The United Kingdom's Future Nuclear Deterrent Capability Great Britain. National Audit Office,2008 The programme aims to maintain the UK s nuclear deterrent beyond the life of the current system with the introduction into service of the first of a new class of submarines in 2024 The timetable is challenging and the MoD needs to manage key risks if continuous nuclear deterrence is to be maintained The current two year initial concept phase for the new class of submarines requires a series of important and difficult decisions to be taken by September 2009 to keep the programme on track The MoD has appointed a Senior Responsible Owner to co ordinate these decisions The current predicted cost of procuring the new nuclear deterrent is between 15 billion and 20 billion 2006 7 prices as outlined in the 2006 White Paper The future of the UK s nuclear deterrent Cm 6994 ISBN 9780101699426 The estimated operating costs once the new class of submarines comes into operation are similar to those of the current deterrent and the MoD recognises the need by September 2009 to produce robust estimates of whole life costs There are major areas of uncertainty in the budget including the provision for contingency and VAT The submarine industry is a highly specialised industrial sector with a number of monopoly suppliers and there are real difficulties in providing the right incentives for these suppliers to deliver to time and budget The tight timetable set for ensuring the seamless transition from the present Vanguard class of submarines to the future class is challenging A further risk to the programme is a shortage of nuclear related skills in industry and within MoD potentially aggravated by competition from civil nuclear projects

The Constitution of the United Kingdom Peter Leyland, 2016-06-02. This acclaimed book provides a topical and contextual outline of the principles, doctrines and institutions that underpin the United Kingdom constitution. The third edition of The Constitution of the United Kingdom has been comprehensively revised and updated to take account of recent constitutional developments and debates. This includes the revised framework for devolution following the 2014 referendum in Scotland, the constitutional ramifications of the realignment of UK politics reflected in the result of the 2015 general election and the debate over the possible replacement of the Human Rights Act 1998 with a British Bill of Rights. The chapters are written in sufficient detail for anyone coming to the subject for the first time to develop a clear and informed view of how the constitution is arranged and how it operates. The main themes include discussion of the history, sources and conventions of the constitution; later chapters deal with constitutional principles, the role of the Crown, Parliament and the electoral system, government and the executive, the constitutional role of courts including the protection of human rights, the territorial distribution of power between central, devolved and local government and the European Union dimension. In addition, the book offers analysis of the evolution of the uncodified UK constitution, its strengths and perceived weaknesses and of reforms aimed at its modernisation.
