italy over more than a half a century She demonstrates why Perugia which has been overlooked in modern scholarship was such a vital center for the production of early modern Italian art Shaneyfelt's study also shifts the focus away from the analysis of individual artistic creativity by highlighting the importance and significance of collaboration and workshop production in Renaissance Italy Interweaving historical and archival evidence with analyses of numerous paintings and drawings her book richly illustrated with 115 color illustrations offers many new insights into the vibrant artistic culture of early modern Perugia      Artists' Art in the Renaissance Marilyn Aronberg Lavin, 2006-12-31 Marilyn Aronberg Lavin has taught the history of art at Washington University the University of Maryland Yale Princeton and Università di Roma La Sapienza Specializing in Italian 13th 16th century painting she is internationally known for her books and articles on Piero della Francesca Her other books include The Place of Narrative Mural Painting in Italian Churches 431 1600 AD and Seventeenth Century Barberini Documents and Inventories of Art both of which were recipients of international prizes for distinguished scholarship She is one of the leaders in the use of computers and digitized imagery for research teaching and publication in the history of art This book offers a series of case studies intended to introduce and define an important class of fifteenth century Italian art not previously recognized It is argued that the paintings and sculptures discussed were created privately by artists for personal satisfaction and internal needs outside the traditional framework of patronage and commercial gain Since there is no direct documentation from this period of a work being privately made the selection presented here is necessarily speculative Instead the essays focus on works by Piero della Francesca Mantegna Michelangelo Bellini and Titian that appear in the artists testaments letters of refusals to sell and inventories showing ownership at the time of death The task at hand is to uncover the motivation and meaning of works of art in which the medieval craftsman began to rise to the status of independent artist and the maker and the viewer confront each other face to face for the first time

Giorgio Vasari Patricia Lee Rubin, Maurice Rubin, 1995-01-01 Vasari's Lives of the Painters Sculptors and Architects are and always have been central texts for the study of the Italian Renaissance They can and should be read in many ways Since their publication in the mid sixteenth century they have been a source of both information and pleasure Their immediacy after more than four hundred years is a measure of Vasari's success He wished the artists of his day himself included to be famous He made the association of artistry and genius of renaissance and the arts so familiar that they now seem inevitable In this book Patricia Rubin argues that both the inevitability and the immediacy should be questioned To read Vasari without historical perspective results in a limited and distorted view of The Lives Rubin shows that Vasari had distinct ideas about the nature of his task as a biographer about the importance of interpretation judgment and example about the historian's art Vasari's principles and practices as a writer are examined here as are their sources in Vasari's experiences as an artist

The Projective Cast Robin Evans, 2000-08-25 Robin Evans recasts the idea of the relationship between geometry and architecture drawing on mathematics engineering art history and aesthetics to uncover processes in the imagining and realizing of architectural form Anyone reviewing the history of architectural theory Robin Evans observes would have to conclude that architects do not produce geometry but rather consume it In this long awaited book completed shortly before its author's death Evans recasts the idea of the relationship between geometry and architecture drawing on mathematics engineering art history and aesthetics to uncover processes in the imagining and realizing of architectural form He shows that geometry does not always play a stolid and dormant role but in fact may be an active agent in the links between thinking and imagination imagination and drawing drawing and building He suggests a theory of architecture that is based on the many transactions between architecture and geometry as evidenced in individual buildings largely in Europe from the fifteenth to the twentieth century From the Henry VII chapel at Westminster Abbey to Le Corbusier's Ronchamp from Raphael's St Eligio and the work of Piero della Francesca and Philibert Delorme to Guarino Guarini and the painters of cubism Evans explores the geometries involved asking whether they are in fact the stable underpinnings of the creative intuitive or rhetorical aspects of architecture In particular he concentrates on the history of architectural projection the geometry of vision that has become an internalized and pervasive pictorial method of construction and that until now has played only a small part in the development of architectural theory Evans describes the ambivalent role that pictures play in architecture and urges resistance to the idea that pictures provide all that architects need suggesting that there is much more within the scope of the architect's vision of a project than what can be drawn He defines the different fields of projective transmission that concern architecture and investigates the ambiguities of projection and the interaction of imagination with projection and its metaphors
