Making Models:

Breaking and Making Models Christoph F. E. Holzhey ,Marietta Kesting,Claudia Peppel,2025-05-20 Practically anything can be a model of or for something else What characterizes models is rather their specific reductive relationality which often promotes understanding but is always generative rather than merely representational The essays in Breaking and Making Models engage with the normative and performative qualities of models their aesthetic and political dimensions and their world making potentials Bringing such perspectives into a broad interdisciplinary dialogue this book explores ways to work creatively with models Decision-Making Models Tofigh Allahviranloo,Witold Pedrycz,Amir

Seyyedabbasi,2024-07-24 Decision Making Models A Perspective of Fuzzy Logic and Machine Learning presents the latest developments in the field of uncertain mathematics and decision science The book aims to deliver a systematic exposure to soft computing techniques in fuzzy mathematics as well as artificial intelligence in the context of real life problems and is designed to address recent techniques to solving uncertain problems encountered specifically in decision sciences Researchers professors software engineers and graduate students working in the fields of applied mathematics software engineering and artificial intelligence will find this book useful to acquire a solid foundation in fuzzy logic and fuzzy systems optimization problems and artificial intelligence practices as well as how to analyze IoT solutions with applications and develop decision making mechanisms realized under uncertainty Introduces mathematics of intelligent systems which provides the usage of mathematical rigor such as precise definitions theorems results and proofs Provides extended and new comprehensive methods which can be used efficiently in a fuzzy environment as well as optimization problems and related fields Covers applications and elaborates on the usage of the developed methodology in various fields of industry such as software technologies biomedicine image processing and communications Big Data Analytics Using Multiple Criteria

Dynamics of decision making: from evidence to preference and belief Erica Yu, David A. Lagnado, 2014-10-24 At the core of the many debates throughout cognitive science concerning how decisions are made are the processes governing the time course of preference formation and decision From perceptual choices such as whether the signal on a radar screen indicates an enemy missile or a spot on a CT scan indicates a tumor to cognitive value based decisions such as selecting an agreeable flatmate or deciding the guilt of a defendant significant and everyday decisions are dynamic over time Phenomena such as decoy effects preference reversals and order effects are still puzzling researchers For example in a legal context jurors receive discrete pieces of evidence in sequence and must integrate these pieces together to reach a singular verdict From a standard Bayesian viewpoint the order in which people receive the evidence should not influence their final decision and yet order effects seem a robust empirical phenomena in many decision contexts Current research on how decisions unfold especially in a dynamic environment is advancing our theoretical understanding of decision making This Research Topic aims to review and further explore the time course of a decision from how prior beliefs are formed to how those beliefs are used and updated over time towards the formation of preferences and choices and post decision processes and effects Research literatures encompassing varied approaches to the time scale of decisions will be brought into scope a Speeded decisions and post decision processes that require the accumulation of noisy and possibly non stationary perceptual evidence e g randomly moving dots stimuli within a few seconds with or without temporal uncertainty b Temporally extended value based decisions that integrate feedback values e g gambling machines and internally generated decision criteria e g when one switches attention selectively between the various aspects of several choice alternatives c Temporally extended belief based decisions that build on the integration of evidence which interacts with the decision maker s belief system towards the updating of the beliefs and the formation of judgments and preferences as in the legal context Research that emphasizes theoretical concerns including optimality analysis and mechanisms underlying the decision process both neural and cognitive is presented as well as research that combines experimental and computational levels of analysis

