The Sistani Cycle of Epics and Iran's National History Saghi Gazerani, 2015-11-16 This work examines the entire corpus of the Sistani Cycle of Epics both parts included in Ferdowsi's Shahnameh and those appearing in separate manuscripts It argues that the so called epic literature of Iran constitutes a kind of historiography encapsulating reflections of watershed events of Iran's antiquity By examining the symbiotic relationship of the texts content and form the underpinning discourse of the various stories is revealed to have been shaped by polemics of political legitimacy and religious conflict This discourse however is not abstract The stories narrate within their generic constraint some of the affairs of the Sistani kingdom and its relationship to the Parthian throne mainly from the first century BCE to the end of the second century CE

The Living Age, 1914 Where Have All the Heroes Gone? Bruce Garen Peabody, Krista Jenkins, 2017 Where Have All the Heroes Gone provides an analysis of heroism's application and meaning among political and media elites as well as the mass public over the past fifty years In asking what has happened to American heroes over this span it explores how heroes are used strategically by governing officials and providers of media content in ways that are frequently divergent from and even directly opposed to popular expectations

European Heroes Pierre Lanfranchi, Richard Holt, J A Mangan, 2013-09-13 Historians of popular culture have recently been addressing the role of myth and now it is time that social historians of sport also examined it The contributors to this collection of essays explore the symbolic meanings that have been attached to sport in Europe by considering some of the mythic heroes who have dominated the sporting landscapes of their own countries The ambition is to understand what these icons stood for in the eyes of those who watched or read about these vessels into which poured all manner of gender class and patriotic expectations
