Sprinkle, Jr.,2014-03-05 In 1966 American historic preservation was transformed by the passage of the National Historic Preservation Act which created a National Register of Historic Places Now comprising more than 1 4 million historic properties across the country the National Register is the official federal list of places in the United States thought to be worthy of preservation One of the fundamental principles of the National Register is that every property is evaluated according to a standard set of criteria that provide the framework for understanding why a property is significant in American history The origins of these criteria are important because they provide the threshold for consideration by a broad range of federal preservation programs from planning for continued adaptive use to eligibility for grants and inclusion in heritage tourism and educational programs Crafting Preservation Criteria sets out these preservation criteria for students explaining how they got added to the equation and elucidating the test cases that allowed for their use From artworks to churches from the fifty year rule to the historic scene students will learn how places have been historically evaluated to be placed on the National Register and how the criteria evolved over time Rethinking Frank Lloyd Wright Neil Levine,Richard Longstreth,2023-03-03 Among the general public Frank Lloyd Wright remains the best known American architect of the twentieth century And yet his larger than life profile in the popular realm contrasts sharply with his near invisibility in academic and professional circles In Rethinking Frank Lloyd Wright Neil Levine and Richard Longstreth have assembled a group of eminent scholars to address this most puzzling paradox of the great architect s career In a series of engaging and well illustrated essays the contributors draw on their wide ranging understanding of modern architecture to reveal the ways in which Wright continues to play an instrumental role in domestic and international spheres making the case for reevaluating his popular and professional reputations Prompted by the transfer of the architect s archive from its home at Taliesin West in Scottsdale Arizona to the Avery Library at Columbia University and the Museum of Modern Art this volume revisits Wright s relevance for a contemporary audience ContributorsBarry Bergdoll Columbia University Daniel Bluestone Boston University Jean Louis Cohen New York University Cammie McAtee independent scholar Neil Levine Harvard University Dietrich Neumann Brown University Timothy M Rohan University of Massachusetts Amherst Richard Longstreth George Washington University Jack Quinan University at Buffalo Alice Thomine Berrada cole des Beaux Arts Moving a House with Preservation in Mind Peter Paravalos,2006-05-25 Moving a House with Preservation in Mind provides step by step instructions on the process of moving a historic building
