

23 The Speech Community

PETER L. PATRICK

The speech community (SpCom), a core concept in empirical linguistics, is the intersection of many principal problems in sociolinguistic theory and method. I trace its history of development and divergence, survey general problems with contemporary notions, and discuss links to key issues in investigating language variation and change. I neither offer a new and correct definition nor reject the concept (both misguided efforts), nor exhaustively survey its applications in the field (an impossibly large task).

1 General Problems with Speech Community as a Concept

Every branch of linguistics that is concerned with representative samples of a population; that takes individual speakers or experimental subjects as typical members of a group; that studies langue as attributable to a socially coherent body (whether or not it professes interest in the social nature of that body); or that takes as primitive such notions as “native speaker,” “competence/performance,” “acceptability,” etc., which manifestly refer to collective behavior, rests partially on a concept equivalent to the SpCom. Linguistic systems are exercised by speakers, in social space: there they are acquired, change, are manipulated for expressive or communicative purposes, undergo attrition, etc. Whether linguists prefer to focus on speakers, varieties or grammars, the problem of relating a linguistic system to its speakers is not trivial.

In studying language change and variation (geographical or social), reference to the SpCom is inescapable, yet there is remarkably little agreement or theoretical discussion of the concept in sociolinguistics, though it has often been defined. Some examples from research reports suggest the degree of its (over-)extension (Williams 1992: 71).

Philosophy And The Community Of Speech

Donald Stoll

Philosophy And The Community Of Speech:

Philosophy and the Community of Speech Donald Stoll, 1987 This book traces the emergence of abstract philosophical thought from the concrete concerns of everyday speech Studies of Plato and Hegel illustrate the fruits of reflection as well as the perils of alienation that are attached to abstract thought The book's central concern is the future of philosophy or what one ought to do to pursue wisdom Unlike many books which share the same concern this book returns to the roots of philosophy in search of clues to how to go on Written in a straightforward style minimizing the need for technical jargon this book should be of interest to anyone perplexed about the nature and aims of the philosophical vocation

Philosophy of Communication Ethics Ronald C. Arnett, Patricia Arneson, 2014-10-08 Philosophy of Communication Ethics is a unique and timely contribution to the study of communication ethics This series of essays articulates unequivocally the intimate connection between philosophy of communication and communication ethics This scholarly volume assumes that there is a multiplicity of communication ethics What distinguishes one communication ethic from another is the philosophy of communication in which a particular ethic is grounded Philosophy of communication is the core ingredient for understanding the importance of and the difference between and among communication ethics The position assumed by this collection is consistent with Alasdair MacIntyre's insights on ethics In A Short History of Ethics he begins with one principal assertion philosophy is subversive If one cannot think philosophically one cannot question taken for granted assumptions In the case of communication ethics to fail to think philosophically is to miss the bias prejudice and assumptions that constitute a given communication ethic

The Routledge Companion to Semiotics and Linguistics Paul Cobley, 2005-11-30 The Routledge Companion to Semiotics and Linguistics opens up the world of semiotics and linguistics for newcomers to the discipline and provides a useful ready reference for the more advanced student

The Oxford Handbook of Language and Race H. Samy Alim, Angela Reyes, Paul V. Kroskrity, 2020 Offers a sustained theoretical exploration of all aspects of language and race from a linguistic anthropological perspective Positions issues of race racism and racialization as central to language based scholarship Examines the process of racialization from an explicitly critical and anti racist perspective Includes new research and points the way forward for a rapidly expanding field

Our Knowledge of the Growth of Knowledge (Routledge Revivals) Peter Munz, 2014-06-27 Peter Munz a former student of both Popper and Wittgenstein begins his comparison of the two great twentieth century philosophers by explaining that since the demise of positivism there have emerged broadly speaking two philosophical options Wittgenstein with the absolute relativism of his theory that meaning is a function of language games and that social configurations are determinants of knowledge and Popper's evolutionary epistemology conscious knowledge is a special case of the relationship which exists between all living beings and their environments Professor Munz examines and rejects the Wittgensteinian position Instead Our Knowledge of the Growth of Knowledge first published in 1985 elaborates the potentially fruitful link between Popper's critical rationalism and Neo Darwinism Read in the light of the latter Popper's philosophy leads to the transformation of Kant's Transcendental Idealism into Hypothetical Realism whilst the emphasis on the biological orientation of Popper's thought helps to illumine some difficulties in Popper's falsificationism New Philosophies of Learning Ruth Cigman, Andrew Davis, 2009-06-15 Through a collection of contributions from an international team of empirical researchers and philosophers New Philosophies of Learning signals the need for a sharper critical awareness of the possibilities and problems that the recent spate of innovative learning techniques presents Explores some of the many contemporary innovations in approaches to learning including neuroscience and the focus on learners well being and happiness Debates the controversial approaches to categorising learners such as dyslexia Raises doubts about the preoccupation with quasi mathematical scrutiny and the neglect of ethical reflection about education Discusses the possible grounds for concern without exaggerating their similarities or offering sweeping judgements Includes contributions from empirical researchers and philosophers including Usha Goswami Howard Gardner Julian Elliott David Bakhurst John White and Christopher Winch Database and Expert Systems Applications Robert Wrembel, Gabriele Kotsis, A Min Tjoa, Ismail Khalil, 2025-09-21 The two volume set LNCS 16046 16047 constitutes the proceedings of the 36th International Conference on Database and Expert Systems Applications DEXA 2025 held in Bangkok Thailand in August 25 27 2025 The 35 full and 22 short papers presented in this set together with 3 invited talks were carefully reviewed and selected from 123 submissions They were organized in topical sections as follows Part I Industrial Keynote Invited Talks Large Language Models Data Quality Machine Learning Artificial Intelligence Applications Classification Techniques Part II Image Processing Analytics and Vision Systems Recommender Techniques Data Integration Optimisation Methods Graph Applications Analytics Security Privacy Benchmarks and Surveys The New Republic Herbert David Croly, 1919 British Idealism Colin Tyler, James Connelly, 2020-04-30 Bertrand Russell G E Moore and other analytic philosophers of the early 20th century claimed to depart from the British idealists who dominated philosophical debate from the 1870s onwards The nature and extent of this departure is now widely questioned as philosophers return to the writings of Bernard Bosanquet F H Bradley R G Collingwood T H Green J M E McTaggart and others Nowadays the British idealist movement is mostly remembered for its seminal contributions to metaphysics ethics and political philosophy The contributors to this volume explore some of the movement's other equally insightful contributions to the philosophies of language aesthetics and emotions These chapters cover core philosophical issues including the relationship between the speech communities and the general will the role of emotions in the Absolute key differences between leading British idealists on the relationships between emotions and relations the nature of love the historical re enactment of imagination and creativity expressivism in art and the actual idealism of the British idealists Italian counterparts This book was originally published as a special issue of the British Journal of the History of Philosophy Stanley Cavell Stephen Mulhall, 1999-01-07 Stephen Mulhall presents the first full

