Photography And Surrealism Sexuality Colonialism And Social Dialect:

Colonialist Photography Eleanor M. Hight, Gary D. Sampson, 2013-06-17 Colonialist Photography is an absorbing collection of essays and photographs exploring the relationship between photography and European and American colonialism. The book is packed with well over a hundred captivating images ranging from the first experiments with photography as a documentary medium up to the decolonization of many regions after World War II. Reinforcing a broad range of Western assumptions and prejudices, Eleanor M. Hight and Gary D. Sampson argue that such images often assisted in the construction of a colonial culture. The Passionate Camera Deborah Bright, 1998 This book brings together over 50 artists, scholars and critics to address a broad range of issues in photography and sexuality. Among the issues addressed by the contributors is the use and abuse of photographs in political campaigns and direct activism. We Were Here:

Sexuality, Photography, and Cultural Difference Sunil Gupta, 2022-09-20 We Were Here: Sexuality, Photography and Cultural Difference Selected essays by Sunil Gupta. "Orientalism, Eroticism and Modern Visuality in Global Cultures" Julie Codell, 2017-07-05 In Orientalism, Eroticism and Modern Visuality in Global Cultures, scholars look afresh at representations of nineteenth-century oriental bodies, inquiring deeply into their erotic dimensions, tracing their global dissemination at cross-cultural intersections of the visual and the political. Authors consider the impact of eroticized orientalist representations registered on racial and gendered bodies at historical moments across the globe in the media of photography, painting, prints and sculpture by contextualizing the visual within social practices, ethnography, literature, travel writing and the dynamics of imperialism. Authors examine orientalism's politico-erotic import across not only imperial Britain and France but also throughout India and the Middle East, initiating cross-cultural analyses of orientalism outside of Europe. Works studied include Orientalist and homoerotic works by canonical artists such as Ingres, Géricault, Delacroix and Girodet and lesser-known artists such as sculptor Raffaele Monti and painter Elisabeth Jerichau Baumann. Contributors explore Turkish and European writings, explorer Richard Burton's self-fashioning and popular Orientalist photography in India and the Middle East. Authors draw on methods from gender studies, semiotics, material culture and psychoanalysis to explore art, national identity, homoerotic subcultures, female agency, class, sexuality and colonialism. The book is directed to interdisciplinary scholars and students in art history, literature history and postcolonial studies. Colonial Photography and Exhibitions

Anne Maxwell, 1999 de la couverture This book investigates the historical practice of producing stereotyped spectacles of colonized peoples at the great exhibitions and in colonial photography and relates it to the shaping of European and settler identities. In doing so, it singles out the homogeneous aspects of colonialism's culture as well as distinguishing its discontinuities. By comparing the images produced in Britain and France with those produced in North America, Australia, New Zealand, the Pacific, Japan and China, it proposes that differences in representations of colonized peoples between the imperial centres and the colonies were the result of different social and political agendas. By focusing on the images connected to anthropology dying race theory travel tourism and portraiture Maxwell argues that while some photographs were directed at naturalizing the precept of colonialism others were used to criticize it and to empower indigenous subjects Written from a postcolonial perspective and pursuing an interdisciplinary approach this book will be of interest to scholars students and researchers intent on knowing more about the images of racial and cultural difference that shaped our immediate past
