Making Of Mission Community:

The Making of Mission Communities in East Africa Robert W. Strayer, 1978-01-01 The Making of Mission Communities in East Africa calls into question a number of common assumptions about the encounter between European missionaries and African societies in colonial Kenya The book explores the origins of those communities associated with the Anglican Church Missionary Society from 1875 to 1935 examines the development within them of a mission culture probes their internal conflicts and tensions and details their relationship to the larger colonial society Professor Strayer argues that genuinely religious issues were important in the formation of these communities that missionaries were ambivalent in their attitudes toward modernizing change and the colonial state alike and that mission communities possessed substantial attractions even in the face of competition with independent churches Dr John Lonsdale of Trinity College Cambridge has said that It is a sensitive piece of revisionist history which breaks down the simple dichotomy of missions and Africans commonly found in earlier historiographies and even in the period of profound crisis over female circumcision in Kikuyuland In this Professor Strayer shows convincingly how mission communities could be preserved from destruction by principled divisions between Africans as much as between their white missionaries He has pursued themes rather than events and has therefore been able to make remarkably intimate observations of mission communities which were following their own internal patterns of growth yet within the context of a deepening situation of colonial dependence Church for Every Context Michael Moynagh, 2014-04-15 The first comprehensive textbook on the theology and methodology of Fresh Expressions one of the most important developments within the contemporary church Making Disciples in the Congregation Paul Versluis, 2018-09-07 Building Community Capacity Robert J. Chaskin, This book focuses on a gap in current social work practice theory community change Much work in this area of macro practice particularly around grassroots community organizing has a somewhat dated feel to it is highly ideological in orientation or suffers from superficiality particularly in the area of theory and practical application Set against the context of an often narrowly constructed clinical emphasis on practice education coupled with social work's own current rendering of scientific management community practice often takes second or third billing in many professional curricula despite its deep roots in the overall field of social welfare Drawing on extensive case study data from three significant community building initiatives program data from numerous other community capacity building efforts key informant interviews and an excellent literature review Chaskin and his colleagues draw implications for crafting community change strategies as well as for creating and sustaining the organizational infrastructure necessary to support them The authors bring to bear the perspectives of a variety of professional disciplines including sociology urban planning psychology and social work Building Community Capacity takes a collaborative interdisciplinary approach to a subject of wide and current concern the role of neighborhood and community structures in the delivery of human services or as the authors put it a place where programs and problems can be fitted together Social work scholars and students of community practice seeking new conceptual frameworks and insights from research to inform novel community interventions will find much of value in Building Community Capacity

The Making of Manhood Among Swedish Missionaries in China and Mongolia, C. 1890-c. 1914 Erik Sidenvall, 2009 Over the last thirty years issues of gender have been creatively explored within the field of mission studies Whereas the life and work of female missionaries have been fruitfully reflected upon male gender identity has often been understood as an unchanging category This book offers a pioneering account of the relationship between missionary work and masculinity By examining four individual men this study explores how self making occurred within foreign missions but also how conceptions of male gender informed missionary work Changes that occurred in the lives of these men are placed within the broader context of how issues of gender were renegotiated within the contemporary missionary movement Missionary Encounters Robert A. Bickers, Rosemary Seton, 2013-11-05 Describes the exceptional wealth of missionary archives and the major contributions they can make not only to the study of the processes of Christian evangelism and Western imperialism but also their value in documenting and analysing the nature of Western encounters with indigenous societies Handbook of American Indians North of Mexico: N-Z Frederick Webb Hodge, 1910 Building Community Capacity Avis Vidal, 2017-09-29 This book focuses on a gap in current social work practice theory community change Much work in this area of macro practice particularly around grassroots community organizing has a somewhat dated feel to it is highly ideological in orientation or suffers from superficiality particularly in the area of theory and practical application Set against the context of an often narrowly constructed clinical emphasis on practice education coupled with social work's own current rendering of scientific