Metaphors for Interdependence Nicholaos Jones, 2025-05-30 Fazang 643 712 third patriarch of the Huayan tradition of Buddhism was one of the most celebrated and influential thinkers in the history of Chinese Buddhist philosophy Much of his renown derives from his efforts to articulate a vision of reality as a realm of thoroughgoing interdependence For Fazang the smallest grain of sand contains the largest mountain and even the most distant star is inseparable from the lowliest of insects In Metaphors for Interdependence Nicholaos Jones develops a rigorous and accessible examination of Fazang's metaphysical vision The first part of the book explains Fazang's conceptual framework and the precise language he uses to articulate his vision The explanations show how Fazang's terminology derives from and sometimes departs from contributions by influential predecessors in Indian and Chinese traditions of Buddhism The explanations also use engaging examples to illustrate Fazang's more difficult concepts The second part of the book develops incisive interpretations for Fazang's metaphors of Indra's net counting coins and the integrated building The interpretations show how each metaphor illustrates an aspect of Fazang's metaphysical vision and how each relates to similar metaphors in prior Buddhist writings The interpretations also reveal intriguing and hitherto unexplored connections between Fazang's metaphors and Buddhist approaches to optical theory breathing meditation and architecture Taken together Jones's explanations and interpretations demonstrate the coherence and attraction of Fazang's vision challenge facile conceptions of interdependence and invite readers to reconsider a range of common metaphysical assumptions

Muqarnas, Volume 24 Gülru Necipoglu,2007-12-31 Muqarnas is sponsored by The Aga Khan Program for Islamic Architecture at Harvard University and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Cambridge Massachusetts In Muqarnas articles are being published on all aspects of Islamic visual culture historical and contemporary as well as articles dealing with unpublished textual primary sources Art, Religion, and Politics in Medieval China Qiang Ning,2004-03-31 The cave temple complex popularly known as the Dunhuang caves is the world s largest extant repository of Tang Buddhist art Among the best preserved of the Dunhuang caves is the Zhai Family Cave built in 642 It is this remarkable cave temple that forms the focus of Ning Qiang s cross disciplinary exploration of the interrelationship of art religion and politics during the Tang The author combines in his careful examination of the paintings and sculptures found there the historical study of pictures with the pictorial study of history By employing this two fold approach he is able to refer to textual evidence in interpreting the formal features of the cave temple paintings and to employ visual details to fill in the historical gaps inevitably left by text oriented scholars The result is a comprehensive analysis of the visual culture of the period and a vivid description of social life in medieval China The original Zhai Family Cave pictures were painted over in the tenth century and remained hidden until the early 1940s Once exposed the early artwork appeared fresh and colorful in comparison with other

Tang paintings at Dunhuang The relatively fine condition of the Zhai Family Cave is crucial to our understanding of the original pictorial program found there and offers a unique opportunity to investigate the visual details of the original paintings and sculptures in the cave At the same time the remaining traces of reconstruction and redecoration provide a new perspective on how for over three centuries a wealthy Chinese clan used its familial cave as a political showcase
