

JOHN B. KEANE

The background is a complex collage. At the top, the author's name is in large yellow letters on a dark blue rectangular field. Below this, a fountain pen with a silver nib and a black barrel is positioned diagonally across the center. To the left of the pen is a map showing a coastline. A red ribbon is draped across the lower left. In the bottom right, there is a small, tilted sign with text. The overall aesthetic is that of a vintage book cover.

This collection of short stories explores the survival of the fittest in the hardship and poverty of a remote village in Matabeleland Bongani Sibanda draws his characters and their situations with a sardonic eye and caustic humour Sibanda satirises churches which enrich their leaders with the tithes of the poor and draws our attention to self proclaimed pastors who use the gospel of nationalism and patriotism to persuade their congregants to desist from supporting opposition politics The church is also a source of the villagers weekly entertainment with its cleansing ceremonies and the interrogation of witches belief has a place but so too does theatre Patriarchy family hierarchies and the traditional position of women and children all fall under Sibandas wry but compassionate scrutiny We feel an intimacy with the villagers as we learn about how they cope with no self pity little ambition but a fierce determination to survive Racing the Hunter's Moon Sally Clements,2014-08-18 Pretending to be a couple may drive them crazy Feisty mechanic Betty Smith should have only one thing on her mind catching the conman who swindled her mother Not the sexy stranger who kissed her then completely disappeared Undercover FBI agent Joe Carter needs to focus on the bad guy who got away not the gorgeous headstrong brunette who watches too many cop shows and keeps interfering in his case Unfortunately catching their prey before he skips town means working together But while entering the vintage car rally as a couple seemed like a good idea at the time faking feelings for each other turns out to be the easiest part Neither one can allow anything to get in their way but staying away from each other is impossible They both know though once their plan is complete so is their time together Dust and Other Stories T'aejun Yi,2018-04-24 Yi T'aejun was one of twentieth century Korea's true masters of the short story and a man who in 1946 stunned his contemporaries by moving to the Soviet occupied northern zone of his country In South Korea where he is known today as one who went north Yi's work was banned until 1988 His momentous decision did not lead him to a safe haven however though initially welcomed into the literary establishment North Korea sent him into internal exile in the 1950s and little is known of his fate Dust and Other Stories offers a selection of Yi's stories across time and place showcasing a superb stylist caught up in the midst of his era's most urgent ideological and aesthetic divides This collection unites his earlier modernist masterpieces from the colonial era with his little known work penned during North Korea's founding years offering a rare glimpse into the making and crossing of the border between south and north During the turbulent final years of Japanese rule Yi's elegant yet subdued stories championed both his native tongue and the belief in the capacity of art In the heavily politicized environment of the North his later works maintain a faith in the art of storytelling and a concern for the disappearance of customs in the throes of modernization Throughout both eras Yi focused on ordinary people old men struggling to understand a changing world lovers meeting up among ancient ruins a lively widow targeted by a literacy campaign a bourgeois couple trying to sustain themselves during the war by breeding rabbits and more Magnificently translated by Janet Poole Yi's work bears witness to global turmoil with a melancholic sense of enduring beauty The Mammoth Book of Paranormal Romance: Volumes 1 and 2 Trisha Telep,2012-08-30 Paranormal romance was never
