studies and semiotic theory The authors originating from Austria Germany Luxembourg Trinidad Turkey and the US invite readers to join the conversation and sustain the work The Machine Question David J. Gunkel, 2017-09-08 An investigation into the assignment of moral responsibilities and rights to intelligent and autonomous machines of our own making One of the enduring concerns of moral philosophy is deciding who or what is deserving of ethical consideration Much recent attention has been devoted to the animal question consideration of the moral status of nonhuman animals In this book David Gunkel takes up the machine question whether and to what extent intelligent and autonomous machines of our own making can be considered to have legitimate moral responsibilities and any legitimate claim to moral consideration The machine question poses a fundamental challenge to moral thinking questioning the traditional philosophical conceptualization of technology as a tool or instrument to be used by human agents Gunkel begins by addressing the question of machine moral agency whether a machine might be considered a legitimate moral agent that could be held responsible for decisions and actions He then approaches the machine question from the other side considering whether a machine might be a moral patient due legitimate moral consideration Finally Gunkel considers some recent innovations in moral philosophy and critical theory that complicate the machine question deconstructing the binary agent patient opposition itself Technological advances may prompt us to wonder if the science fiction of computers and robots whose actions affect their human companions think of HAL in 2001 A Space Odyssey could become science fact Gunkel's argument promises to influence future considerations of ethics ourselves and the other entities who inhabit this world Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1997 Whitaker's Books in Print ,1998 Index to Book Reviews in Religion ,1996 Arts & Humanities Citation Index ,1997 Comprehensive Dissertation Index ,1989 Minimalism W. S. Hatcher, 2004-07-01 During the axial period of classical Greek philosophy roughly 500 200 B C E philosophers posed virtually every question that it is possible to ask concerning the world humanity God and the meaning of life Different schools of philosophy gave different answers to these questions Some of these answers have proved wrong e g Aristotle's contention that rest is the natural state of motion of a physical body some have proved true e g Archimedes principle and some remain speculative e g whether or not matter is infinitely divisible In the modern period beginning with Descartes and his method empirical investigation of the world replaced rational speculation about the world as the prime mover of philosophical including scientific thought Empirical science is bottom up beginning with concrete observation and then moving inductively to general abstract laws and principles whereas classical philosophy and metaphysics are typically top down starting with certain abstract general principles and then moving deductively towards application to the concrete However empirical science has been increasingly mathematized especially after the 19th 20th century discovery of the new and powerful logic of relations classical Aristotlean logic was only attributional not relational This highly mathematized empirical science now finds itself facing the same questions posed by classical philosophy Minimalism is the name given by Professor Hatcher to his method of applying modern relational logic retroactively to problems in classical philosophy such as the existence and nature of God The answers obtained by a persistent application of this method are seen to coincide remarkably with the answers to these same questions found in the Sacred Scriptures of the Bah Faith Thus with respect to fundamental issues of philosophy Hatcher s minimalism seems to constitute an empirical logical approach parallel and complementary to the exegetical study of the Bah Writings themselves

The Ending of Time Jiddu Krishnamurti, 2014-10-28 The provocative and penetrating philosophical classic of science and spirituality a discourse between the revered spiritual leader Krishnamurti and renowned physicist Dr David Bohm exploring the origin of human conflict and what we can do about the barriers that stand in the way of insight and consciousness now revised and updated with a new introduction and added dialogues The Ending of Time is a series of important and enlightening dialogues in which Jiddu Krishnamurti and Dr David Bohm men from vastly different backgrounds in philosophy and physics respectively debate profound existential questions that illuminate the fundamental nature of existence probing topics such as insight illusion awakening transcendence renewal morality the temporal and the spiritual Along the way Krishnamurti and Bohm explore a person s relationship to society and offer new insights on human thought death awakening self realization and the problem of the fragmented mind The Ending of Time also refers to the wrong turn humanity has taken a state that they argue can be corrected Though they insist that mankind can change fundamentally they warn that transformation requires going from one s narrow and particular interests toward the general and ultimately moving still deeper into that purity of compassion love and intelligence that originates beyond thought time and even emptiness This updated edition edited and revised in clear and engaging language includes a new introduction and a conversation previously published separately which examines The Future of Humanity