Twenty-one Mental Models That Can Change Policing Renée J. Mitchell,2021-09-16 This book goes beyond other police leadership books to teach practitioners how to think about policing in a structured way that synthesizes criminological theory statistics research design applied research and what works and what doesn t in policing into Mental Models A Mental Model is a representation of how something works Using a Mental Model framework to simplify complex concepts readers will take away an in depth understanding of how cognitive biases affect our ability to understand and interpret data what empirical research says about effective police interventions how statistical data should be structured for management meetings and how to evaluate interventions for efficiency and effectiveness While evidence based practice is critical to advancing the police profession it is limited in scope and is only part of what is necessary to support sustainable change in policing Policing requires a scientifically based framework to understand and interpret data in a way that minimizes cognitive bias to allow for better responses to complex problems Data and research have advanced so rapidly in the last several decades that it is difficult for even the most ambitious of police leaders to keep pace The Twenty one Mental Models were synthesized to create a framework for any police public or community leader to better understand how cognitive bias contributes to misunderstanding data and gives the reader the tools to overcome those biases to better serve their communities The book is intended for a wide range of audiences including law enforcement and community leaders scholars and policy experts who specialize in policing students of criminal justice organizations and management reporters and journalists individuals who aspire to police careers and citizen consumers of information about policing Anyone who is going to make decisions about their communities based on data has a responsibility to be numerate and this book Twenty one Mental Models That Can Change Policing A Framework For Using Data and Research For Overcoming Cognitive Bias will help you become just that

Ethical Practice in Social Work Michael

Collingridge,Steven Curry,2020-07-17 This innovative text shows why ethics is so important for social work practice that it is not simply a way of defining and understanding what is good in practice but is a means by which social work and other caring professions can actually achieve good practice Professor Richard Hugman University of NSW This book integrates ethical theory and political philosophy into a clear yet challenging framework for ethical action in social work Firmly grounded in practice examples it will be of great interest both to students and practitioners in the field Professor Sarah Banks Durham University In an increasingly fragmented and regulated world the authors of Ethical Practice in Social Work argue that social work has become detached from its ethical roots Their aim is to reinstate ethics as the driving force of good social work and welfare practice Ethical Practice in Social Work provides the tools to develop essential ethical decision making and problem solving skills Taking an applied approach with case studies in each chapter the authors demonstrate how ethical principles can be used to transform practice into an effective inclusive and empowering process for both professionals and their clients They discuss the ethical principles social workers have traditionally adhered to the role of the good social worker in the contemporary context professionalism and the way in which ethics can be used to reconcile the often differing demands of employers community groups clients the profession and their own personal values Ethical Practice in Social Work is a valuable professional reference and student text

Ethical Decision Making for the 21st Century Counselor Donna S.

Sheperis, Stacy L. Henning, Michael M. Kocet, 2015-09-16 Ethical practice is an essential aspect of counselor training. In order for counselors to competently work with clients, they must be well versed in ethical codes, ethical decision making, and legal issues impacting the profession. Ethical Decision Making for the 21st Century Counselor provides the fundamentals of ethical practice with emphasis on ethical decision making and is structured to facilitate the development of these skills. Authors Donna S. Sheperis, Stacy L. Henning, and Michael M. Kocet move the reader through a developmental process of understanding and applying ethical decision making. Individuals will be able to incorporate ethical practice into their understanding of the counseling process and integrate ethical decision making models into their counseling practice. This unique approach differs from existing texts because of its strong emphasis on practical decision making and focus on understanding the process of applying a standard ethical decision model to any ethical scenario. Students build a foundation in how to evaluate an ethical situation and feel confident that they have applied a set of decision models to reach the best decision. Models in Environmental Regulatory Decision Making National Research Council, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Environmental Studies and Toxicology, Committee on Models in the Regulatory Decision Process, 2007-07-25 Many regulations issued by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) are based on the results of computer models. Models help EPA explain environmental phenomena in settings where direct observations are limited or unavailable and anticipate the effects of agency policies on the environment, human health, and the economy. Given the critical role played by models, the EPA asked the National Research Council to assess scientific issues related to the agency's selection and use of models in its decisions. The book recommends a series of guidelines and principles for improving agency models and decision-making processes. The centerpiece of the book's recommended vision is a life cycle approach to model evaluation which includes peer review, corroboration of results, and other activities. This will enhance the agency's ability to respond to requirements from a 2001 law on information quality and improve policy development and implementation.