The Ethics of Interpretation Pol Vanderveelde, 2023-03-07 This book discusses the ethical dimension of the interpretation of texts and events Its purpose is not to address the neutrality or ideological biases of interpreters but rather to discuss the underlying issue of the intervention of interpreters into the process of interpretation. The author calls this intervention the ethical aspect of interpretation and argues that interpreters are neither neutral nor necessarily activists. He examines three models of interpretation all of which recognize the role that interpreters play in the process of interpretation. In these models the question of the truth or validity of interpretation is dependent upon the attitude of interpreters. These three models are 1 the principle of charity in interpretation in the two different versions defended by Hans Georg Gadamer and Donald Davidson 2 the production of truth as developed by Paul Ricoeur and Michel Foucault and 3 the regulative principle in interpretation as formal validity claims as presented by Karl Otto Apel and Jürgen Habermas and as benevolence or love as an epistemic virtue as defended by Friedrich Schlegel and Friedrich Schleiermacher. The critical discussion of these three models which brings to the fore the different manners in which interpreters intervene in the process of interpretation as persons lays the foundations for an ethics of interpretation. The Ethics of Interpretation will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in hermeneutics 19th and 20th century philosophy literary theory and cultural theory.

Essentials of Pentecostal Theology Tony Richie, 2020-01-20 Only a few decades past academia tended to scoff at the very idea of serious Pentecostal theology. Today profound and variegated theological implications of this dynamic movement are the object of exploration and development across the entire spectrum of the Christian theological corpus. Arguably an acute need has arisen for identification and evaluation of the Pentecostal movement's original and ongoing theological essentials. What is Pentecostal theology really all about anyway? This volume realizes that Pentecostal theology is at its heart a working theology undergirding and energizing believers' worship of God in prayer and praise in holy living and in witness to a personal experience of the risen Lord and Savior manifested in the continuing power of the Holy Spirit. Authentic implementation if not explicit articulation of fervent Pentecostal theology often occurs in the vitality of local churches, house fellowships and various mission settings in America and around the world. Birthed in the fires of revival movements, essential Pentecostalism including Pentecostal theology continues to burn brightest wherever it is fueled most directly.

Sub-Saharan Political Cultures of Deceit in Language, Literature, and the Media, Volume I Esther Mavengano, Isaac Mhute, 2023-11-18 This two-volume set charts a cross-disciplinary discursive terrain that proffers rich insights about deceit in contemporary postcolonial Sub-Saharan African politics. In an attempt to produce a nuanced and multi-faceted academic dialoguing platform, the two volumes have a particular focus on the aspects of treachery, fear of difference, oppositional politics and discourses, semiotics of misrepresentation. The major aim of the proposed volumes is to contribute toward the often problematised conversations about the unfolding postcolonial Sub-Saharan world which is topical in decolonial and Pan-African studies. The volumes seek to place political thinking and postcolonial political systems under the scholarly gaze with the view to highlight and enhance the participation of African cross-disciplinary scholarship in the postcolonial political processes of the continent. Most significantly, it is through such probing of the limitations of our own disciplinary perspectives which can help us appreciate the complexity of the postcolonial Sub Saharan African politics The first volume uses Zimbabwe as a case study while the second volume broadens to examine postcolonial politics in Sub Saharan Africa more broadly Nurturing Language Gerrit J. Dimmendaal,2022-11-07 This monograph introduces students and scholars in linguistics anthropology and intercultural communication to anthropological linguistics with a special focus on Africa Among the topics addressed are semantic fields such as kinship or colour terminology spatial orientation linguistic relativity and the link between language and cognition onomastics the ethnography of communication interactional sociolinguistics emotions im politeness strategies conversation analysis and non verbal communication
