Shanghai Homes Jie Li,2014-11-18 In the dazzling global metropolis of Shanghai what has it meant to call this city home In this account part microhistory part memoir Jie Li salvages intimate recollections by successive generations of inhabitants of two vibrant culturally mixed Shanghai alleyways from the Republican Maoist and post Mao eras Exploring three dimensions of private life territories artifacts and gossip Li re creates the sounds smells look and feel of home over a tumultuous century First built by British and Japanese companies in 1915 and 1927 the two homes at the center of this narrative were located in an industrial part of the former International Settlement

Before their recent demolition they were nestled in Shanghai's labyrinthine alleyways which housed more than half of the city's population from the Sino Japanese War to the Cultural Revolution Through interviews with her own family members as well as their neighbors classmates and co workers Li weaves a complex social tapestry reflecting the lived experiences of ordinary people struggling to absorb and adapt to major historical change These voices include workers intellectuals Communists Nationalists foreigners compradors wives concubines and children who all fought for a foothold and haven in this city witnessing spectacles so full of farce and pathos they could only be whispered as secret histories
