Our Civilizing Mission Nicholas Harrison,2019-05-30 Our Civilizing Mission is both an exploration of colonial education and a response to current anxieties about the foundations of the humanities Focusing on the example of Algeria it asks what can be learned by treating colonial education not just as an example of colonialism but as a provocative uncomfortable example of education

The Novel and Europe Andrew Hammond,2016-10-05 This book examines the ways in which fiction has addressed the continent since the Second World War Drawing on novelists from Europe and elsewhere the volume analyzes the literary response to seven dominant concerns ideas of Europe conflict borders empire unification migration and marginalization offering a ground breaking study of how modern and contemporary writers have participated in the European debate The sixteen essays view the chosen writers not as representatives of national literatures but as participants in transcontinental discussion that has occurred across borders cultures and languages In doing so the contributors raise questions about the forms of power operating across and radiating from Europe challenging both the institutionalized divisions of the Cold War and the triumphalist narrative of continental unity currently being written in Brussels

The Routledge Companion to Global Comparative Literature Zhang Longxi,Omid Azadibougar,2025-04-29 The Routledge Companion to Global Comparative Literature is a collection of papers by influential scholars who are engaged in comparative literary studies and addresses a central and highly important question about the discipline if Eurocentrism has been integral to comparative literature and if the world we live in is undergoing radical changes then how can or should the discipline change to overcome this problem of the discipline as well as of literary history to accommodate non Western traditions Addressing this significant matter and taking different approaches in response to the state of the discipline the papers in this volume offer diverse ways of overcoming Eurocentrism the role of institutions and the changes they need to undergo possible ways of practicing a truly global comparative literature the history of the discipline outside Europe premodern histories of ideas and the non European origins of modernity translation orientalism and area studies publishing and literary circulation and modern technologies and their impact on literary dissemination and the discipline This collection assesses comparative literature at a timely historical moment and will broaden the field by addressing the students and scholars of comparative literary studies all over the world with significant hints for more inclusive histories of world literature The Colonization of Names Benjamin C. Brower, 2025-08-19

French colonization dismantled Algerian names Under the occupation that began in 1830 not only were Algerian towns and streets renamed in honor of French figures but personal names were forced to follow French conventions and norms Colonial authorities simplified and transformed Algerian names to suit their administrative and legal purposes crudely transcribing and transliterating Arabic and Berber They imposed a two part name and surname model that stripped away the extended family ties and social context inherent to precolonial naming practices This groundbreaking history of personal names in nineteenth century Algeria sheds new light on the symbolic violence of renaming and the relationship between language and colonialism Benjamin Claude Brower traces the changes Algerians personal names suffered during the colonial era and the consequences for individuals and society France's imposition of new names he argues destabilized Algerians sense of self and place in the community distorted local identities and compromised institutions such as the family Drawing on previously unstudied records Brower examines different northwestern African naming traditions and how colonialism changed them With the aid of literary and critical theory he develops new insights into the name and its relationship to power and subjectivity A rigorous theoretical and historical account of symbolic violence The Colonization of Names unveils many unseen forms of harm under colonial rule Autobiographical Identities in Contemporary Arab Culture Valerie Anishchenkova, 2014-07-16 Over the last 40 years autobiography in Arab societies has moved away from exemplary life narratives and toward more unorthodox techniques such as erotic memoir writing postmodernist self fragmentation cinematographic self projection and blogging Valerie Anishchenkova argues that the Arabic autobiographical genre has evolved into a mobile unrestricted category arming authors with narrative tools to articulate their selfhood Reading works from Arab nations such as Egypt Iraq Morocco Syria and Lebanon Anishchenkova connects the century's rapid political and ideological developments to increasing autobiographical experimentation in Arabic works The immense scope of her study also forces consideration of film and online forms of self representation and offers a novel theoretical framework to these various modes of autobiographical cultural production Algeria since 1989 James D. Le Sueur, 2013-04-04 Algeria's democratic experiment is seminal in post Cold War history The first Muslim nation to attempt the transition from an authoritarian system to democratic pluralism this North African country became a test case for reform in Africa the Arab world and beyond Yet when the country looked certain to become the world's first elected Islamic republic there was a military coup and the democratic process was brought sharply to a halt Islamists declared jihad on the state and hundreds of thousands of civilians were killed in the ensuing decade of state repression Le Sueur shows that Algeria is at the very heart of contemporary debates about Islam and secular democracy arguing that the stability of Algeria is crucial for the security of the wider Middle East Algeria Since 1989 is a lively and essential examination of how the fate of one country is entwined with much greater global issues Popa Singer René Depestre, 2024-04-26 The latest novel by one of Haiti's most brilliant writers The most recent book by the renowned Haitian novelist essayist and poet Ren Depestre Popa Singer is a semiautobiographical chronicle of Haiti in the late 1950s the very moment when the country first came under decades of despotic rule To celebrate her son's return home after years of exile Dianira Fontoriol aka Popa Singer an indomitable mother armed only with her sewing machine and her personal convictions determines to resist in her own way the infamous Ubu King of the Tropics Fran ois Papa Doc Duvalier Depestre's novel tells the story of this at once intimate and epic struggle Combining colorful fantasy and biting social satire it is a deeply personal and singularly artistic take on an infamous chapter in Haitian history The Abandoned Baobab Ken Bugul, 2008 Despite its unflinching look at our darkest impulses and at the stark facts of being a colonized African the book is ultimately inspirational for it exposes us to a remarkable sensibility and a hard won understanding of one's place in the world CARAF Books Caribbean and African Literature Translated from French Arabic as a Secret Song Leïla Sebbar, 2015-06-17 The celebrated and highly versatile writer Leïla Sebbar was born in French colonial Algeria but has lived nearly her entire adult life in France where she is recognized as a major voice on the penetrating effects of colonialism in contemporary society The dramatic contrast between her past and present is the subject of the nine autobiographical essays collected in this volume Written between 1978 and 2006 they trace a journey that began in Aflou Algeria where her father ran a schoolhouse and continued to France where Sebbar traveled alone as a graduate student before eventually realizing her powerful creative vision The pieces collected in this book capture an array of experiences sensations and sentiments surrounding the French colonial presence in Algeria and offer an intimate and prismatic reflection on Sebbar's bicultural upbringing as the child of an Algerian father and French mother Sebbar paints an unflinching portrait of her original disconnection from her father's Arabic language and culture depicting her struggle to revive a cultural heritage that her family had deliberately obscured and to convey the vibrant yet muted Arabic of her father and of Algeria Looking back from numerous vantage points throughout her life she presents the complicated and divisive dynamics of being raised between two shores the colonized and the colonizer CARAF Books Caribbean and African Literature Translated from French The Cambridge Companion to the City in Literature Kevin R.