management community practice often takes second or third billing in many professional curricula despite its deep roots in the overall field of social welfare Drawing on extensive case study data from three significant community building initiatives program data from numerous other community capacity building efforts key informant interviews and an excellent literature review Chaskin and his colleagues draw implications for crafting community change strategies as well as for creating and sustaining the organizational infrastructure necessary to support them The authors bring to bear the perspectives of a variety of professional disciplines including sociology urban planning psychology and social work Building Community Capacity takes a collaborative interdisciplinary approach to a subject of wide and current concern the role of neighborhood and community structures in the delivery of human services or as the authors put it a place where programs and problems can be fitted together Social work scholars and students of community practice seeking new conceptual frameworks and insights from research to inform novel community interventions will find much of value in Building Community Capacity Juvenile Justice John T. Whitehead, Steven P. Lab, 2018-07-11 Juvenile Justice An Introduction Ninth Edition presents a comprehensive picture of juvenile offending delinquency theories and the ways juvenile justice actors and agencies react to delinquency Whitehead and Lab offer evidence based suggestions for successful interventions and treatment and examine the prospects for rebalancing the model of juvenile court This new edition includes insightful analysis and the latest available statistics on juvenile crime and victimization drug use court processing and corrections Recent developments include the possible influence of biosocial factors on delinquency use of social media both for recruiting gang members and for combatting gangs new probation models responses to cyberbullying the renewed emphasis on status offenses the implications of drug legalization police shootings and specialty courts for teens and those with mental illness Chapter 12 has been recast to cover specific information on prevention programs in addition to restorative justice approaches Each chapter enhances student understanding with Key Terms a What You Need to Know section and Discussion Questions Links at key points in the text show students where to get the latest information challenge for the church to recover its missional call right here in North America while also offering the tools to help it do so. The authors examine North America's secular culture and the church's loss of dominance in today's society. They then present a biblically based theology that takes seriously the church's missional vocation and draw out the consequences of this theology for the structure and institutions of the church. Franciscan Missions and the Chumash Uprising Robert H. Jackson, 2025-02-23. Between 1769 and 1834, Franciscan missionaries from the Apostolic College of San Fernando in Mexico City administered missions in what today is California. The Franciscans attempted to convert the indigenous peoples to Catholicism and reshape their society and culture along with European norms. In 1824, three years after Mexico gained its independence from Spain, Chumash neophytes rebelled following the flogging by a Mexican soldier of a neophyte at Mission Santa Inés. The rebellion quickly spread to two other missions and lasted a month until soldiers defeated the rebels. This book analyzes the long and short term causes of the uprising and the larger historical context. It focuses on the development of Mission La Purísima Concepción where the rebellion lasted the longest. A root cause of the uprising was deteriorating conditions of life on the missions resulting from the outbreak of the independence war in Mexico in 1810. New Century in Waterbury, Vermont, A: Stories of Resilience, Growth & Community The Waterbury Historical Society, 2022. Waterbury is known as both a beautiful vacation spot and a great place to live. Since 2000, this historic town has experienced unique challenges, all of which have been met by a sense of resiliency and determination. Devastated from Tropical Storm Irene in 2011, Waterbury residents rallied together to rebuild their town and the local economy. Part of this revitalization included Waterbury emerging as a leader in the farm to table and craft beer movements as well as becoming a top tourist destination. Told by members of the community in their own words, this collection of stories gathered by the Waterbury Historical Society captures the essence of Waterbury's community and illustrates its ability to persist and celebrate in the face of adversity. Resources in Education, 1993-10. Making Jesus Attractive Gretchen Schoon Tanis, 2016-02-02. Making Jesus Attractive is an in-depth look at the history and theology of this parachurch organization dedicated to ministry with young people Beginning with the theological background of founder Jim Rayburn and moving through the decades of the ministry this book examines not only the articulated theological statements of the organization but the lived theology as well This book provides a thorough overview of the theological underpinnings of the Young Life organization and challenges their model of an attractive Christianity providing insights that could be utilized by all youth ministry workers
