Making African Diaspora Americas 1441 19:

The Making of the African Diaspora in the Americas, 1441-1900 Vincent Bakpetu Thompson, 1987 This work examines the core period of the African diaspora in the Americas The author confronts myths surrounding the ethos of this diaspora which were induced by the mercantilist preoccupations of Western Europe The entire period is portrayed as a battle between two conflicting and opposite strategies that of the slavocracy and that of the enslaved Africans culminating in the conversion of the French colony of St Domingue into the revolutionary state of Haiti The author suggests that Haiti because of its position in the midst of hostile slave societies provided inspiration for the antislavery crusade in both its particularistic and its international aspects The epilogue provides a glimpse into the author's second book on the divergent perceptions in the early evolution of leadership in the African diaspora in the Americas Amazon.com viewed Oct 26 2022 The African Diaspora Patrick Manning, 2009-05-19 Patrick Manning refuses to divide the African diaspora into the experiences of separate regions and nations Instead he follows the multiple routes that brought Africans and people of African descent into contact with one another and with Europe Asia and the Americas In weaving these stories together Manning shows how the waters of the Atlantic Ocean the Mediterranean Sea and the Indian Ocean fueled dynamic interactions among black communities and cultures and how these patterns resembled those of a number of connected diasporas concurrently taking shape across the globe Manning begins in 1400 and traces five central themes the connections that enabled Africans to mutually identify and hold together as a global community discourses on race changes in economic circumstance the character of family life and the evolution of popular culture His approach reveals links among seemingly disparate worlds In the mid nineteenth century for example slavery came under attack in North America South America southern Africa West Africa the Ottoman Empire and India with former slaves rising to positions of political prominence Yet at the beginning of the twentieth century the near elimination of slavery brought new forms of discrimination that removed almost all blacks from government for half a century Manning underscores the profound influence that the African diaspora had on world history demonstrating the inextricable link between black migration and the rise of modernity especially in regards to the processes of industrialization and urbanization A remarkably inclusive and far reaching work The African Diaspora proves that the advent of modernity cannot be imaginatively or comprehensively engaged without taking the African peoples and the African continent as a whole into account Slavery and its Legacy in Ghana and the Diaspora Rebecca Shumway, Trevor R. Getz, 2017-10-19 Ghana for all its notable strides toward more egalitarian political and social systems in the past 60 years remains a nation plagued with inequalities stemming from its long history of slavery and slave trading The work assembled in this collection explores the history of slavery in Ghana and its legacy for both Ghana and the descendants of people sold as slaves from the Gold Coast in the era of the transatlantic slave trade The volume is structured to reflect four overlapping areas of investigation the changing nature of slavery in Ghana including the ways in which enslaved people have been integrated into or excluded from kinship systems social institutions politics and the workforce over time the long standing connections forged between Ghana and the Americas and Europe through the transatlantic trading system and the forced migration of enslaved people the development of indigenous and transnational anti slavery ideologies and the legacy of slavery and its ongoing reverberations in Ghanaian and diasporic society Bringing together key scholars from Ghana Europe and the USA who introduce new sources frames and methodologies including heritage gender critical race and culture studies and drawing on archival documents and oral histories Slavery and Its Legacy in Ghana and the Diaspora will be of great interest to scholars and students of comparative slavery abolition and West African history

Rethinking American History in a Global Age Thomas Bender, 2002-05-14 In rethinking and reframing the American national narrative in a wider context the contributors to this volume ask questions about both nationalism and the discipline of history itself The essays offer fresh ways of thinking about the traditional themes and periods of American history By locating the study of American history in a transnational context they examine the history of nation making and the relation of the United States to other nations and to transnational developments What is now called globalization is here placed in a historical context A cast of distinguished historians from the United States and abroad examines the historiographical implications of such a reframing and offers alternative interpretations of large questions of American history ranging from the era of European contact to democracy and reform from environmental and economic development and migration experiences to issues of nationalism and identity But the largest issue explored is basic to all histories How does one understand teach and write a national history even as one recognizes that the territorial boundaries do not fully contain that history and that within that bounded territory the society is highly differentiated marked by multiple solidarities and identities Rethinking American History in a Global Age advances an emerging but important conversation marked by divergent voices many of which are represented here The various essays explore big concepts and offer historical narratives that enrich the content and context of American history The aim is to provide a history that more accurately reflects the dimensions of American experience and better connects the past with contemporary concerns for American identity structures of power and world presence

This comparative study uncovers the differences and similarities in the experiences of Black women enslaved in colonial Canada and Jamaica and demonstrates how differences in the exploitation of women's productive and reproductive labor caused slavery to falter in Canada and excel in the Caribbean The research suggests that while the majority of Black women enslaved in early Canada were domestics the majority of Jamaican women were field laborers often performing some of the most labor intensive work on the sugar plantations While the efforts of the planter class to increase the number of children born to Jamaican women were not completely successful reproduction seems to have been less of a concern in Canada where many Black women were often sold or freed because there was no use for them The Canadian slave context seems to have allowed a broader range of material comfort as well Despite obvious labor differences Black women in Canada and Jamaica rejected their chattel status and condition and resisted slavery similarly This study is unique in its desire and ability to place Black Canadian slave women at the center of research and then contextualize it with a Caribbean model
